TAFT POST GOES TO HUGHES

UNCLE SAM SUNK UP TO HIS CHIN IN NAVAL INTRIGUE

Stimson Phones for Advice of Hoover.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Uncle Sam is up to his neck tonight in European intrigue. It is now a case of sink or swim for the old gentleman with the chin whiskers, striped pants, and bell shaped beaver hat.

This has been a day of intensive negotiations among the naval powers, particularly Great Britain, France, and America, preparatory to the first showdown tomorrow on the method of limitation of navies, on which hangs the fate of the peculiarities of American national defense.

John Bull and Marianne are on their way and know exactly where they are going. Uncle Sam doesn't know exactly where he is going, but he is on his way.

Stimson Calls Up White House.

Following informal conversations with the French delegates and later with the British, Secretary of State Stimson conferred with his colleagues and then telephoned to the White House in an effort to formulate the stand to be taken by America at the session tomorrow to consider the French plan for naval limitation.

The Americans find themselves up against a proposition favoring the British defense policy in some important respects and the French policy in others, but in almost all respects conflicting fundamentally with the principles of American sea defense as laid down by the navy general board.

Diplomatic Tongues Wag.

The fact is that there is so much in common between Great Britain and France in the pending plan, and so little that harmonizes with American national policy in recent disarmament conferences, that the tongues of diplomats have been set wagging with speculation as to the possibility of Great Britain and France lining up against America in this conference, in spite of the Anglo-American rapprochement emanating from the conversations between Prime Minister MacDonald and President Hoover on the Rapidan river last autumn.

To win England back from Mr. MacDonald's flirtation with America is said to be one of the major objectives of Premier Tardieu. What lends color to this theory is the fact that the French limitation plan and the British accord to its major features amounts to a resurrection of the Anglo-French naval agreement of 1928. Resentment to this agreement by the United States brought about its repudiation by Great Britain and played a large part in the fall of the Conservative ministry and the elevation of the Labor party to power.

British Contention Wins.

The Anglo-French agreement provided for dividing cruisers into eight inch gun and six inch gun classes, the former to be limited and the latter not to be limited. The principal modification of this scheme in the pending plan is that six inch gun cruisers, as well as eight inch gun ships, are to be limited.

Thus, in the pending French proposal Great Britain gets what she got in the Anglo-French agreement, and what she unswervingly contended for at Geneva in 1927—namely: the division of cruisers into two classes, one of the principal reasons the Coolidge administration rejected the proposals of the Anglo-French agreement.

U. S. Refuses Distinction.

In the note which blew this secretly concluded bargain out of the water Secretary of State Kellogg said:

"The United States cannot accept as a distinct class of surface combatant vessels those of or below 10,000 tons and armed with guns of more than six inch caliber and up to eight inch caliber."

The reasons that the United States cannot afford to accept the deprivation of its freedom to put its allotted cruiser strength into big cruisers was stated at the Geneva conference by Hugh Gibson, ambassador to Belgium, who is now a member of the American delegation to this conference.

"With a large number of naval bases scattered along its lines of communication," said Ambassador Gibson, "we can quite well understand the desire of the British empire for a certain number of cruisers of the smaller type. At the same time we feel that it should be recognized that our own geographical position and our lack of bases, resulting in part from the restrictions of the Washington treaty, require a larger type of cruiser affording a longer cruising radius."

HOODLUM FOUND NEAR DEATH AS CLEANUP OPENS

Wm. Healy Is Victim of Gang War.

Provoked by four street murders in as many days and five bombings in twenty-four hours, State's Attorney Swanson, after a conference with Police Commissioner Russell, yesterday afternoon announced that he would take "drastic measures." Eight hours later another bullet riddled victim was in the hospital, refusing to name his assailants, in accordance with his code.

Curses, shots, and the roar of a car in an alley awoke inhabitants of the vicinity of 38th and Wallace streets at 1 o'clock this morning. When a patrol wagon arrived from Deering police station, William Healy, 37 years old, 7609 Normal boulevard, had crawled out of the alley and lay on the sidewalk, one bullet wound under his chin and two in his back.

Son of Dead Policeman.

"Is it you, Joe?" he gasped as one of the patrol wagon crew, Joseph Kirk, bent over him. Patrolman Kirk and Healy's father, now dead, had traveled the same beat ten years ago when young Healy was serving his apprenticeship in crime.

The police took him to the People's hospital, an institution he had entered five years ago with two knife wounds in his back. As in the stabbing case, Healy refused to name his assailants, even though the surgeons assured him he had but a few hours to live. Healy was reputed to be a member of Danny Stanton's organization, a gang engaged in hustling beer to south side saloons and involved in at least five shootings in the last year.

Healy is married and the father of three small children, his brother, John Healy, 536 Pershing road, told police who questioned him upon his arrival at the hospital. Mrs. Healy was summoned, as was the Rev. William Desmond, who granted the wounded man the last rites of his church. Even after the sacrament was administered Healy declined to talk with police and asked to be left alone with his brother.

Get Clew in Cada Killing.

During Mr. Swanson's conference with the police commissioner, detectives investigating the latest and most flagrant killing in the series which brought the two enforcement officers together, reported their first progress. The victim was Joseph Cada, beer runner, racketeer and fop of gangland.

Cada was shot to death in his own expensive automobile as he drove south in Broadway near Leland avenue at 5:45 a. m. Sunday. As the car swerved against the curb, two men stepped out and walked away.

The detectives learned that Cada had spoken of going to night clubs, that he had in fact gone to the Green Mill Garden at Broadway and Lawrence avenue, and that he had been there for hours, dancing and drinking.

Followed from Café.

Almost at the end of the evening, detectives learned, Cada, tall and handsome in a blond way, quarreled with a young woman and slapped her face. And when Cada left the night club two men followed him out.

Detectives would not admit whether they knew the identity of the girl Cada slapped. They admitted they were looking for her and if they found her the Cada murder would be on the way to solution.

The police commissioner and the prosecutor met in the downtown office of Mr. Swanson in the county building and the only man who sat in the session with them was Pat Roche, the state's attorney's chief investigator. Roche, for years in federal and state service, has been known as one of the canniest dealers in ways and means to cope with criminals.

Adopt "Drastic Measures."

The three men sat behind closed doors for more than an hour and when Commissioner Russell emerged the state's attorney told reporters that they had evolved "drastic measures" by which they expect to put an end to killings and bombings.

While these activities were in progress it was discovered, however, that the $100,000 explosion which wrecked the row of stores at 518-22 South Kildare avenue early in the morning was probably a "touchoff" for the purpose of collecting insurance. Sam Madonia, owner of a small grocery in

Hutchinson's Love Was Not Stolen: Jury

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—In twenty minutes this afternoon a jury of eight men and four women decided that Edith Patterson Taylor had not stolen the affections of Samuel S. Hutchinson, wealthy Chicago film distributor, from his legal wife, Mrs. Mattie Dean Hutchinson of Chicago. By a verdict of 11 to 1 the jury decided in Mrs. Taylor's favor in the $300,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Hutchinson.

The 11 to 1 vote constitutes a verdict under the California law in civil cases, there being no requirement for a unanimous ballot.

Wife Not in Courtroom.

When the verdict had been read the four women on the jury crowded about Mrs. Taylor, with whom Hutchinson had lived here in a modest bungalow, and congratulated her, while some of the men, all of them middle aged, wrung Hutchinson's hand. Mrs. Hutchinson was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read before Superior Judge Arthur Keetch.

Hutchinson's own testimony that he had been attracted to Mrs. Taylor by the contrast of her "modesty and thrift" with his wife's "arrogance and extravagance" was credited with having been the determining factor in influencing the jury to bring in the verdict for the defendant. Hutchinson, on the stand Thursday, had sobbed out his story of his love for Mrs. Taylor.

Takes Blame for Affair.

On the previous day, Mrs. Hutchinson had told how her husband maintained a separate apartment for Mrs. Taylor and her daughter, who knew him as "Mr. Taylor," her father. When she learned of this separate household, only a few blocks from her $300,000 mansion in the 6200 block on Sheridan road in Chicago, Mrs. Hutchinson said, she was humiliated and was unable to meet her former friends, living a life of virtual seclusion. She had pictured the other woman as a temptress who had lured her husband from her.

But Hutchinson took the responsibility for his love affair. While the sobs of his wife and his "companionate wife" echoed his own, he told how he met Mrs. Taylor in Valparaiso, Ind., where she was attending college in 1908. He no longer had any love for Mrs. Hutchinson then he testified, but "had respect for her." Mrs. Taylor, he said, did not know he was married and their relations began at his suggestion. She threatened to leave him when she learned that he was married. He begged her to stay but she finally left Chicago and their baby was born in Omaha. Hutchinson, in the meantime, took the name of C. P. Taylor and was known to his child by that name. He then went to Hollywood, giving up his wife and the mansion which he said his wife's extravagance had expanded from plans for a $200,000 home to one which, with its furnishings, had cost nearly twice that much.

Couldn't Sell Chicago Home.

In Hollywood, Hutchinson rented a little home in a bungalow court for $55 and there he lived with Mrs. Taylor and the daughter, Jane. He said he offered to build his wife a home in California if she would sell the Sheridan road mansion, but was unable to dispose of the Chicago house because Mrs. Hutchinson refused to sell it for less than $450,000.

The 16 year old daughter of Mrs. Taylor did not take the stand, her parents keeping the news of the alienation suit from her because she does not know her parents are not married.

Hampden Winston's Home Ransacked; Loss, $5,000

The theft of more than $5,000 worth of clothing, jewelry, silverware and furnishings from the home of Hampden Winston, wealthy real estate dealer, on the grounds of the Shore Acre Golf club in Lake Bluff was discovered yesterday. The burglars entered the house some time Sunday and ransacked it thoroughly. The robbery was discovered by William Sheimer, manager of the club. Mr. and Mrs. Winston are in Phoenix, Ariz., for the winter.

Russia Kills 500 Officers of Czar's Navy

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 3.—Nearly 500 former officers of the old Russian imperial navy have been shot to death by the cheka, or secret police, during the last fortnight in Russia, according to letters received by relatives in Riga today.

The latest massacre was ordered by Commissar Menshinski, successor to Tovarish Dgerjinski as chief of the cheka. The letters ask memorial services be held in Riga orthodox churches for the slain officers, but request that their names be withheld for fear that the Riga branch of the cheka attached to the local soviet legation might trace them and cause further arrests and executions.

Round Up Royal Officers.

The writers gave the details of the executions and stated that during the last eighteen months cheka agents have rounded up all former naval officers who did not serve in the Red fleet. Lubianka prison in Moscow until recently contained thirty officers. Many others were held at Odessa and other Black sea ports. Still others were exiled in Siberian prison camps.

Communications between prisoners and relatives ceased recently, and it was learned that Menshinski had ordered mass executions. No reasons were given for this sudden order.

Memorial services are to be held in all Riga churches tomorrow.

Urges European Trade Boycott.

While the Moscow press has, on several occasions, reported the arrest of a group of naval officers, charged with being in communication with former comrades, with the added hint that another huge anti-militarist trial would be staged, nothing concerning the executions has been published.

Because of the crisis in diplomatic relations between Moscow, Berlin, and Paris, the soviet foreign trade monopoly is contemplating a trade boycott of Europe and concentrating its European purchases in the United States, according to the soviet trade delegate in Riga, who has just returned from Moscow.

Seek to Part Rich Planter, Mulatto Bride

James Banks, Harvard graduate and the last of the male line of a proud Georgia family, came to the door of his home at 4814 South Park way last night when a reporter called seeking his comment on a suit filed in Superior court yesterday.

The suit, brought by Joseph M. Lillie, a Chicago business man and a friend of the Banks family, seeks annulment of the aged planter's marriage to Dolly S. Gardner. She is a mulatto and, before becoming Mrs. Banks, was a cook in his household in Atlanta. Banks is 79 and his wife 58 years old.

Negro Is House Guest.

The snowy haired Georgian, who appeared to have been unacquainted with the suit, was a model of southern hospitality until he began to perceive his caller's purpose. Thereupon he cursed loudly and bade the intruder begone. His cries brought from an inner room a young Negro, who identified himself as Orrie Stykes, a house guest of Mrs. Banks.

Stykes placed his arm around the vehement Georgian's shoulders and led him upstairs, suggesting he go to bed. Mrs. Banks was not home. Stykes said she had been greatly upset by the filing of the suit and had gone out to seek solace from her friends.

Couple Elope to Chicago.

Banks, respected in Atlanta as a shrewd business man, was a bachelor and lived with his sister, Mrs. Fannie Banks Calloway, until a few months before he eloped with the mulatto woman in 1927. They were married in Chicago on July 7 of that year and have resided here since.

The bill, brought by Lillie as a friend of both Banks and Mrs. Calloway, asserts that Banks was suffering from senile dementia and was in the hands of a scheming woman when he made the marriage vows. After the woman became his wife she exercised wiles to have him sign over to her management his Georgia plantations, Florida Orange groves and Cook county real estate, with detriment to the value of the properties, according to the bill.

Acts for Planter's Sister.

In a suit brought last spring, Mrs. Calloway secured the appointment of the Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust company as conservator for her brother's estate. No conservator was asked for his person, but one will be sought if the present suit is successful. Banks' property is estimated to be worth $1,000,000.

Lillie is acting for Mrs. Calloway in the present suit to meet the requirement of the Illinois law that the plaintiff in an annulment suit be a resident of the county in which the case is brought, it was explained by Attorney Francis X. Busch, who drew up the papers. Lillie states that he is neither a relative nor prospective heir of Banks. In the previous suit, Mrs. Banks was represented by Attorney Charles S. Cutting.

Other actions for the recovery of gifts to the wife will be brought, it is said.

PUPILS "STRIKE" TODAY; PROTEST RAIL CROSSING

More than 200 pupils at the new Burbank Junior High school, Dickens and Mobile avenues, will "strike" today on orders of their parents. This was decided at a massmeeting last night in the Galewood Congregational church to protest against a recent order of the board of education under which the children must cross sixteen railroad tracks to attend the school.

The pupils will be kept at home until a committee, appointed last night, obtains a hearing from school officials and reports the results of the conference to the parents.

The children were transferred from the Lovett school, 6333 Bloomingdale avenue, to the Burbank school, which opened yesterday for the first time.

ILLNESS CAUSES CHIEF JUSTICE TO QUIT COURT

Both Long in Service of Government.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Charles Evans Hughes will be the new chief justice of the Supreme court of the United States.

His appointment was announced late today by President Hoover, following acceptance of the resignation of Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who was forced to give up the post by serious illness.

Mr. Hughes' nomination was sent to the senate, where it was referred to the committee on judiciary. Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], chairman of the committee, and other members predicted unanimous approval.

It was learned tonight that the President was advised informally some time ago of Mr. Taft's prospective retirement. Mr. Hughes, it developed, was offered the position about two weeks ago and shortly afterwards was a breakfast guest at the White House. He conferred with the President two or three times thereafter before finally accepting the appointment a few days ago.

Son to Quit U. S. Service.

Charles E. Hughes Jr. will resign as solicitor general when his father takes his seat upon the Supreme bench.

Mr. Taft's formal resignation was brought to President Hoover this morning by Robert A. Taft, his son who had just come from Asheville, N. C., where the chief justice has been for the last few weeks in an effort to regain his shattered health.

The elder Taft tonight was en route to Washington from Asheville, his physicians having decided his condition is such as to make it advisable to have him here. Dr. Francis Hagner of this city, his family physician, said today at Asheville that Mr. Taft is "a pretty sick man, and, as he is not improving, we feel that it would be safer to get him back to Washington." It is known that his friends are alarmed over his condition.

Dispatches from Asheville today said that Mr. Taft had to be assisted into the train by a nurse and physicians and appeared to be very ill.

Retires on Full Pay.

Under a law passed at the last session of congress Mr. Taft will retire with his full pay of $20,500. Previously, the law had provided for retirement with full pay at the age of 70 by judges who had served continuously for ten years on the federal bench. The amendment removed the ten year requirement. Mr. Taft has been on the Supreme bench for a little less than nine years, but served for eight years as judge of the Circuit court of the United States, prior to his more widely known activities in affairs of the federal government which brought him eventually to the presidency of the United States. He will be 73 next September.

Mr. Hughes' appointment as chief justice climaxes a remarkable record in the public service. He has had some of the highest offices within the reach of an American citizen, having fallen short only of the presidency, for which he was the unsuccessful Republican candidate in 1916 against Woodrow Wilson.

Served Court Before.

Mr. Hughes was appointed to the Supreme bench in 1910 by Mr. Taft when the latter was President. He served as an associate justice for six years, resigning in 1916, following his nomination by the Republican national convention at Chicago for the presidency.

Recently Mr. Hughes has served as a special master for the Supreme court in the Chicago water diversion case, and, presumably, will take his seat on the bench before the court takes action on his recommendations relating to the terms of a final decree. It is expected that he will refrain from participation in the case.

Mr. Hughes was selected as a judge of the world court about a year ago, and spent last summer in Europe sitting at The Hague.

Mr. Hughes was named as secretary of state when President Harding took office on March 4, 1921, and served in that position until March 4, 1925, when he voluntarily retired and was succeeded by Frank B. Kellogg. He thus had a little more than two years in the Harding cabinet and a little less than two years in the Coolidge cabinet.

During the Harding administration he was head of the American delegation at the Washington conference on limitation of arms and was conspicuous in the negotiation of the treaties which resulted from that meeting.

Taft's Notable Career Closes.

The retirement of Chief Justice Taft rounds out a public career without parallel. No other man ever held both the offices of President of the United States and chief justice of the Supreme court. Mr. Taft's first public office was as assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton county, O., from 1881 to 1883, nearly 50 years ago. He practiced law in Cincinnati for a while thereafter, and served as assistant county solicitor of Hamilton county from 1885 to 1887.

He was judge of the Superior court at Cincinnati from 1887 to 1890, solicitor general of the United States from 1890 to 1892, a United States Circuit judge from 1892 to 1900, president of the United States Philippine commission from 1900 to 1901, first civil governor of the Philippine islands from 1901 to 1904, secretary of war in the Roosevelt cabinet from 1904 to 1908, provisional governor of Cuba for a short period during that administration, and President of the United States from 1909 to 1913. After his defeat for reëlection he was professor of law at Yale, and served as co-chairman of the war labor board by appointment of President Wilson. He was appointed by President Harding as chief juktice of the Supreme court in 1921.

STATEMENT BY HUGHES

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Charles Evans Hughes, nominated today by President Herbert Hoover to be chief justice of the United States, said early tonight at his law office here that he would accept.

Mr. Hughes, apparently in excellent health, and in an unusually affable mood, stood behind his long flat-topped desk fingering a blue-flowered necktie.

He was not ready to answer questions, he told his callers, but in announcing his acceptance said that the post of chief justice was the highest honor and offered the greatest possible opportunity for service that could be granted by the government. He said he would resign at once from his position with the world court, as he was elected to serve the unexpired term of John Bassettt Moore, who resigned.

Mr. Hughes made the following statement in relation to Chief Justice Taft's resignation:

"I regret most deeply that Chief Justice Taft is unable to continue his office. His work as chief justice has fitly crowned a great career and will have an abiding influence. It was both the fine quality of his work and the spirit in which it was performed, evincing not only the most conscientious industry and judicial independence but an intense loyalty to the institution, that have given great satisfaction to the country. Freed from the exactions of the office, it is hoped that he will find his days lengthened and that his heart will be cheered by the tributes of esteem and warm affection which he will receive in abundance from his grateful fellow countrymen."

FATE STALKS IN; ENDS HOPES OF VETERAN PLAYER

For more than forty years John P. Jensen had been known as a versatile musician. He was known particularly for his skill on the 'cello, base viol, and the sousaphone, but he was no slouch when it came to the cornet and and other wind instruments. He had played in such organizations as the United States Marine band under John Phillip Sousa and in Finney's band. His skill remained with him past his sixtieth birthday and he earned ample for his needs in the small flat where he lived alone at 1209 Diversey parkway.

Among Mr. Jensen's prideful memories was the work he did in a band during the World's Fair in 1893. He was looking forward to the 1933 Fair and was brushing up his technique in hopes of repeating his 1893 triumph.

Yesterday morning Mr. Jensen's landlord learned that the lights in his flat had been burning all night for two nights, and no one had seen the elderly musician. Police broke into the flat and found him sitting in his chair before a firelog, dead, surrounded by a variety of musical instruments, and a great pile of sheet music. A coroner's physician said death was due to heart disease. Three sons, the only heirs, will inherit the instruments and the music.

Student Nurse Sues to Divorce Hospital Employe

Mrs. Dorothy Thompson, student nurse at the Jackson Park hospital, yesterday filed a bill for divorce in the Circuit court against Fred Thompson, hospital engineer, demanding $100 for the time lost in her studies and expenses incurred during their six weeks of married life. The Thompsons were married last Sept. 23 and separated Nov. 6, when he is alleged to have tortured her. She dropped her studies after their marriage, but plans to resume them on winning a decree.

PRESIDENCY HARDER THAN COURT JOB, SAYS TAFT, WHO TRIED BOTH

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Being the only man to hold the exalted offices of President and chief justice, William Howard Taft alone has had opportunity from personal experience to compare the duties and demands imposed by those offices.

"If one is constituted like an ordinary man," he once said, "life in the Presidency, while not presenting as hard mental and intellectual labor as that of chief justice, does enormously consume nervous energy, and is greatly more trying than work on the bench. At least, that was my experience.

"The difference between the exactions of the two offices is that in work on the bench you have the assistance of your colleagues, who share the responsibility of the decisions. You have the benefit of oral arguments by counsel, briefs submitted on both sides of the controversy, and control of your time for careful study.

"In the Presidency you often have to make a decision on the instant or overnight, when the risk of faulty judgment is great. Often the President is required to reach his decision without being fully advised, and frequently without an opportunity to consult his cabinet.

"The Presidency attracts in the sense of authority one is supposed in that high office to exercise, and there are those who greatly enjoy its constant exercise. But even in the strongest, it takes much out of a man, and the strain of office is felt long after retirement to private life.

"I do not mind what sometimes is called the monastic life of the bench, and, as I have stated, the duties of the President are more exacting, difficult and nerve racking than those of chief justice."

WED WITHOUT KNOWING IT, GIRL ASKS ANNULMENT

Señora Felipa Garcia Munoz, 18 years old, 1019 West 11th street, yesterday asked Circuit Judge Lynch to annul her marriage to Señor Frank Munoz. She testified that she was married unwittingly last May 8 in the county marriage court when she believed that she was only procuring a marriage license.

She declared that she and Frank had set their wedding date for June 1, 1929. They applied for the license three weeks ahead of time in conformity with Spanish custom, and followed the stream into the marriage court, not knowing that they were being married. Neither could speak English.

The second marriage might have been performed and the couple left none the wiser had not her brother been slain on the morning of the wedding day. Grief stricken and with a widowed mother to support the girl called off the wedding. Later she learned that she had been married on May 8.

Judge Lynch took the case under advisement indicating that he will grant the plea.

Iceland Bank Closes Doors; Denied $405,000 State Aid

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Feb. 3.—The Bank of Iceland, a private bank backed mostly by Danish shareholders, closed today following its request yesterday for a government loan of $405,000. This was refused. The capital of the bank is $1,215,000 and last paid a dividend in 1925. The bank held a concession for issuing banknotes in Iceland valid until 1933.

HINSDALE OPENS WAR ON CHICAGO RACKET BOMBERS

Demands Action in Blast at Movie Theater.

Ane one seeking wrath, indignation and defiance could have found plenty of all three yesterday in Hinsdale, the scene of the bombing of a moving picture theater in which 400 persons, mostly children, were seated. The merchants and citizens called upon State's Attorney Chauncey W. Reed of Du Page county and told him he has a job to perform.

Mr. Reed said he would make an example of the Chicago hoodlums believed to be responsible—he would show them Du Page county would not tolerate such tactics. But by the time a protest meeting was called last night by the police commissioners of Hinsdale, Herbert W. Reel, Roy K. Thomas and Frank Vaninwagen, no arrests had been made.

Theater Owner Is Shot.

George W. Krueger, owner of the theater, who doubled as operator, told a story, the story of the bombing. Last Thursday he was beaten and shot in the offices of the Paramount Film exchange, 1327 South Wabash avenue, he declared, because he could not afford to pay the salaries of two union operators as he had been ordered to do.

"I used to be a union operator in Minneapolis," Krueger said at his home where he is recuperating from his injuries. "When I came to Hinsdale to run the theater I let my union card lapse. The theater seats but 800. It has not been well patronized.

"The film service cost $175 a week and the rent is $125 a month. The union told me I would have to employ two operators, who would cost me $208 a week. I couldn't meet expenses so I closed the theater on Dec. 9 and put in sound devices. On Jan. 23 I reopened the house, doing a trick at operating while my wife took tickets.

Slugged and Shot.

"I went to union headquarters and told them my sympathies were union but I couldn't make the show pay if I had to hire two operators. I offered to hire one at $104.60 a week. They told me two or none.

"Then my film service was shut off. I went to the Paramount office and while I was there three hoodlums, all bigger than I, came in. One put a pistol to my head. Another struck me over the eye, cutting my eye and nearly putting it out. I went down and the third kicked me in the mouth, knocking out four teeth. Then one of them shot me in the leg."

The merchants of Hinsdale wanted the show kept open nights, saying it brought people out. Then, Sunday night a bomb was exploded in the rear of the theater. Three men were seen leaving the alley and driving toward Ogden avenue.

Last night Police Chief Fred C. Bray and the fire department were guarding the theater. The villagers were determined the picture house must be kept open.

They recalled that last September the town of Wheaton, where State's Attorney Reed lives, served notice on the prosecutor that he must put a stop to lawlessness apparently chargeable to Chicago unionists. Five bombings on homes where nonunion work had been done were mentioned by Chief Charles E. Sullivan.

QUIZ EX-BUCKET SHOP OWNER ON WOMEN'S DEATHS

James E. Dowd, who was a recalcitrant witness in the bucket shop investigation several months ago, was questioned yesterday afternoon by Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office about the deaths of Dot King, New York chorus girl, and Mrs. Aurelia Fisher Dreyfuss, Washington, D. C., society woman. The prosecutor said he was acting at the request of New York authorities.

Although admitting that he had known both Miss King and Mrs. Dreyfuss, Roche said, Dowd did not seem to have any information of value.

Dowd, who was running a bucket-shop for others, turned state's evidence several months ago when the state's attorney's office was raiding these places. Dowd said he was threatened if he testified and recently he has been showing a disposition to deny his former statements. He was then placed in jail, but was recently released.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

Arthur G. Curtis, 40 years old, a truck driver, was found shot to death yesterday in his room at 2444 Monroe street, with a pistol lying beside the body. Lillian Hoach, 23 years old, with whom Curtis had lived since leaving his wife and five children, found the body.

STATE DROPS FINAL SLOT MACHINE CASES AGAINST O'BRIEN

The state's attorney's office yesterday finally closed its prosecution of the so-called slot machine syndicate cases. The prosecutor entered dismissal orders in the remaining cases, charging conspiracy and receiving stolen property against James [High Pockets] O'Brien, reputed head of the $1,000,000 syndicate. The orders were entered in Judge John P. McGoorty's court, where O'Brien was acquitted last week of a bribery charge.

James Beran, former police custodian, was convicted in the case, which lasted more than a year. Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson political leader; six police captains, and other defendants all were freed by dismissal orders after David C. Rockola refused to testify at their trials. Rockola is now under two sentences of six months for contempt of court as a result of his refusal to testify.

"It is significant that Rockola testified freely at the trial of Beran, a man of small means, and refused to testify in the trials of persons of considerable fortune," said State's Attorney Swanson.

LONGLEY WINS TILT IN FIGHT ON $2,000,000 WILL

Seeks Share of Fortune of Manufacturer.

George Adair Longley, 54 years old, of Janesville, Wis., yesterday won the first tilt in his fight to share in the $2,000,000 estate of Albert W. Longley, former Chicago hat manufacturer. Circuit Judge William V. Brothers granted his attorneys, Edward W. Edwards and James H. Cartwright of the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, permission to take depositions from witnesses in California to support Longley's claim that he is a son of the manufacturer and the latter's first wife, Alice Adair Longley.

The request was bitterly contested by attorneys for Mrs. Mary Caroline Longley, third wife of Mr. Longley. In his bill to contest the will George Longley charges that the third wife represented him as a man of drunken and dissolute habits and unworthy to be remembered, so that Mr. Longley cut him off with a $600 bequest, describing him as a brother of the first wife.

Charities Join Fight.

Mrs. Longley was joined in opposing the move by attorneys representing eight Chicago charities, which are to share a $600,000 trust fund at her death. The organizations are the Home for Destitute Crippled Children, Salvation Army, Augustana hospital, Alexian Brothers' hospital, Visiting Nurses' association, Infant Welfare society, Deaconess' Home of the Swedish Evangelical church, and the Passavant Memorial hospital. A ninth charity is to be selected by trustees.

George Longley declared he was kept from seeing his father since late in 1927, when his mother died, by the intervention of the third wife. He declared that he frequently tried to see the manufacturer during the latter's fatal illness, but even was denied admittance to the funeral. He asked to take testimony of witnesses in California to support these allegations and also to prove his kinship.

Longley declared that before the third marriage the manufacturer had been a kind father. He received many gifts as a boy in Janesville, where he was raised with his grandparents, and was sent to Notre Dame university and Columbia institute in New York. He will secure depositions to support these statements.

Beneficiaries of Will.

Albert W. Longley died on Oct. 29, 1928, at Pasadena, Cal., where he had lived for six years. He was 80 years old. His third wife now is about 40 years old. His will left most of the estate to his third wife, a former wife, Mrs. Alice Longley, and other relatives.

George Longley asks that the will be set aside and that the manufacturer be considered as having died intestate, so that he may receive a fair share. Judge Brothers held that the depositions are necessary to support the suit.

Gibraltar Cut Off from Spain by Big Landslide

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Feb. 3.—Owing to a terrific gale and heavy rainfall in southern Spain, an extensive landslide occurred this morning at Jimena station, 18 miles from here. All railway communication to Gibraltar was completely cut off tonight. Two hundred American tourists on their way to Granada were forced to return here.

UNFROCKED PASTOR RENEWS COURT FIGHT ON SLANDER CHARGE

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Selection of a jury to hear the retrial of John A. Logan Warren's $50,000 slander suit against five Durand citizens, former members of his congregation, was completed this afternoon.

B. J. Knight, plaintiff counsel, then called four witnesses.

The former Durand Methodist Episcopal pastor, who was unfrocked in 1927 for allegedly improper relations with Mrs. Hazel Lamb Lathery, a domestic in his home, charges the defendants with circulating false derogatory statements about him. At the first hearing in November, Warren was awarded $20,000, but the trial judge, A. E. Fisher, later granted a new trial on technicalities.

Mrs. Lathery, although expected to appear as a defense witness during the trial, had not been seen today. She did not appear at the first trial.

New Face Powder Now the Fashion

"Wouldn't you, too, like a face powder that will keep shine away—stay on longer—spread smoothly—not clog the pores—and always be so pure and fine?" asks Gene Brady, charming stage beauty. She found this kind of face powder in MELLO-GLO, made by a new French Process that brings the youthful bloom—will not irritate the skin or cause that pasty, flaky look. It is surely a wonderful Face Powder.

AGO TRIBUNE

CITY WORKERS TO GO PAYLESS ANOTHER WEEK

Strawn Puts the Blame on Some Officials.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

There is little hope of any finanicial relief for Chicago's 40,122 public employes for another week.

How long it will be after Feb. 10 before aid is given will depend upon whether public officials will cooperate.

Those two sentences are the gist of a statement issued last night by Silas H. Strawn after a meeting of his citizens' committee. It indicates what can be expected from the Strawn committee. If the local governments obtain assistance in the meantime, it will have to come from other sources.

Only Partial Coöperation.

The failure to proceed at once with relief measures was placed plainly, although by inference, upon Mayor Thompson and H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education. The Strawn statement summarizes its previous appeal of Jan. 24 for cooperation, and then says:

"Since the publication of that statement the committee have received the coöperation of some of our officials."

This refers to the county and sanitary district.

"But the committee," continues the statement, "have not received the full coöperation of all of the officials necessary to bring about temporary relief to the general deplorable condition. And the officials have not cooperated among themselves to that end."

It is considered certain that Mr. Strawn refers to Mayor Thompson and H. Wallace Caldwell in the foregoing. The mayor has attacked the "reformers and rich property owners" and Mr. Caldwell has tried to organize a committee in opposition to the Strawn committee.

Warns of Tax Delay.

After asserting there is no coöperation among the officials toward a prompt solution of the reassessment problems Mr. Strawn said:

"Without the full coöperation of the taxpayers and all of our officials the indications are that the taxes for 1929 will not be collected earlier than midsummer, and the taxes of 1929, which are payable now, will probably not be collected until 1931.

"The citizens' committee estimates that the minimum amount required to operate our local governments on the most conservative basis during the next four months is at least $50,000,000.

"The necessary funds to run our governments can only be raised by the persistent and united efforts of our citizens and all of our public officials. There must be the fullest coöperation not only in raising the funds but in distributing them among the departments which are most vital and necessary. The citizens' committee cannot compel that coöperation."

Council Meets Today.

The city council meets this afternoon and will pass a tax levy ordinance for an aggregate of $71,258,200. Announcement was made yesterday that City Controller Schmidt would send emissaries to eastern cities immediately thereafter to sell the warrants. President Caldwell of the board of education has agents in the east now trying to sell $48,000,000 of warrants.

Neither of those acts indicates any intention to coöperate with the Strawn committee, although Ald. Clark, chairman of the council finance committee, conferred at length with Mr. Strawn yesterday afternoon. When he emerged from Mr. Strawn's office Ald. Clark said:

"I have considerable hope that money can be obtained for police and firemen's salaries, and perhaps other of the most essential city services, if we can agree upon coöperation."

Mr. Strawn leaves today for Washington, then will run up to New York and return to Chicago next Tuesday. In the meantime public officials may sit and think. If they decide to coöperate with Mr. Strawn's personal view that the public officials should get in a room on one side of a table and tell frankly what they must have to continue the most urgent functions.

How to Reach Agreement.

On the other side of the table Mr. Strawn would have representatives of the men who will put up the millions and have them tell how much they will hand over, and for what purposes. In that way he believes an agreement can be reached. Without such an agreement he sees little progress toward relief. His plan involves the elimination of the efforts of certain politicians to gain an advantage out of the financial difficulties, and perhaps it will take a week for them to discard politics.

According to yesterday's plans the city council will not pass a resolution today pledging coöperation of the city with the Strawn committee, nor will Mayor Thompson or City Controller Schmidt to coöperate. It is considered improbable that the council could by resolution force Mayor Thompson to coöperate, if he did not desire to do so.

Instead of a resolution of coöperation Ald. Clark will ask that the council instruct Mayor Thompson to appoint Controller Schmidt, Corporation Counsel Ettelson and Ald. Clark "for the purpose of finding purchasers for the tax warrants to be issued against taxes for the year 1930." The warrants they will have to offer are $44,612,500 for corporate purposes, $13,025,000 for bonds and interest, $4,070,000 for police pensions, $1,760,000 for firemen's pensions, $2,640,000 for other pensions, $2,583,600 for public library, and $2,567,100 for municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, according to the announcement made yesterday.

Ald. Clark took a broad slap at the city law department yesterday, urging that its expenditures be reduced $200,000.

"I won't spend any time getting money for useless high priced experts," said Clark. "The $150 a month employé should be paid first. I think that Ettelson has fellows, paid out of bulk appropriations, of whom it is questionable whether they worked for the money they are credited with earning."

In reply from Green Bay where Mr. Ettelson is superintending the redecorating of his summer home, he said: "We have not expended more than the appropriation for the law department. There is no man charged to the law department who does not give a dollar's worth of service for each dollar received, and some of them are giving three or four times as much service as they are paid for. There is no item we cannot justify anywhere."

Speed Up Taxes.

The reassessment of all real estate in Cook county is to be completed by April 1, according to an announcement made yesterday by Charles V. Barrett. This is a month earlier than the reviewers promised Gov. Emmerson to finish their part of the task.

This Barrett announcement came on the heels of a statement from the Civic federation signed by Clayton Mark, president, and Douglas Sutherland, secretary. It says that it is imperative to complete the reassessment "as rapidly as general considerations of equity will permit."

"It is amazing that certain public officials, responsible for important governmental functions," reads the statement, "should foment and encourage movements calculated to delay the reassessment, and then talk as though a special session of the legislature could remedy the financial condition of the local governments.

"Even the assembly can do nothing to help until there is a definite certainty as to when this reassessment will be completed. Increased taxing powers of local government can do nothing to help until there is a lawful assessment, upon which the increased taxes so authorized can be extended. Even if the legislature goes so far as to authorize special revenue bonds without a referendum, such bonds can probably not be sold until there is a legal assessment upon which taxes can be collected for payment of already outstanding tax warrants as well as of principal and interest upon the new bonds. Confidence must be restored in the ability of our government to levy and collect taxes."

AWARDED $8,500 FOR LEG

LOSES LEG WHEN HIT BY TRUCK, BOY WINS $8,500

A jury in Superior Judge Harry C. Stuttle's court yesterday returned a verdict of $8,500 in the suit brought by Mrs. Margaret Mullaney, a widow living at 4717 South Throop street, in behalf of her son, Robert, 4½ years old. The boy's right leg was amputated above the knee as the result of injuries received June 26, 1929, when a truck owned by the McCabe Box company, 4400 South Winchester avenue, ran over him while he was playing ball in the street. Mrs. Mullaney asked $100,000 damages through Attorney Murphey O. Tate.

Four deaths yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 64. The victims:

Alice Johnson, 8 years old, 2711 Mildred avenue. Fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding with her parents skidded into a trolley pole at Elston and Drake avenues. Her mother, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, was slightly injured, while her father, Charles F. Johnson, escaped unhurt.

Guy D. Russell, 57 years old, 4028 Jackson boulevard. Died in St. Anthony's hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident last Nov. 9.

Frank Sievenmark, 57 years old, janitor in an apartment building. Fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile, driven by W. Schmiade, 1737 Grace street, at Adams street and Ashland avenue, and flung into the path of another machine driven by A. Doyle, 3816 North Harding avenue. Schmiade was held.

Edward Criswell, 11 years old, colored, 467 Bowen avenue, fatally injured while coasting on his sled when struck by a motor truck at South park way and East Forty-first street.

Will Instruct Mothers in the Care of Heart Ailments

A new plan for the instruction of mothers in the care of young heart disease patients and children likely to be so afflicted will be presented to the board of governors of the Chicago Heart association this afternoon by Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, executive director. New officers will also be elected. Dr. James B. Herrick is the present honorary president, and Dr. Robert B. Preble, president. The meeting will be in the association headquarters, 203 North Wabash avenue.

Seek Discharged Employe as Hotel Robbery Leader

A discharged employé of the Lincolnwood apartment hotel, 656 Wrightwood avenue, was sought by Sheffield police last night as the leader of a band of four bandits who entered the hotel early yesterday and invaded the room where the manager, Daniel G. Addison, his wife and six year old daughter were sleeping. Addison gave them the key of his desk, from which the robbers took $1,000 in currency and $3,100 in checks.

CONDICT ADMITS WIFE'S CASH PAID FOR HONEYMOON

Kept Job as File Clerk Only Eight Weeks.

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—A bridegroom's sensations on his honeymoon and the philosophical views on marriage of a birth control propagandist were revealed today to the jury which is trying the $150,000 alienation of affection suit of Alden S. Condict against his former father-in-law, Dr. Fenton B. Turck, famous biologist and birth control leader, and Mrs. Turck.

Condict charges that Dr. and Mrs. Turck deliberately set out to break up his marriage to their daughter, Katherine, after a daughter, Avis, was born to the Condicts.

Their Marriage Philosophy.

A long letter of "marriage counsel" which Dr. Turck wrote to Condict on Aug. 23, 1926, was introduced by Condict's attorney, to show how the biologist's views conflicted with those of his son-in-law. The letter expressed Dr. Turck's opinion that the difference in their marriage philosophy may have been responsible for some of the contentions "which have cropped out," attributing to Condict a belief in the divine right of the husband to rule his wife. Dr. Turck pointed out that "this concept of marriage," like that of the divine right of kings, "has been entirely eradicated from our laws and customs."

Dr. Turck, his letter said, never has used any of his wife's funds for personal or family use, and his son, Fenton, exercises the same respect for his wife's property rights.

H. B. Johnson, Dr. Turck's attorney, brought out on cross examination of Condict that in addition to the $300 a month allowed by the doctor to his daughter, Condict frequently had handled extra allowances given to his wife by her father. Condict said he pooled a wedding present of $1,000 from Dr. Turck to his bride and a $200 gift from an uncle and used $1,150 of the money on his honeymoon.

His Honeymoon Diary.

Condict admitted that while he had obtained a job with the Crucible Steel company at $50 a week in November, 1926, he had worked a total of only eight weeks at two different periods, quitting because he did not think the work—that of a file clerk—"was suitable employment for a man of my age, 41 years."

The plaintiff's "honeymoon diary" began with an entry on Oct. 28, 1925, announcing briefly, "Katherine accepted me," and on Nov. 4, described his pilgrimage with his fiancée to obtain a marriage license. They attempted to eat, the diary revealed, but "we were both so excited that we couldn't eat a thing."

On Nov. 5, according to the record, Condict bought a platinum bracelet at Tiffany's for his "wonderful bride to be" and when he telephoned her "she was so adorable!" On Nov. 7 they were married and the diary had this to say:

Thrilling Whisper of Hope.

"Katherine's soft, musical voice, when she made her response was the most thrilling whisper of hope of my life. In making her responses, my precious looked up at me several times and her eyes expressed complete faith in me, and with such a picture ever before me nothing can stop my ceaseless efforts to make her happy and justify her faith and confidence in me."

There is a hiatus in the diary until Nov. 17 when Condict, in Montreal, recorded his great joy, and again the pages were blank until Dec. 14, when the couple established their own three room apartment.

Condict, on the witness stand, identified a pamphlet on birth control, written by Dr. Turck, as one which his father-in-law had given Mrs. Condict shortly after her marriage and which he claims influenced his wife to divorce him. Mrs. Condict denied that she had been influenced by her parents to divorce Condict.

HOOVER GOING SOUTH TO FISH WEEK OR SO OFF FLORIDA COAST

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—President Hoover plans to leave Washington late this week for a trip to Long Key, Fla., where for a week or more he will indulge in his favorite pastime of fishing.

Most of the time will be spent on the Saunterer, a houseboat belonging to Jeremiah Milbank of New York. The craft will be chartered. Mr. Hoover spent a number of days on it before his inauguration last March, when he went deep sea fishing off the Florida coast.

The President will be accompanied by Mrs. Hoover and some friends who enjoy fishing. Plans for the trip have not been settled sufficiently for invitations to be extended. Among those expected to accompany the chief executive are Justice Stone of the Supreme court and Dr. Joel Boone, the White House physician.

Mr. Hoover does not plan to take any of the White House staff with the possible exception of Lawrence Richey, one of his secretaries. A stenographer will accompany the party so the President can dictate any necessary letters.

The trip to and from Long Key will be made without stops except for those necessary for the operation of the train. No speeches will be delivered or platform appearances made, either on the trip south or on the return trip.

FOUR CHILDREN KILLED BY FIRE AT SOUTH BEND

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Four children of William and Pearl Hoover, ranging in age from five months to five years, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home, a mile northeast of the city limits, this afternoon.

A one and a half year old trapped in the blaze structure was saved by Mrs. Hoover in an heroic dash for life through fire and smoke. The dead:

Raymond, five months;
Herbert Earl, 5 years;
Mabel May, 4 years;
Beatrice Lucille, 2 years.

There are three older children who were in school near here when the fire started.

The five youngsters were alone in their home, Mrs. Hoover had just stepped over to a neighbor's to visit. Looking back at her home a few minutes later she saw the tar paper covered cottage a mass of flames and ran to the rescue of the imperiled tots.

William Hoover, father of the children, was working on a farm some distance from his home and could not reach the place in time to rescue the children.

BRITISH KING TO LOSE VETO RIGHT IN DOMINIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The report of the imperial judicial conference was issued tonight. The conference met here recently as an outcome of the imperial conference held four years ago to pave the way for a new imperial conference. Its chief problem was to pass recommendations with reference to the colonial validity act of 1865 and the merchant shipping act, which were held to infringe on the status of the dominions in the drafting of their own laws.

The report recommends that Great Britain's power of veto of bills passed by dominion governments be abolished. Some dominions already possess the legal machinery which will make this possible.

The report recommends that the power to withhold assent to a bill which a governor possesses as the representative of the British king be also abolished. The report was signed by the representatives of Great Britain, Canada, Australia, South Africa, the Irish Free State, and India.

TALK SEC. WILBUR FOR PRESIDENCY OF U. OF ILLINOIS

Committee Hunts Kinley Successor.

Included in a list of prominent educators from all over the country who were under consideration yesterday for the presidency of the University of Illinois, to succeed President David Kinley, were the names of Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur and President H. W. Chase of the University of North Carolina.

Since last June, when it was announced that Dr. Kinley would retire this year because of his having reached the age of 68, a committee has been scanning the roster of men considered eligible. More than 100 educators have been discussed since their names were proposed and the committee members expressed the hope they were nearing the conclusion of their assignment.

No Agreement Reached.

No agreement was reached at yesterday's meeting held at a Chicago club, and another meeting is to be called within a week or two. President Chase was reported to have been present at yesterday's session, the university representatives having expressed a desire to discuss the subject with him.

Secretary Wilbur, who was president of Leland Stanford university before he became a member of President Hoover's cabinet, is reported not to have given the committee much hope that he would accept if he were offered the post. But the committee still has him in mind as a prospect.

Among others looming as possible successors to Dr. Kinley is Herman Gerlach James, a son of Edmund J. James, who was president of the University of Illinois until 1920, when he resigned because of ill health, and was succeeded by Dr. Kinley.

President Ralph D. Hetzel of Pennsylvania State college, also is under consideration along with Frederick Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago, Prof. Roger Adams, head of the chemistry department of the University of Illinois, and Dean Charles M. Thompson of the College of Commerce of the University of Illinois.

Members of Committee.

George Barr of Joliet is chairman of the committee that will make the final choice. On the committee are George W. Armstrong, chairman of the board of trustees, who represents the board; Dean David J. Davis, representing the faculty, and Robert F. Carr, representing the alumni.

The hope was expressed that the selection may be made soon, because Dr. Kinley is eager to be relieved, and time must be given to his successor in order that he may take up his duties late in the summer.

BURGLARS OVERLOOK $90.

Burglars who broke into Eddie's chili parlor at 730 North Clark street early yesterday took $20 from the cash drawer, but overlooked $90 which Frank McGlinchey, 104 West Oak street, the manager, had hidden in another place.

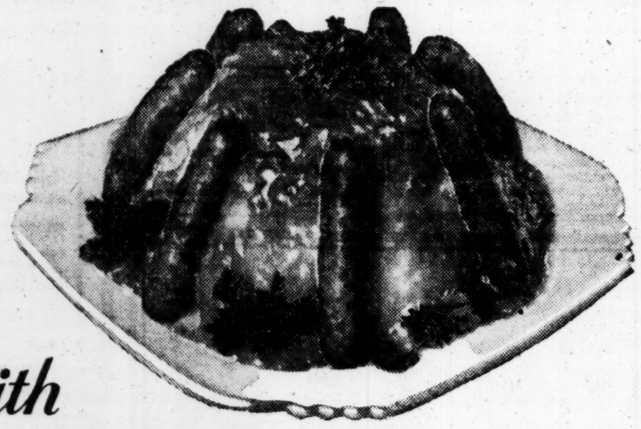
have Polenta for Dinner

Garnish with



Sausage by Mickelberry

Have something different for dinner—serve Polenta and garnish with Mickelberry's Old Farm Sausage. This delightfully appetizing sausage is better because it contains no substitutes for meat—cereals are never used in its making and only choice young porkers are selected for its production.

The men folks and children will appreciate Mickelberry's because of its zestful flavor and wholesomeness. It's absolutely pure. Easy to prepare and so economical. It's all meat, no waste, and a quick way of preparing an appetizing meal in but a few minutes.

When your appetite calls for Sausage, better make sure of satisfaction by ordering Mickelberry's.

POLENTA

1 lb. Mickelberry's Old Farm Sausage — 1 cup yellow corn meal
2 cups tomato pulp — ½ onion
½ clove garlic (if desired) — 3 tablespoons drippings
1 teaspoon worcestershire Sauce

Scald corn meal in 1 quart boiling water, salted, and cover water in a double boiler. Cook 2 or 3 hours until done. Fry the onion, garlic in the drippings and strain fat into tomato pulp. Season with salt and pepper. Add sauce and cook slowly until reduced to one-half. To serve, mold the Polenta in a wet bowl. Turn out on a hot platter, pour tomato sauce over and garnish with sausages which have been sautéed until done.

Other refrigerators can claim quietness—but only Electrolux is absolutely silent

THE tick of a clock doesn't make much noise. But when you're alone in the house it can penetrate like the beat of a drum. The scampering of a mouse across the floor isn't the loudest noise in the world—but in the middle of the night it comes with startling distinctness.

When you buy an automatic refrigerator, it isn't enough to choose one that is fairly quiet, that makes only a little noise. Why not choose one that makes no sound at all—that can't ever grow noisy?

Electrolux, the Safe refrigerator, will always be absolutely silent. It has nothing to make sound—no machinery, no moving parts at all. The cold is created by means of a tiny gas flame and a little trickle of water. The flame vaporizes the liquid refrigerant. The water-trickle condenses it back into liquid form. Nothing complicated about that, is there?

Electrolux maintains a more even, steady cold than other refrigerators can. That is because they have to stop and start, while Electrolux does not. It goes on working, silently, efficiently, all the time. And because it operates without pause, it freezes ice cubes very quickly. This is an important advantage when you have guests, and need an extra-large supply of ice.

This refrigerator is as fool-proof as can be. It never needs your attention.

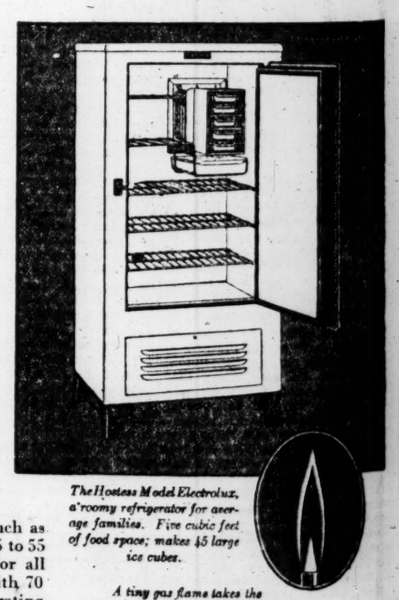
QUICK FACTS!

1. Permanently noiseless.
2. Absolutely safe.
3. Only a few cents a day to operate.
4. Lasts indefinitely.
5. No mechanism to wear, to vibrate, to need oil.
6. Free from trouble.
7. Perpetual, steady cold.
8. Plenty of pure ice cubes.
9. Tested and endorsed by national authorities.

The refrigerant is welded for life inside a rigid, one-piece steel unit. It never needs renewal. Even the tiny gas flame is guarded night and day by an automatic shut-off. No gas can flow unless the flame is lighted.

And the beauty of it is that this refrigerator costs less to use than any other kind. Even ice probably costs you twice as much as the operating cost of Electrolux. 25 to 55 cents a week covers everything for all sizes except the extra-large one, with 70 cents a week the very outside operating cost for that.

You pay no premium for the silence and low operating cost of Electrolux. Prices are no higher than those of other automatic refrigerators, size for size—$195 to $490, f. o. b. Evansville, Ind., depending upon model you need. Purchase terms are very liberal. Many models to choose from. See them at our display rooms. And send coupon below for complete illustrated information.



The Hostess Model Electrolux, a roomy refrigerator for average families. Five cubic feet of food space; makes 45 large ice cubes.

"MIRACLE DAY" IN POLITICS RUNS TRUE TO FORM

Ballot Places Go Just as Expected.

BY PARKE BROWN.

What the politicians among themselves call "the day of miracles"—the first day for filing candidates' petitions for the party primaries of April 6—passed yesterday with few surprises.

The law says plainly that the petitions shall be filed in the order in which they are received, but most of them bob up in exactly the right order to get the ballot locations expected for them.

Democrats Out on Top.

For example, every one of the thirty-two regular Democrats running for the county and sanitary district landed on top of the heap. Each will have his name on the ballot ahead of the candidates from outside the organization. And yet their petitions were scattered all around in the list of more than 300 names of Democrats and Republicans filed during the day.

County Clerk Sweitzer receives and files the local petitions and his staff marks each with its order number. Since the abolition of the old waiting line at the clerk's door it is required that all filing be done by mail. The first post of the big day brings sacks full of petitions. The office force gets busy, the list is given out, and the amateurs talk about their bad luck in failing to land in first place.

Democrats Can Rejoice.

This year there was less than usual of the gossip about pink string or other distinctive markings; but analysts, after scanning the lists, asserted that the Democrats had a second reason for feeling luck had been with them. In one instance after another, it was pointed out, the Republican in first place for this or that office was the man the Democrats thought easiest to beat in November—in many cases men expected to be indorsed by the city hall. The complete list is published in this edition.

The only candidate to seek the limelight for himself on filing day was Dr. John E. Stanton, 109 North Lamon avenue, a new aspirant for the county treasurer's office. He issued a statement attacking Col. Howard P. Savage, former national commander of the American Legion, who also seeks the office. A Legionnaire himself, the physician criticized using the status of a service man as a means toward political preferment.

ASSAILS GAG LAW

WEYMOUTH KIRKLAND.

FARMER IN PLANE TRAILS WOLVES; TWO ARE KILLED

Eight days ago, 185 hunters, including Izaak Walton leaguers who were seeking sport and farmers who were out for revenge, beat over the brush of western Lake county from dawn to dusk, hunting wolves which for two years have ravaged sheep and poultry flocks of the county without check.

The hunters discovered many wolf tracks but no wolves, and one of the hunters, Lewis A. Mills, was particularly disgusted. His own flocks and those of Samuel Insull, whose estate adjoins the Mills farm near Mundelein, had been among those suffering heaviest from the wolves. Mr. Mills resolved to try other methods.

Yesterday for the first time in his life he climbed into the cockpit of an airplane, rented at Pal-Waukee airport and piloted by Gus Palmquist. Cooperating with a ground posse, Mr. Mills drew from cover three wolves. One escaped, wounded, but the carcasses of the other two hung last night on a clothes line in Mr. Mills' back yard. He pronounced airplane wolf hunting a thrilling sport and wants his neighbors to join him next time.

PRESS GAG LAW CALLED BLOW AT BASIC LIBERTIES

Attorney Shows How Act Shelters Corruption.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The "Minnesota gag law," aimed at the guaranty of free speech and a free press, would overthrow the corner stone of the principles for which the American revolution was fought, according to Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, in an address last night before the Legal club. He told the members that in essence, the Minnesota idea would muzzle any citizen from expressing his views on government and would destroy political campaigns as we know them by stopping candidates from talking about misdeeds and corruption in an administration.

Mr. Kirkland set forth that, if upheld, the Minnesota theory, which is now before the United States Supreme court, would permit a judge without jury and without trial, to enjoin anybody from criticism of public officials and thus set up in America an equivalent of the old "divine right" of rulers long since discarded both in England and America, by designating the criticism a "nuisance."

Law Would Protect Corruption.

"A corrupt government," said Mr. Kirkland, "could stifle all free utterances and keep itself in power by this law. The evils remedied are less than those engendered."

In the Minnesota gag law case, the Saturday Press, a Minneapolis weekly publication, was enjoined from publication on Oct. 10, 1928, by Judge Mathias Brown in the Hennepin district court, on the ground that the paper was "malicious, scandalous, and defamatory." One man, the county attorney, Floyd B. Olson, who was criticized by the periodical, went before the judge, who issued an injunction.

The operations of the gag law in Minnesota at once aroused the interest of the Publishers' Association of America, who learned that inroads were being attempted into the guaranties of free speech, and Mr. Kirkland's law firm, THE TRIBUNE'S counsel, was retained to make the fight for constitutional rights. It is regarded as one of the great fundamental cases in the battle for human rights.

What the Law Permits.

"This Minnesota gag law," said Mr. Kirkland, permits a court to enjoin the publication of a newspaper, without a jury and without trial. You can see what an effective weapon this would be for a corrupt administration. No abuse of a free press can be as great as the evils of its suppression. All one had to do is to get a court to declare publication is a nuisance and suppress publication.

"Under such a law you might put out of business a newspaper which commented upon the actions of the American delegates to the London naval conference.

"Such a statute could be used by corrupt governments and officials to muzzle all expression of public opinion.

"Back in ancient times to speak contemptuously of the crown was a crime punishable by death in England. The people had no ballot, there was no ministry. When England adopted the ministerial system, libels on government were found inconsistent with a system which reposed on the rights of the people. So libels on government were abolished fifty years before our American constitution.

Gag Law Called Void.

"Freedom of peaceful gathering, of free speech or free press, these were principles fought for by the colonies in the revolutionary war. In the first Adams administration, the alien and sedition law made it a crime to criticize the government. It was held unconstitutional.

"How the Tweed ring in New York could have wiped out the newspapers which afterward caused its fall had there been a Minnesota law in New York! What a blush of shame would mantle the cheek of the Tweed ring if they had realized what an efficient damper of criticism they had overlooked!

"The Chicago city administration some years ago sued THE TRIBUNE on the ground it had libeled the administration. The officials tried to put the newspaper out of business for criticising what it thought to be graft. If it had praised, there would have been no such attempt. If the Minnesota gag law were applied, our fearless, virile press could be wiped out by one judge without a jury and without a trial.

"If a newspaper may be constitutionally suppressed, then a person may be constitutionally suppressed. Were such a law carried to its logical outcome, rival candidates in this vicinity might be running to courts seeking temporary injunctions without notice against rival candidates, to restrain them from criticisms."

MAN SAVED FROM DEATH IN BOAT AT NIAGARA'S BRINK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 3.—After drifting helplessly throughout the night in an open row boat, Harry Bartley, 24, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was rescued today just 300 yards from the brink of Niagara falls. Weak from exposure Mr. Bradley was seen to rise from a reclining position in his frail craft as the roar of the cataract startled him from stupor.

He plunged into the swift current and frantically fought the waters until he reached a slow moving piece of ice. From this perilous perch he was taken by a tug crew beloging to the Niagara Falls Power company plant here.

In Mount St. Mary's hospital, to which he was taken, Mr. Bartley was able to gasp out the information that he had drifted all night and his oars had been shattered by drifting ice, far up the Niagara river.

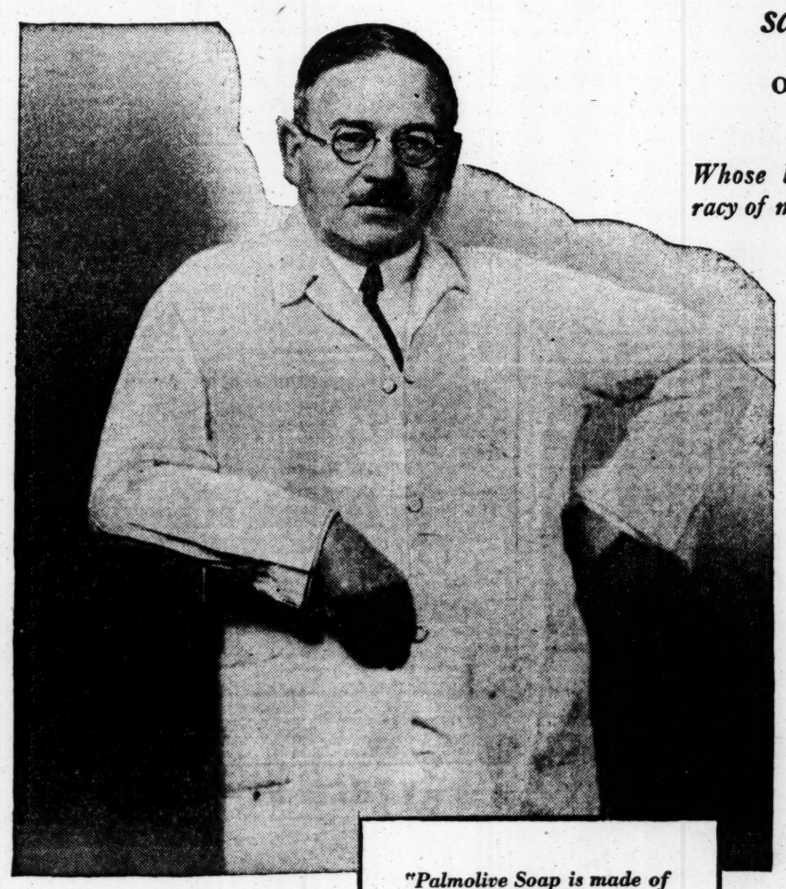
"I warn against the irritation produced by many ordinary soaps —use only Palmolive"

says S. PESSL
of Vienna and Budapest



Whose beauty house has served the aristocracy of many nations for over a hundred years.

Every skin needs the deep, thorough cleansing which only the vegetable oils of palm and olive can give.

"NO skin can remain beautiful," says the famous Pessl, of Vienna and Budapest, "if it is not regularly cleansed with soap and water. But to say 'Use any soap' is dangerous. You should be particular in choosing a soap for your face.

"Only a pure soap—a soap made of fine, soothing cosmetic oils—will do. That is why I recommend only Palmolive."

Pessl, international authority

To Pessl's shop, across from the Opera House in Vienna, come women whose names are famous in society, the world of opera and the stage. And he advises them all to use this home beauty treatment which takes so little time and produces such gratifying results.

Massage a bland lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water gently into the skin, letting the lather get deep into every tiny pore. Then rinse away soap, dirt, make-up with warm water, finally with cold. And you'll find that your skin is wonderfully soft, smooth, protected against the many abuses of modern life.

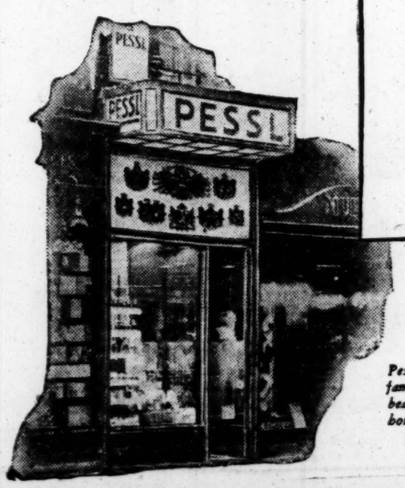
Beware of irritation

So many soaps irritate while they cleanse. They are apt to roughen the texture of the skin and spoil its delicate coloring. Palmolive is a pure vegetable oil soap. Its color, its odor, its very feeling is that of nature's great cosmetic oils. It cleanses safely, easily.

Herr Pessl is one of a great international group of beauty specialists who have discovered the facts about Palmolive for themselves and who now tell their patrons to use this soap in preference to any other. Today, there are over 18,900 such experts. Think of that! Thousands and thousands of those best fitted to know proclaim Palmolive best.

You will like Palmolive. You will be using it soon for the bath, too, since it costs even less than quite ordinary soaps. Follow Pessl's advice. Begin this very day.

"Palmolive Soap is made of pure vegetable oils. It is safe for the most delicate skin. I warn my clients against the irritation produced by ordinary soaps. Those who use Palmolive show the best results after our own beauty treatments."
L. Pessl
KÄRNTNERSTRASSE 28, VIENNA



Pessl's salon, across from the famous Opera House in Vienna, bears the seals of many royal houses which he has served as beauty advisor.

Consider the weight of this professional advice! 18,907 beauty experts recommend Palmolive!

AWAIT COUNCIL WORD ON CLOSED BRIDGES PLAGUE

Illinois Congressmen Seek Definite Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Members of the Chicago delegation in the house, as well as the two Illinois senators, today announced themselves ready to go to bat with the war department at once to relieve Chicago's pedestrian traffic from the time losses caused by the opening of loop bridges during the regular closed bridge hours.

In all cases, however, the Illinois members said they were awaiting word from Chicago officials as to the city's future plans in the "row" with the war department over the open bridge nuisance before taking further action.

Senators Charles S. Deneen and Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] stated that they were prepared to cooperate with house members in calling the attention of Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley to the need of a change in the bridge ordinance at Chicago, which would make possible the uninterrupted movement of street traffic during the rush hours.

Await Council Information.

Illinois congressmen with whom the open bridge problem at Chicago was discussed expressed willingness to support any reasonable plan advanced by the Chicago city council as a solution of the present handicap to the public. All agreed that a way should be found to make certain that bridges would stay closed during closed periods.

There is little likelihood, however, that anything definite will be done by the Chicago delegation, either individually or as a whole, unless Chicago officials ask for support and at the same time supply their representatives in congress with full information regarding the proposed ordinance changes and the effect such alterations would have on pedestrian and river traffic.

Although the question of changing the bridge ordinance at Chicago to lengthen the closed periods, and to make certain bridges "stay closed" during closed hours, has been before the war department for several months, no united effort has been made thus far by the Chicago delegation in congress to persuade Secretary Hurley to alleviate the situation at Chicago.

Government Seen Derelict.

"I think the government has been derelict in handling the bridge situation at Chicago," Senator Glenn asserted. "The war department has disregarded the rights of the pedestrians. I will strongly support any reasonable solution of the open bridge nuisance which will bring about the greatest benefit for the greatest number. I see no reason why the Chicago pedestrian should lose simply because the lake levels have raised to the point where tugs with 16 foot clearance are unable to get under bridges. Regulations should be made which will accommodate both street and river traffic."

"I am sure the whole Chicago delegation will cooperate in taking up the bridge matter with Secretary of War Hurley," Senator Deneen said. "We will be glad to work together to relieve the Chicago pedestrians of having to wait while bridges are opened during rush hours."

Chairman Fred A. Britten of the Illinois house delegation said that he would call a meeting of the delegation as soon as word came from the Chicago council authorizing its future plan of action.

Want Exact Facts.

"Once the delegation is informed as to the exact situation, I am confident it will take decisive action," said Mr. Britten. "If the council's demands are reasonable, we will make every effort to induce the secretary of war to relieve the bridge using public.

"Instead of agreeing to the lengthened hours desired by Chicago when it passed its bridge ordinance amendment last June, the war department has simply indicated it would agree to a reallocation. Shifting the time when bridges are to be closed in no sense cures an intolerable condition. The thing to do now, as I see it, is to bring direct to the secretary of war concrete facts and figures to substantiate Chicago's present plight.

"There is no question in my opinion of the necessity of having the bridges closed during the rush hour periods when they are supposed to be closed. Under the existing high river levels, there are, in effect, no actual closed hours for any Chicago bridges. Surely some way can be found to change this embargo on the time and convenience of the Chicago public. There can be no logical reason for penalizing 2,000,000 Chicagoans when an uncontrollable act of nature raises lake levels."

Chindblom and Sproul Agree.

Representatives Carl R. Chindblom and Elliott W. Sproul, both said they were in agreement with Mr. Britten that something should be done. They are willing to act when Chicago's wants are known.

"I want to know what the council wants me to do," Mr. Sproul said, "before I do anything further."

"When we know what Chicago wants, we will go to Secretary Hurley and try to get it," Mr. Chindblom said.

BALTIMORE BARRELS 1ST LEGAL RYE LIQUOR IN U. S. SINCE 1921

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The first rye whisky to be made in the United States under government supervision since 1921 was run into barrels today at the Baltimore plant of the American Medicinal Spirits company, the Old Mount Vernon distillery, which has been idle since 1917.

The company, under government permit, has started production of 18,000 barrels for medicinal use, of which 35 per cent will be rye whisky made in Baltimore. Manufacture of bourbon whisky at the company's plant in Louisville, Ky., was begun in November.

Bandit Demands Only $5, Lets Cash Register Alone

Duquoin, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—A man walked into a bakery shop here, pointed a pistol and demanded of the girls behind the counter a $5 bill. After getting it the bandit departed, although the cash register contained a much larger sum.

Bundled up, he does not get the Sun's protecting rays

—and so he needs Bottled Sunshine!

Physicians are warning mothers of a serious danger to their babies which is caused by lack of sunshine.

It is the danger that their bones and teeth will not form properly; will be soft and porous instead of solid and strong. Even breast-feeding does not keep them safe.

A protective factor (Vitamin D) must be supplied to build strong bones and sound teeth. Science has found two common sources of this factor—sunshine and good cod-liver oil!

Enough direct sunshine on his bare body would keep your baby safe. But clothing, clouds, fog and smoke make this almost impossible. Even ordinary window glass filters out the rays that protect.

So physicians have turned to Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—as the most practical means of ensuring correct formation of your baby's bones and teeth.

In prescribing cod-liver oil, thousands of baby specialists insist upon Squibb's because it is so rich in two essential vitamins—Vitamin D which is necessary for building strong bones and sound teeth, and Vitamin A which promotes growth and increases resistance to many infections.

Your physician will tell you that your baby needs the protection given by Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. All good drug stores have it. Plain and Mint-flavored.

FRANCE IS TOLD TO DIG UP MORE CASH FOR NAVY

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 3.—France's crack diplomats, Premier Tardieu and Foreign Minister Briand, got a big hand today, when they addressed a full cabinet meeting, explaining to President Doumergue and members of the cabinet how they had thus far been able to dominate the London naval conference.

Needless to say, the ministers, most of whom are no mean diplomats themselves, unanimously voted the two leaders their congratulations and entire confidence.

Tardieu Tells of "Victory."

The energetic Tardieu told his colleagues how he had induced Uncle Sam and Great Britain to accept the French transactional scheme as a basis for the limitation discussions, which open in London tomorrow. He also pointed out that he had succeeded in obtaining from rival delegates an agreement that the unofficial observer from the league of nations should follow the London negotiations, thus keeping the parley really within the framework of the Geneva organization.

When Premier Tardieu meets with the chamber of deputies tomorrow he will also demand an upward revision of naval expenditures for 1930, despite the fact that the London conference is striving to cut naval costs. The sum of $79,560,000 was originally fixed for naval expenditures in 1929, based on the assumption that prices would not rise. But they have, it seems.

And also there have been what the ministry of marine describes as "technical improvements, due to the rapid advances continually being made in naval construction," and all of these cost money.

Demands More Naval Cash.

So tomorrow the chamber will be asked to dig up an additional $50,000 for the navy, boosting the annual expenditure to nearly $40,000,000.

M. Briand and Francois Pietri, minister of colonies, who returned to Paris last week-end, will go to London tomorrow.

Premier Tardieu, who found on his return Saturday a plot among the chamber's minority parties to overthrow his government during his absence in London, will remain to face parliament tomorrow and shape the recalcitrants back into order. He will go to London Wednesday.

SHOOTING PASTOR IS FORGIVEN AND HIS PAY GOES ON

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The Rev. James A. Wilson, Mendota Methodist minister, who last week shot and severely wounded Amos Elliott, the church janitor, and the latter's wife, has been forgiven by his congregation. Yesterday at a business meeting, the members of the church agreed to continue paying Dr. Wilson's salary while he is in jail pending the outcome of the shooting. His resignation has not been asked.

Dr. Wilson is unable to furnish the $30,000 bonds under which he was placed last week when he was held to the grand jury.

Mrs. Elliot is recovering from her wounds. Her husband is still in the hospital.

BRITAIN OFFERS COUNTER PLAN FOR NAVAL CUTS

New Scheme Is Similar to French Proposal.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Great Britain today circulated to all delegations to the five power naval conference its reply to the French transactional proposal, which was placed before the conference last Friday.

America has decided to make no reply at present, but will await further elucidation on various points which its delegates consider not clear. Italy and Japan also have decided to sit on the sidelines and listen to Great Britain and France argue it out.

Not Much to Argue Out.

Not that there is much to argue about. The truth seems to be that the two powers are in complete accord on the principle of limiting the big cruiser class and allowing the greatest liberty for building in the small cruiser class. They are only divided at finding some way of doing it that will not seem too raw when the American delegates have to go home and give an account on their stewardship of national interests.

It was explained tonight in the British alternative proposal, which will be laid before tomorrow's meeting of the first committee, that Great Britain takes the same position as France about the necessity for ultimately fixing some figure of global tonnage. This is in direct opposition to the American viewpoint which clings to the category method of limitation or reduction.

Within the global figures, Great Britain suggests five categories, one divided into two subcategories. These categories are capital ships, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers, and submarines. The cruiser category is divided into two subcategories, eight inch gun ships or over, and six inch gun ships or lower.

This differs from the French proposal in that the French make a separate class of big cruisers and lump the light cruisers and destroyers together. The French also demand another class for auxiliary ships, which the British ignore.

The British meet the French, however, in a striking way by allowing a 100 per cent transfer between small cruiser and destroyer tonnage could French lump them in one class.

The real point of difference is that under the British scheme, a year's notice must be given for the transfer, while under the French scheme all the cruisers and destroyer tonnage could be put in one class without notice.

Other points of the British plan are that it allows no meddling with the allotment of capital ships; allows transfers in both cruiser and destroyer categories downward only, but allows a very limited transfer for large cruisers.

No attempt has been made yet to fix the figures, but it is expected that this will be begun immediately after the question of method is settled.

Another question which must soon be discussed is the suggestion for two methods of categorical division, one of which has been christened "ocean" and the other "continental." The ocean powers are Great Britain, America and Japan, while the continental are France and Italy. It is suggested that as the needs of these two groups of powers are entirely different, two separate category agreements should be framed.

It is learned tonight that while both France and Italy insist on large figures for permitted tonnage, they will probably be willing to give private assurances that they have no intention to build up to the total. Neither now has anywhere near the total navies allowed them by the Washington treaty and neither is likely ever to reach them.

Japan's Demand Is Met.

Friday night Japan told the other delegates that it would insist on the right to transfer from the destroyer to the submarine class. This demand is met in the British plan produced today.

The Japanese also declare their position has been misrepresented and that they have been traduced. They declare that in cruisers today they have parity with the United States, and even acceptance of their demand for 70 per cent of the largest navy in the world means a reduction.

Japan's hitherto somewhat ambiguous position was clarified today regarding several points. The most important relates to their attempt to limit the size of capital ships. While Japan is willing to accept a 25,000 ton limit for battleships it feels differently about the British suggestion for reducing the gun caliber to 12 inches. As for the complete abolition of battleships, Japan, like America, feels that the capital ship is still essential and is not willing to consider scrapping them entirely.

Why Japan Wants Big Guns.

Japan's unwillingness to go below 14 inch guns as a limit arises from the present constitution of its fleet. All its ten capital ships, with the exception of the Nagato and Mutsu, are armed with 14 inch guns. There are eighty of these weapons. The only other heavy guns in the fleet are sixteen 16 inchers. With artillery standardized on a 14 inch basis, all of Japan's arsenals and shell factories would have to be reorganized at a heavy cost, and the Japanese do not see sufficient gain to justify the change.

As for cruisers, Japan has no objection to cutting down on the size. The Japanese delegation points out that at the time of the Washington conference Japan preferred smaller ships than 10,000 tons and eight inch guns, having previously built nothing larger than the Kuma, of 5,100 tons and mounting 5½ inch guns. Even after the Washington conference, Japan's first cruisers were only of 7,100 tons. Japan, therefore, would welcome a cut in cruiser size.

SOCIAL LIFE AT PARLEY HUMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The social side of the conference goes cheerily on. Today there were a number of cozy little luncheon parties in the Ritz restaurant, from the windows of which the lunchers could see Buckingham palace across Green park.

F. Lammot Belin, first secretary of the American embassy, and Mrs. Belin, entertained Senator and Mrs. David A. Reed. A decanter of white wine was noticed on the table but the brand was not known. At the next table were Senator and Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson and Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, and nearby Frederick A. Sterling, American minister to Dublin, and Mrs. Sterling.

On Thursday the government hospitality fund has arranged for the wives and women employés, who can get off from work, a "ladies' outing" to Windsor castle, the country palace of King George and Queen Mary. The rulers are not, however, residing there at present.

The women will lunch at the White Hart hotel, an old English hostelry facing the castle gates. They will be driven to Eton college, where they may catch a glimpse of budding dukes and marquesses in short jackets and top hats.

On Wednesday evening there will be a formal reception at the admiralty house to the delegates and their wives. Albert V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, and Mrs. Alexander will receive the guests.

Australian Labor Premier Admits Economic Crisis

SHOOT GANGSTER, DEFY SWANSON IN NEW CRIME DRIVE

William Healy Is Latest Bullet Victim.

one of the stores, was to be charged with incendiarism today, according to Assistant State's Attorney Bellows. But, regardless of this, the police chief and prosecutor pushed forward in their programs.

Both State's Attorney Swanson and Commissioner Russell said they were going to go into the closest coöperation for the purpose of putting an end to wholesale bombing and "murder a day" in Chicago.

Swanson Calls Conference.

"I called the conference with Commissioner Russell because conditions have become positively alarming in this city," State's Attorney Swanson said. "It became apparent with the assassinations we have had in the last few days, the bold and open manner in which they were done, the sudden apparent increase in bombing, that something drastic must be done to stop these things."

The prosecutor was told that it had been reported his request upon Commissioner Russell for a conference had amounted to a peremptory order that the commissioner appear in his office.

"O, that's foolish," Mr. Swanson said. "I have no control over the commissioner nor any license to give him any orders. Commissioner Russell has always given me a full measure of coöperation.

"I have talked it all over with Commissioner Russell, and we have evolved a drastic means of handling the situation and one which we expect will have the desired effect of ending this terrorism. What we have decided to do is, of course, something it is best not to say. It would be foolish to let the enemy know what moves we intend to make."

Commissioner Russell had much the same sort of a statement after the meeting. Back at his own office in the city hall, he said the police department would begin to concentrate on street murder and bombings.

"There is nothing to be gained by divulging just what solution for the situation we arrived at and intend to put into effect," the police commissioner said. "Suffice it to say, we are taking strong measures.

"I have assured the state's attorney that I agree with him it is high time to take every possible measure for putting a stop the activities of bold murderers and bombers. Mr. Swanson will have my fullest coöperation and the coöperation of every man in the department."

Nothing new was learned of the killing of Barney J. Mitchell, treasurer of the Checker Taxicab company, and Glenn Jackson, a Checker driver, early Thursday on the far north side.

Open Rosenheim Inquest.

An inquest was opened into the death of Julius Rosenheim, investigator for many organizations and reform societies and for 20 years known as a stool pigeon and police informer. A second inquest was opened into the death of Cada.

Acting Chief of Detectives John Egan was attempting to make a connection between the killing of Rosenheim and Cada. The latter was known as a beer runner and loop racketeer, much seen in his dapper clothes around the corner of Randolph and Clark streets. The acting chief said he had obtained a witness who had positively identified the body of Cada as that of one of the two men who killed Rosenheim just after he had left his home at 3510 Dickens avenue.

"I can't disclose who this witness is," Capt. Egan said. "But I can say the identification is pretty good. The witness says Cada was one of the men who stepped up to Rosenheim, put revolvers to his head and shot him dead."

Find Theory Untenable.

Out of this witness' story the police began to theorize that Cada must have been killed because he had a hand in the killing of Rosenheim. Most of the detectives agreed, however, that the theory was not very tenable. They said that Rosenheim from the nature of his years of activities was probably the most hated man in Chicago; that he had not a friend in the world who would go out and kill any man because he had killed Rosenheim.

The information concerning the killing of Cada, shot to death in his expensive automobile as he drove at Broadway and Leland avenue at 5:45 a. m. Sunday, revealed by the session of the inquest, was exactly nil.

The witnesses were Cada's brother, Jerry, who testified that his brother was a beer runner, but that was all he knew about him or his activities; Eric Segermark and Charles Clifford, who got glimpses of the killing; and Milton Lewis, a cab driver who took the dying Cada to the Lake View hospital.

Segermark said he was driving a milk truck south in Broadway, following Cada's car. As the machine approached Leland avenue, he said, he saw it swerve towards the curb. He started to pass and thought he saw three men inside. While he was still passing it, two men stepped out of the right hand door and walked away. He then told of finding the body and said he did not get a good look at the killers.

The testimony of the other two witnesses threw no light on the killing and the inquest was continued until Feb. 24 at the request of Lieut. James F. Walsh.

Cada's widow, Josephine, had been summoned to appear, but was reported to be in a state of collapse.

Madonia, accused of causing the terrific explosion on Kildare avenue early in the morning, was brought into the office of Assistant State's Attorney Bellows by Sergt. Ray Steffen of the fire attorney's office.

Witnesses were produced who identified Madonia and said they had seen him in the immediate vicinity of the store at the time of the explosion. It was shown that Madonia had $5,000 in insurance on the stock of goods, that he had recently bought out a partner, and that he was wanted by the government on a warrant charging him with operating a large still.

Not Like Other Bombs.

Sergt. Steffen said his suspicions were aroused first by the fact that the alleged bomb did not act like other black powder or dynamite bombs, by the fact it was so much more severe and that it set afire the pile of debris. He next learned that Madonia, shabbily dressed and apparently just a poor small grocer, was in the habit of driving an expensive automobile of the make driven almost universally by bootleggers, hijackers, and their ilk.

"So I put him through a course of questioning," Steffen said, "and I had not gone very far before I was convinced he himself set the bomb or whatever high explosive it was."

Assistant State's Attorney Bellows, after questioning Madonia at length, said he also was convinced, and when the government warrants were served on Madonia in Bellows' office, the prosecutor said he would place the formal charge of incendiarism against Madonia this morning.

Girl, 7, Carries Younger Brother Through Flames

When fire broke out last night in the kitchen of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Nader, 319 South 22d avenue, Bellwood, the three small Nader children were trapped in the living room, the only entrance to the four room cottage being through the kitchen. Mary, 7 years old, held her 3 year old brother under one arm and led her 4 year old sister by the hand through the blaze to the door. The children escaped with minor burns and with scorched clothing. The fire was extinguished after it had caused damage estimated at $1,000.

MILLION ASKED IN HEART BALM FROM DU PONTS

Mrs. Mary Ball Sues Her Former Sister-in-Law.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Charging alienation of her husband's affections, Mrs. Mary Ball today filed suit in Circuit court here for $1,000,000 damages against her former sister-in-law, Mrs. Jessie Ball Du Pont, and the latter's husband, Alfred I. du Pont.

Although the bill of complaint made the charges specifically against Mrs. Du Pont, Gordon McCauley, attorney for Mrs. Ball, explained that under the law it was necessary to name Mr. Du Pont jointly with his wife in the litigation. Twelve counts were contained in the suit.

Mrs. Ball was divorced about two years ago from her husband, Thomas Ball, a Los Angeles attorney.

Stories False, She Charges.

The suit charged that Mrs. Du Pont "maliciously poisoned and prejudiced the mind of Mrs. Ball's husband against her by telling him false stories about Mrs. Ball," and that she "wrongfully, wickedly and maliciously enticed, influenced and induced" Ball to abandon his wife.

It was also set forth that Mrs. Du Pont had "degraded" Mrs. Ball among the latter's associates and acquaintances and had charged Mrs. Ball with being "poor white trash, extravagant, wasteful and suspicious of her husband."

Mrs. Du Pont also was alleged to have encouraged Ball to abandon his wife and finally divorce her "on statements and representations and charges against Mrs. Ball which were untrue."

Dr. Estes Sued for Million.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Dr. St. Louis Estes, wealthy health lecturer, formerly of Chicago, today was charged with wife desertion in a suit filed in the Superior court by Mrs. Clara Estes for separate maintenance for herself and three children. Mrs. Estes asked $500,000 alimony and $500,000 for alienation of her husband's affections in a companion suit brought against Dr. Esther L. Moran.

Mrs. Estes charged that her husband had lived with Dr. Moran since 1924 and that he was the father of the other woman's six children. The complaint named these children as Susanne, 8; St. Louis II., 7; Dixie Lou, and St. Louis III., 4 year old twins; St. Louis IV., 2, and St. Louis V., one month old.

The complaint of Mrs. Estes stated that she was living happily in Chicago until 1922, at which time Mrs. Moran entered their life, and, in 1924, "enticed and persuaded Estes from his home." She stated she moved to Denver in 1927 and for a short time received money from her husband, but recently none.

Dr. Estes was declared in the complaint to have an income in excess of $100,000 annually and was accused of supplying Mrs. Moran with a luxurious home, servants, and automobiles.

Mrs. Estes named her three children as Lucille, 21; Phœbe, 19, and St. Louis Jr., 18.

A green sedan automobile which has been parked in the neighborhood on several occasions recently, was sought by the police last night as a clew to the bandits who kidnaped and robbed Mrs. Margaret Arnold, 35 years old, 5409 Jackson boulevard, on Sunday night. Mrs. Arnold was entering the apartment building where she lives when a gunman met her in the hall and forced her into the green sedan, where an accomplice was waiting. They drove her to Laramie and Gladys avenues where they put her out of the car, after taking her $1,000 fur coat and $1.50.

YOUNG WAR DEBT PLAN PERILED BY REICHSTAG FOES

Germans Fight Payment for Polish Seizures.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The reichstag today postponed discussion of the Young plan until Feb. 11 to give the government time to wear down the resistance of strong groups in the reichstag. The resistance is not directed against the Young plan itself, but against side agreements which the reichstag is asked to accept simultaneously with the Young plan. One is the Polish-German liquidation agreement. The Franco-German agreement over the Saar also figures among the foreign problems, while from the point of view of internal politics finance reform is the chief bone of contention.

The Polish-German liquidation agreement was worked out and initiated by Poland and Germany in accordance with the recommendation of the Young plan.

Thousands of Acres Seized.

Ever since enforcement of the Versailles treaty, Poland and Germany have been fighting over the Polish liquidation of German state property and the property of German individuals. The Poles confiscated 213,655 acres of German state property. They seized 115,102 acres of pryperty from German citizens, paying 40 to 50 per cent of its value after the Germans protested. Germans living in Poland will still own 111,150 acres of land there.

In the new agreement with Poland, the German government promises to refund the losses incurred by Germans. In return, the Poles pledge themselves not to touch the property of Germans remaining in their territory.

The Prussian diet refused to approve the agreement because it was convinced that the 30,000 Germans who filed suit in The Hague court for the refund of the property seized by the Poles should be satisfied by the Poles.

Insists Plan Is Fair.

Foreign Minister Curtius, although he admitted to the diet that the Polish-German liquidation agreement is not an integral part of The Hague agreement or the Young plan, still insists that the Reichstag accept the Polish-German agreement simultaneously with the Young plan. He contends that the purpose of the Young plan is to do away with old time feuds of minor importance and start with new slates. He believes a Polish-German agreement is necessary even if Germany is forced to shoulder part of what Poland should rightfully pay. He hopes that in the course of a week he will be able to win the bulk of the Reichstag to his point of view.

When party leaders conferred with Dr. Curtius, Chancellor Mueller and other ministers today, they also expressed disappointment at the high price demanded by France for evacuation of the Saar district and return of the Saar mines and demanded time to confer with their parties.

The party leaders also asked for details of Germany's financial reform plan.

Attorney Arraigned on Bond Forgery Charges

Roger D. Hay, Barrington attorney, was arraigned yesterday before Justice of the Peace Henry F. Wallenwein on charges of forging and selling Barrington special assessment bonds. He was released on $7,000 bonds after his hearing had been set for Feb. 13. Hay, who disappeared on Dec. 17, after the discovery that fraudulent bonds had been issued, surrendered yesterday to State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county. Hay was an assistant village attorney and had charge of the sale of the bonds.

ADJUDGE YOUNG HUCKINS INSANE FROM USING DRUG

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—George E. Huckins, 39, insane from the use of drugs, tonight was ordered sent to the state asylum for the insane at Independence, and his trial on an indictment charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses has been indefinitely postponed. It was to have begun today.

Huckins was examined by the Linn county sanity commission in private yesterday and the report made to Judge H. C. Ring today came as a surprise to County Attorney Carl Hendrickson, who opposed the motion for an indefinite continuance of the case.

Dr. Frank S. Skinner of the sanity commission informed the court that Huckins was "a fit candidate for the asylum," and the other members of the commission bore him out. Skinner said it would endanger Huckins' life to place him on trial at this time.

WATERWAY FOES AND FRIENDS SEE HUGHES 'ERRORS'

Exceptions to Report Put Gulf Route in Peril.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Exceptions filed today in the Supreme court of the United States raised issues having an important bearing upon the lakes to the gulf waterway, as well as upon Chicago's sewage disposal problem.

Approval of contentions of counsel on the Chicago side of the case will insure a permanent diversion of water ample for the navigation needs of the waterway.

Acceptance of theories advanced by counsel for the opposing lake states, on the other hand, will seriously threaten the future of the waterway by completely cutting off all diversion at the end of nine years. Instead of at the end of nine years.

Both sides filed exceptions to Mr. Hughes' report, which had suggested a final decree under which construction of sewage treatment plants by the Chicago sanitary district at a cost of 175 million dollars would be required within a period of nine years with successive reductions in diversion of water from Lake Michigan down to a maximum of 1,500 cubic feet per second, exclusive of domestic pumpage.

Chicago's Contentions.

The contentions advanced on behalf of Chicago and Illinois were:

That the special master should have given consideration to the rapid rise in lake levels during the last two years.

That fifteen years instead of nine should be allowed for construction of sewage treatment plants.

What financial difficulties involved should have been given more consideration.

That the special master's proposal for fixing the amount of water diversion is an invasion by the judiciary of a function of the secretary of war as delegated by congress.

That navigation needs in the Illinois river will require an annual average water diversion of substantially 5,000 cubic feet per second at Lockport, including domestic pumpage and rainfall run-off quivalent to 3,300 feet at Chicago.

That navigation needs in the Chicago river as a part of the port of Chicago, without reference to needs of the Illinois river, will require an average diversion at Chicago of 2,000 cubic feet per second, exclusive of domestic pumpage, instead of 1,500 feet, as proposed by the special master.

Contentions of Chicago's Foes.

The opposing contentions advanced on behalf of the lake states, were:

That the court should hold that there are practical measures for the disposition of sewage of the sanitary district of Chicago through other means than lake diversion.

That the adoption of such means will make it practicable to terminate all flow at Lockport from the great lakes-St. Lawrence watershed to the Mississippi watershed.

That there is no authority in law for diversion from one watershed to the other, and that all diversion, including direct abstraction from the lake, domestic pumpage and effluent from sewage treatment plants, should be cut off by Dec. 31, 1938.

That any implication that congress would have the power to authorize any diversion from the great lakes-St. Lawrence watershed for the Illinois waterway without the consent of the complainant states is erroneous as a matter of law.

Would Specify Diversion Dates.

That water diversion should be reduced to 6,500 cubic feet per second, as proposed in the Hughes report, by July 1, 1930, and to 5,000 feet on Dec. 31, 1935.

That all sewage treatment plants and controlling works should be completed by Dec. 31, 1938, as provided in the Hughes report.

That construction of outfall sewers or tunnels to carry effluent to Lake Michigan is practicable.

That the public health would be safeguarded without diversion of water by means of the installation of water filtration works for the domestic water supply, construction of a new water intake and chlorination of effluent of sewage treatment plants.

CARUSO ROYALTIES DECISION REDUCES DAUGHTER'S SHARE

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Notwithstanding a decision in her favor by the lower court, Gloria Caruso, little daughter of Enrico Caruso, is not entitled to a two-thirds share of the talking machine royalties left by the famous tenor the Court of Errors and Appeals held today. The royalties have an estimated value of nearly $1,000,000.

Under a decision of the courts of Italy, the singer's estate was divided into eight parts, Gloria to receive four-eighths and the rest to be apportioned in equal parts to Mrs. Caruso, Giovanni Caruso, a brother of the tenor, and Rudolpho and Enrico Jr., two sons of his.

Chancellor Edwin R. Walker, before whom the suit for a two-thirds share of the royalties was brought, held that, being a minor and therefore a ward of the New Jersey Court of Chancery, Gloria was entitled under the laws of the state to the share asked for regardless of the Italian decree.

FLAYS CARAWAY LOBBY QUIZZING AS DESPOTISM

Accusations that Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] is riding roughshod over constitutional rights and liberties in his activities in the senate's lobby investigating committee at Washington were voiced last night by James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. In a protest written to the Associated Industries of Arkansas, Caraway's home state, Mr. Donnelly likened the senator to a "despot of the middle ages."

"The conduct of the majority of the senatorial lobby investigating committee to date, and particularly that of the chairman, Senator Caraway," said Mr. Donnelly, "justifies the conclusion that they are prompted by two motives—political expedience and personal advertising.

"The despots of the middle ages did not display more arrogance or indifference to the constitutional rights and liberties of the individual than do some of the members of that committee.

"Even the infamous Spanish inquisition proceeded on the assumption that there might be some mitigating circumstances in the conduct of the accused. The senatorial investigating committee subpoenas an individual, subjects him to a third degree cross-examination so flavored with sarcasm and innuendo as to suggest guilt, and otherwise ignores the most elementary rights of a private citizen."

"WHIM SLAYER" THROWS SELF ON MERCY OF COURT

Vogel Pleads Guilty to Murder, Robberies.

August Vogel, 27 years old, called the "whim slayer," pleaded guilty yesterday to the murder of Lyle Perrenoud. He previously had entered a plea of not guilty, and a jury pledged to recommend the death penalty, if the evidence warranted, was being selected when Vogel suddenly changed his mind and asked permission to throw himself on the mercy of Judge Otto Kerner in the Criminal court.

Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and Walter Butler were prepared to show the jury that Vogel, who participated in several robberies, became angered at Perrenoud, a salesman, who lived at 7227 Cornell avenue, because the latter's car brushed fenders with him at 75th street and Stony Island avenue on Oct. 12, 1929. Vogel pursued the Perrenoud car and when he overtook it in front of 836 East 81st street he shot and killed the driver.

Vogel changed his mind after talking with his wife, Katherine, and his sister, Bertie Lindberg. He then asked permission to plead guilty not only to the murder, but to the four charges of robbery.

"I want to warn you that you stand in danger of a life sentence, a term of years not less than 14, or I may sentence you to death in the electric chair," said the judge. "Do you still wish to plead guilty?"

The defendant replied, "Absolutely," and the jury was dismissed and the taking of evidence started. Mrs. Olive Perrenoud, widow of the slain man, was the first witness. She told the details of the slight accident which brought on the killing. Mrs. Fay Allison, who was with the killer, then told how Vogel and the others in their car went to a party at the home of a colored woman after the shooting.

Vogel's attorneys will offer evidence today in an effort to soften the punishment, and it will then be up to the judge to sentence Vogel.

Letter received by A. E. Jacoby, 6420 Normal boulevard, Chicago.

Rangoon is the capital of Burma, India, on the eastern arm of the Irawadi river, 20 miles from the Bay of Bengal. Among its public institutions are two colleges and a museum. It ranks next to Bombay and Calcutta as a seaport of India, the bulk of all the trade of Burma passing through it. It came into the possession of the British in 1852 and has a population of about 250,000.

2 NAVY OFFICERS FIRED BY HOOVER AS EMBEZZLERS

One Is Sentenced to 3 Years in Prison.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—President Hoover disclosed today that he had signed official orders dismissing Lieutenants Harold W. Northcutt and Charles Musil from the navy.

Northcutt was found guilty by the navy department on three charges—desertion; violating regulations, and conduct prejudicial to morale of the service. Musil was accused of embezzling $54,651.21 while acting as disbursing officer of division 40 of the destroyer squadron of the scouting fleet, at Charleston, S. C.

While stationed at the Norfolk navy yard, Northcutt disappeared with some money he had collected for extension courses which he taught there for the University of Virginia. Located in Vancouver, he was convicted at court martial proceedings at Bremerton naval station in Washington.

The court martial held at the Washington navy yard last month recommended dismissal and five years' imprisonment. The sentence was reduced to three years, however, because of Musil's restitution of the funds.

Northcutt was born in New London, Mo., and his permanent home address is there. His wife and child live here. Musil is a native of Chicago. He will serve sentence at the naval prison at Portsmouth, N. H.

LINDY SHOWS HOW BIRD FLIES WITH A BROKEN WING

Maneuvers Plane After One Control Drops Off.

Lebec, Cal., Feb. 3.— (AP) —Col. Charles A. Lindbergh treated a few flying friends, news reel camera men, and newspaper men to a real thrill today. He disappeared in the heart of the Tehachapi mountains in a disabled sail plane, causing grave concern for his safety. For an hour or more in this isolated area it was uncertain whether the famous flyer had cracked up or whether he had mastered a crippled motorless ship.

Then he came up smiling. Just another experimental flight and no harm done, he revealed.

Planned Experiment.

Lindbergh came here Sunday with Hawley Bowlus of San Diego, champion American glider pilot, to "play and experiment" with a sail plane, motorless flying ship.

This mountainous area with diminishing hills leveling out into the Mojave valley to the north was selected for the experiment.

Bowlus this morning made two trial flights, hopping in each flight from hill to hill.

Then "Lindy" took off. As he sailed into the air the right aileron, one of the ship controls, fell off. This control, attached to the wing as a wing tip, was regarded as essential to the safe piloting of the craft.

Maneuvers Air Currents.

As warning shouts on the ground sought to apprise him of the mishap, the colonel circled around, gracefully maneuvering the sail plane on the currents.

Then he soared over a distant hill and descended out of view. Fearing disaster, the little group started from the camp to seek the missing flyer. They had not gone far, however, when they came to a point where it was seen that the sail plane had landed safely. Lindbergh was found surveying the ship. It was undamaged other than the loss of the aileron.

At no time was the sail plane out of control, Lindbergh revealed.

U. of C. Students Rehearse 3 Plays for Next Friday

Members of the University of Chicago Dramatic association are rehearsing for their third playfest. Three one-act plays, written, produced, and acted by students, will be presented next Friday and Saturday in the Reynolds' club theater at the university. Among the players is Miss Lucille Hoerr, who left the university for a dramatic career five years ago and quit as understudy of a Broadway actress a few weeks ago to return to complete her scholastic work.

BERLIN JAIL FAILS TO HOLD THIEF OF $250,000 GEMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—One of Europe's most prominent burglars, Heinrich Sandowski, serving a term at Tegel, a suburb of Berlin, broke jail today. He was to have been sent to the United States for stealing jewels valued at over $250,000 in New York, Miami and Palm Beach.

Sandowski made his Berlin debut in 1926 when he was taken to a Berlin hospital suspected of having typhoid fever. He suavely asked the hospital doctors to take special care of his seaman's chest. But an inquisitive nurse looked into the box and was astonished to see it filled to the brim with jewelery.

Sandowski smoothly explained that they were merely little trinkets he had picked up in various ports and also had traded in exchange for food during the revolution in Russia. The police were not convinced and broadcast a description of the stuff, receiving replies from New York, Miami, and Palm Beach identifying it.

Princess Xenia, Leeds Deny They Divorced to Remarry

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The New York American in a copyrighted article tomorrow will quote the former Princess Xenia of Russia and William B. Leeds Jr., as saying in a joint statement that their recent divorce was not occasioned by any desire to remarry and that they remain "perfectly good friends."

The statement was prepared and issued at the Leeds' town house in Greenwich Village, where the princess, her former husband, and the princess' attorney met by arrangement with a reporter. It was issued, the princess and Mr. Leeds said, to correct inaccuracies in the press concerning the cause of the divorce.

BRITISH MINISTER ADMITS FAILURE OF JOBLESS PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—"I do not believe the country realizes how serious is the situation regarding some of our industries," J. H. Thomas, minister of unemployment and lord privy seal, said tonight.

He told parliament his $250,000,000 scheme to cure unemployment was facing failure.

"I admit the unemployment figures are worse," he said. "The figures which will be announced tomorrow or Wednesday will be the worst of all. There will be an increase of 18,000 this week, and I have no hesitation in saying that from the end of the month onward there probably will be 100,000 added."

"The use of Copper, Brass and Bronze in home construction is indicative of good construction throughout"...

JOHN W. O'LEARY
President
The National Bank of the Republic of Chicago

JOHN W. O'LEARY

A HOME built well and maintained in good condition is a prime investment. It is ready security for any need. But bankers tell you that, unless your home is protected against depreciation, the security is short-lived. Therefore, many such leaders as Mr. O'Leary advise you to build for permanency — with Copper, Brass and Bronze.

Brass or Copper pipe, Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures cannot rust. Their presence in any structure, whether it be a skyscraper or home, protects it against depreciation.

When you build or buy, it is sound business to specify these lasting materials. They are worth far more than their slightly higher initial cost.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

"My secret is Lux in the Dishpan," this charming wife says

"I HAVE been married more than ten years, and have done all my own work, yet my hands look as nice as they did on my wedding day, thanks to Lux," writes Mrs. Harold W. Simmonds.

Modern young homemakers themselves discovered this secret of keeping hands delicately white and smooth — femininely appealing. They first noticed how nice their hands looked after Luxing their fine things... then began using Lux for dishes, too!

Of nearly 2,000 young wives in 11 large cities, 96 out of every 100 are keeping hands as young and dainty as when they were married, by using Lux. For dishes and the many other soap and water tasks about the house!

For less than 1¢ a day—hands like a bride's! Lux for dishes—marvelously economical beauty care for the hands!

305 Famous Beauty Shops say:
"We actually can't tell the difference between the hands of a woman with maids to do all her work and the smooth, white hands of a woman who uses Lux in the dishpan!"

They know that ordinary, coarse soaps leave hands red and rough, while Lux suds protect the precious beauty oils of the skin... keeping busy hands smooth, white, adorably young looking.

Lux for all your dishes costs less than 1¢ a day. Lovely, smooth white hands for such a tiny price!

THE TARIFF ON BLACKSTRAP.

The farmers of the corn belt have sought in vain for a higher tariff on blackstrap molasses. Blackstrap comes in chiefly from Cuba. It is used in the manufacture of alcohol and therefore competes with corn in the manufacture of one of the chemicals most widely used in industry. If a higher duty were placed on blackstrap a slight increase in the cost of alcohol to American manufacturers might result, but at the same time the demand for corn would increase and higher prices for corn might be expected to follow as a matter of course.

The aim of the farmers since the severe deflation following the war has been to place agriculture on a parity with manufacturing industry in respect to tariff protection. For the most part, that aim has not been achieved. Admittedly, the application of the principle is not always easy. The prices of many of our agricultural products are fixed by the exportable surpluses sold in the world market. So far as corn is concerned, the problem is not so difficult. Almost all the corn grown in the United States is consumed in the United States and most of it is consumed on the farms on which it is grown. The price of corn is fixed largely by the demand of industrial consumers, and an increase in industrial demand should, therefore, be reflected in higher prices for cattle and hogs fattened on the farms as well as in the cash value of corn sold in the central markets.

The proposed tariff would have served the purposes of the corn belt as tariffs for 150 years have served the requirements of industry. It reflects no credit on the farmers' ability to make their demands effective, and even less credit upon the representatives of the farmers in congress, that their movement got nowhere. The farmers and their congressmen have devoted their thought and energy to various schemes smacking of communism for readjusting the balance between agriculture and other industry while neglecting to take advantage of a well tried method proved feasible by years of experience.

GOOD OLD KENTUCKY.

Senator C. R. Luker of the Kentucky legislature, in discussing a proposed revision of the state criminal code, disclosed a little peculiarity of the law relating to shooting from ambush. If a citizen hid in the brush to take a shot at a fellow citizen, in the interest of a family feud or for other reason good enough for him, and missed the man he wanted to get, the maximum penalty was ten years' imprisonment. If he hit the fellow the maximum penalty was only five years' imprisonment, regardless of how seriously the victim was wounded. Of course, if he killed his man he did not get the discount, but was liable to the death penalty.

Apparently the state theory has been that a man having such a felonious intent aggravated his crime if he added poor marksmanship to it. Kentucky had no use for a bad citizen who also was a bad shot. As such he was a complete social loss. Consequently something of a bounty was offered for good shooting even if it was demonstrated in the breaking of the law. A bad citizen who could shoot straight had points of worthiness which the state was willing to consider.

Those are the boys of the buckskin breed. In Indian wars and notably under Andrew Jackson at New Orleans the riflemen of Tennessee and Kentucky learned that shooting straight was a great and necessary virtue.

MONUMENTS IN THE PARKS.

The new Lincoln park board is reported to have made substantial reductions in the pay roll, and this is, of course, welcome news. The park boards can use every cent of income for extending their legitimate activities; the use of any part of the funds for supporting a political machine is inexcusable.

It is no less gratifying to learn that the Lincoln and west park boards have undertaken to erect no monuments of any kind without first consulting the state art commission or, as it is more accurately described, the state board of art advisers. This board, now headed by Thomas E. Tallmadge, has only advisory powers. Any one of taste will agree that there is great need for advice of the kind which the board can offer to the laymen who administer the parks. It is a pity that the design for the traffic bridge at North avenue, for example, was not subjected to more careful study and review. The bridge might have been an ornament or, at worst, an inconspicuous incident in the landscape. As it is, poetic justice requires that the names of those who approved the plans be imbedded in the structure in enduring bronze as a source of inspiration to generations of Chicagoans yet unborn.

Other examples of the lack of sound, critical judgment and professional advice can be found in most, if not all, the park systems in Chicago as well as in other cities of the state. The art commission, if given the opportunity, will advise public officials in charge of the erection of public works and monuments anywhere in the state. It is to be hoped that the advice will be sought as a matter of course, if only to save this generation from becoming a laughing stock.

THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN.

Charles Dailey, TRIBUNE correspondent in the Far East, now traveling among the Pacific islands, sends an interesting story from Samoa. This group is now divided between the United States, which governs its portion through the navy, and the British empire, which took over the former German holdings and governs them, under mandate, through New Zealand. As to our part, the natives are said to be very indisposed to change from navy control to the proposed civil government which congress has in mind for them and is sending a commission to formulate on the basis of investigation. As to the British part there has been bitter dissatisfaction and an armed uprising, which resulted in the killing of the Samoan chieftain, Tamasese. The Samoans under New Zealand rule assert that they have been subjected to oppression and exploitation, and they appealed to the league of nations. Although that body is supposed to keep a check upon mandatories, to prevent them from abusing their powers, the league turned a deaf ear to the appeal of their supposed wards.

If the Americans who idealize the league as an agency of international justice and invite us to join it on that quaint assumption had any respect for facts they would note this case, as well as the several preceding in which the league has not intervened to protect weak peoples from the manhandling of mandatories. In no case since its establishment has the league defeated or even embarrassed oppression in the mandates when it involved the will of the strong powers which control the league.

Another striking aspect of the Samoan revolt is the quality of the New Zealand control. The Samoans, who are among the most tractable and civilized of the island peoples, seem to have been very unjustly and roughly handled by the New Zealand politicians, and, though they first appealed for justice and reform directly to New Zealand, they were given no satisfaction. This is to us surprising, for the New Zealanders are a people who are supposed to represent the best grade of British emigration and might be assumed to cherish the spirit of justice and good government which is alleged to justify and is the proud boast of British imperialism throughout the world.

VIRTUE FOR TINY TOTS.

There are those who want a lower ceiling for "The Star Spangled Banner," and now there are those who don't want "The Star Spangled Banner" at all. It is too pyrotechnic for children and too Bacchic. Miss Kitty Cheatham, maker of children's songs, pointed out these exhibits to the house subcommittee assigned to recommend junking "The Star Spangled Banner," deflating its high notes, or making it the national anthem: "Rocket's red glare," "bombs bursting in air," "foul footsteps' pollution," and "entwine the myrtle of Venus with Bacchus vine (original verse)."

The lately born and the unborn are destined for a large dose of synthetic sweetness and light. New era specialists prescribe poems, composed as postgraduate theses, on the advisability of eating spinach instead of "Grimm's Fairy Tales" and "Mother Goose." The international mind alcove contains substitutes for the heroism of two-gun patriots. History texts will dwell on the administrations of Hayes and Cleveland, but will slight the bellicose days of Madison, Polk, Lincoln, McKinley, and Wilson. The national anthem will be edited in the spirit of Walter Hines Page and the Bishop of Wall street.

We are grieved, however, that Al Capone of Sherwood forest has not been censored by the super-nursemaids. Is it because Robin Hood stuck up only rich people?

AMERICAN MALE ROYALTY.

An interlocutory decree of divorce has been granted the former Princess Xenia of Russia from her husband, William B. Leeds, the son of the tin plate money. Mr. Leeds' mother in her widowhood married Prince Christopher and became Princess Anastasia of Greece, which was worth something on both sides. It was a distinct achievement on Long Island and abroad. Young Mr. Leeds met Xenia, the niece of King Constantine, at his mother's court and their romance led to marriage in Paris.

Apparently it is possible for an American lady given wealth, opportunity and ambition to absorb royalty by marriage at least to the satisfactory awe of her fellow countrywomen, whether they be green eyed or only wide eyed. Although this seems to be possible on the distaff side the transfusion is unsuccessful when it is tried on the male side. Consequently this divorce merely disposes of the Mr. Gann of Long Island.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO'S BREAKDOWN.

[Washington Post].

If Chicago were an independent state instead of an American city, the time would be ripe for a revolution. The political clique which has control of the city has subjected Chicago to every indignity and extravagance. Now that the treasury is empty, with city employés unpaid and the police, fire protection and sanitary service threatened with disruption, some of the leading citizens are working on the problem of obtaining funds to keep the administration from complete collapse. In a city of 3,000,000 people municipal functions, such as police and fire protection, cannot be suspended without disaster. Efforts are being made to sell tax anticipation bonds to large taxpayers who have been prevented from paying taxes because of the property reassessment. But even if this temporary crisis is averted, Chicago will be confronted by a debt of $290,000,000.

The politicians' excuse for the plight of the city is the inability to collect taxes last year because of the reassessment. But any comprehensive view of the case reveals this as the occasion and not the cause of Chicago's bankruptcy. For years the governments have been spending beyond their income with reckless disregard of the consequences.

The term "governments" is used advisedly, for control of public affairs in Chicago is divided among more than 20 different corporate bodies, each of which raises and spends money on its own responsibility. Authority is dissipated among the city council, the board of education, the public library board, the sanitary district of Cook county, and many others. While the treasury is empty and the people are feeling the smart of municipal bankruptcy is the time to junk this broken-down machinery.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

COUGHS DISTURB SPEAKER.

RABBI WISE was speaking to a large audience in the auditorium of the Sunday Evening club on a recent occasion. The sound of almost incessant coughing annoyed him. He stopped the discussion of his theme and frankly told his audience that their coughing was disturbing the flow of his thought. His home audience knew that he was uncomfortably influenced by such interruptions and they had learned to refrain. Never was the weather so bad, never were colds so prevalent, that his home audience indulged in coughing during the course of his sermon. Having made this statement and having asked his audience to refrain from coughing, Rabbi Wise proceeded with his address.

Prior to the statement by the speaker there was a regular machine gun rattle of coughing. After it none was heard. It is true that within a few minutes Dr. Wise had launched into a fervid emotional appeal. Plainly he was profoundly affected and just as plainly his audience was also under an emotional spell. This of itself could be expected to paralyze the nerves of sensation which register the impulse to cough. But the difference between before and after cannot be wholly explained by the emotional state into which Dr. Wise threw his hearers. Much of it was the result of a willingness on the part of the audience to respect the speaker's wishes, a willingness imperative enough to restrain the desire to cough. It can be done.

One of the first lessons a consumptive in a sanitarium learns is that he must not cough needlessly. In any well ordered consumption hospital coughing is as infrequent as it was in Dr. Wise's audience after he had made his request. If an audience can restrain their coughing for Dr. Wise, why should they not do so for others and on all occasions? On this occasion they wished to oblige the speaker and doubtless they wanted the best he could give them. But why not refrain to oblige those round about? To some a cold, meningitis, or some other form of contagion is a far more serious matter than interrupting the flow of ideas of a speaker, or even being discourteous to a preacher.

FA' DOWN AND GO BOOM.

Mrs. K. B. writes: My daughter, 2½ years old, fell out of a second story window and landed on a cement driveway. She slept for about a day, vomiting frequently. Since then she seems entirely well. The physician examined her thoroughly and found nothing except some bruises. Is it possible for her to escape all after effects?

REPLY.

It is not only possible but probable that your daughter will have no after effects from this fall. Had there been any injury beyond some concussion you would have known of it. Children fall relaxed and they do not weigh much. Consequently they often escape, as you say, "miraculously."

CIT OF OLD FOLKLORE.

Mrs. S. writes: I have a boy five years of age and I sleep in the same bed with him. Although I am healthy in every respect, people say this is injurious to the boy. Will you please explain?

REPLY.

While it is better for people to sleep alone, it is not probable that you are harming your child.

There is no basis for the folklore about the danger that an older person will sap the vitality of a young one by sleeping with him.

CANADIANS NOT UNDER QUOTA RESTRICTIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—[Friend of the People.]—1. Is there any bar to a Canadian born person entering the United States at the present time with the intention of taking up permanent residence here? 2. Would there be any reason to prevent a Canadian born girl entering with the intention of being married to a British born person who is now legally residing in the United States?

L. S. M.

1. There is no quota for Canadian born citizens for their entrance into the United States for permanent residence.

2. There would be no reason why a Canadian born girl would be prevented from entering the United States for permanent residence and then marrying a British born person who is now legally residing in the United States.

You are further advised that the American consuls abroad have sole authority to issue visas. There is usually no difficulty for a person born in Canada to come to the United States but the matter rests entirely with the American consul nearest their place of residence in Canada.

LANDLORD ENTERS JUDGMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A owed $50 for rent. His wages were garnisheed for $80. The lawyers who sent the garnishment said the case had been taken to court and the $80 judgment had been rendered. 1. Is this legal in view of the fact that A was not informed the case was going to court? 2. Could lawyer again garnishee for the $30 if the $50 rent had been paid after the garnishment?

J. B.

1. Most leases contain a printed clause expressly authorizing the landlord to enter judgment by confession without serving summons. The tenant is allowed a hearing on the merits if he moves for such hearing promptly after getting notice that the judgment has been entered.

2. A tenancy is "by the month" if expressly so agreed, or if the rent is payable monthly and there is no valid agreement for a longer term. Since an oral agreement for a year to commence in the future is invalid under the statute of frauds, the tenancy under such an agreement is ordinarily by the month.

3. The Illinois statute provides: "In all cases of tenancy by the month, or for any other term less than one year, where the tenant holds over without special agreement, the landlord shall have the right to terminate the tenancy by thirty days' notice in writing." In 10 Ill. App. 626, it was held that "this section has no reference to the right of the tenant to terminate." Hence, the common law oral notice by the tenant is probably sufficient, but we advise written notice in all cases. The notice does not relieve the tenant of his obligation to pay rent to the end of his tenancy. There is no legal obligation to assign a reason for the notice. The right to increase the rent is incidental to the right to terminate.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

yessir, looking over the newspapers yesterday we find so many people telling us we've gotta have patience we are beginning to believe it. We've gotta have so much patience and there's so many of the good and great telling us so that we've gotta spell it with capital letters after this—PATIENCE—and we've got to rustle around and soak up a lot of it.

PATIENCE! Yessir, that's the lesson for the day. Who says so? Well, first of all, Sen. Robinson speaking for the American delegation to the peace show in London tells us over the radio, "Do be PATIENT!" And Gen. Berenguer says, "The people must have PATIENCE!" "The rum ships are gone," says Mrs. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U. girls, "illicit liquor making is being transformed from large to small units, and these will disappear." Yessir, regarding this here now prohibition, all we've got to have is PATIENCE!

And farm relief? Oh, that's coming, but Washington says there is just one thing about farm relief, and if we have that then we'll get the relief. And what's that one thing? Give you one guess. Now, class, what do you suppose that one thing is? All together now, PATIENCE! Certainly. And what about the tariff, income tax reduction, long skirts, springtime, back pay for the cops and teachers in Chicago, the subway, and bigger and better jails. PATIENCE! That's all!

Here, boy, run around somewhere and buy us some of that stuff! Everybody yells for us to have it and we seem to be just out. If they talk so much about our having it, then it must be easy to get hold of. So skip around now and get us thirty-five or forty cents' worth of it. PATIENCE! Sure, buy enough to last a week or two.

BRAVIG IMBS.

WE'VE BEEN holding out on you. Dennis King called us up over long distance a week or two ago and said he thought he was going to London with The Three Musketeers. We didn't say anything about it then because we knew you wanted him to come to Chicago with The Three Musketeers; we knew he wanted to, and maybe he might at that. But yesterday we had a telegram from him saying that he really is going; he opens at Drury Lane April 3. And that's that. Well, anyway, you'll have his Vagabond King picture some time soon, and if he runs out for a few days before he sails for old England we'll let you know.

ANYHOW, it all sounds like one of the Oliver Optic stories, Up from the Ranks or from Train Boy to President, or something like that. Dennis, not so many moons ago, glowing with ambition, plodding drearily around the provinces in England doing voices off, Cæsar's corpse, and throwing down paper snow from the wings when the stern father said, "Out into the night, you hussy! You and your brat, and never say again you are my darter!" And now—Dennis appearing as a star in London at the Drury Lane! Well, well! It isn't such a hopeless old world after all, at all. For sometimes dreams do come true.

His idea of bustin in on a guy with tears in his good eye is a louzy system (pardon the expression, just now I cant think of a smellier one), what he shood do is use a little teckneek fer instance like startin off with "Mr. Goozleprune, I've picked you out of 35 prominent business men of our fair city an I'm gonna give you tha honor of becoming one of your associates, in fact I will start at once instead of wintering in tha Bermudas with tha Starlings an tha Sir Herringtones as I had planned. As to salary I'd rather work for a concern like yours for $25,000 a yr. than tha Umphock people for $50,000. Now that it's all settled have your decorator submit some walnut office furniture an a few doz. etchings so's I can give to your organization my very best efforts." Ya know it juss gets me sick all over, tha pleebeeyan way Al is tackling so simple a problem. I gotta hunch that when jobs was easy Mr. Albert was laying in bed saying to hisself, "O Hell there'll be more snow an besides tha last shovels was too big." I'd like to assist tha boy an this morning I wrote my frend, tha warden at Ft Leavenworth, to see if he had anything open. Will let you know soon as I hear from him. He gave my Uncle a job and tha Unc. tells me that even if they have a slack season tha job wood still be good for 20 yrs. If tha boy follows my ritzy instructions as herein before outlined, tell him not to forget to include a few trinkets in his lunch box.

THE AMMUNITION DUMP

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY, 4, 1865.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The house of representatives was in committee of the whole tonight on the infamous black laws. The question was discussed with great ability on the side of freedom and justice by Representatives Payne, Lake, Stacey, Hopkins, and Niles. The cause of wrong and outrage was defended in a loud mouthed and howling manner by Logan, Barrett, Neece, Webb and others. The copperheads found themselves lame at the start and did bungling work to the end. The question of the black laws will be taken up again tomorrow.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—In the senate the following special committee of five on the subject of the removal of the state capital to Chicago was appointed: Lansing, Green of Marion, Richards, Mack, and Green of Alexander.

FORTRESS MONROE. — Stephens, Hunter and Campbell, and other confederate peace commissioners, arrived here from City Point in Lieut. Gen. Grant's special dispatch steamer. Secretary Seward was on board the steamer River Queen to receive them.

NEW YORK.—James Devlin was shot today on Governor's island for desertion.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 4, 1900.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—William Goebel, Democrat, head of the Kentucky government organized by legislative majority in the face of bayonets, died this evening from the wound inflicted by an assassin's bullet five days ago. His death has brought the crisis which threatens to plunge Kentucky into civil war. Before notice of Goebel's death was given out Lieut. Gov. Beckham was sworn in as governor. Gov. Taylor, Republican, in his office in the executive building, when informed Goebel was dead said he had no statement to make. Partisans of the dead leader and some irresponsible followers made a rush for the capitol, hooting the soldiers, flourishing revolvers and shouting "Murderer! Murderer!" Soldiers fired their rifles into the air to maintain order.

LONDON.—The war office is still silent on the operations of Gen. Buller on the Tugela river, but there is every reason to believe he is continuing his movement on Ladysmith.

CHICAGO.—The American Federation of Teachers and Students, which has its inspiration in the desire of the French government to deflect American student travel from Germany to France, has completed its organization. President Henry Wade Rogers of Northwestern university, Superintendent Andrews of the Chicago schools and others compose the Chicago committee on the organization.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 4, 1920.

CHICAGO.—Chicago's leading gunman "got his" last night, and the murder, the authorities fear, presages a labor feud war with more killings. Maurice [Moss] Enright was slain as he drove up in front of his home, 1110 West Garfield boulevard. He died at the wheel of his automobile before he had a chance to get out. Men in a curtained car shot him and disappeared.

PARIS.—High Germans are on the list of 800 men called by the allies for trial for war crimes. They include the pillars of Prussianism and many of the nation's heroes as well. Among them are Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Gen. Erich von Ludendorff, Gen. von Mackensen, Dr. Theobold von Bethmann-Hollweg, and three members of the Hohenzollern family.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson's condition has not been so favorable recently and he is again kept away from everybody. He was unable to attend the cabinet meeting.

CHICAGO.—Well, Peggy's gone and done it again—married a millionaire. This time it is J. Stanley Joyce, Chicago lumberman, living at 4615 Woodlawn avenue. He is her third millionaire husband. And Peggy — she's Peggy Hopkins of musical comedy and movie fame.

THE BATTLE OF LONDON.

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 29.—THE TRIBUNE has been right on this naval conference question always. If the counsel of THE TRIBUNE were heeded British diplomacy would have failed in its attempt to get America to pull its chestnuts out of the fire by calling naval conferences at Washington, London, and elsewhere.

These naval conferences are supremely necessary in the life of the British empire. For many generations before the world war any nation, including America, which would attempt to get near Britain in naval armament would have a war on its hands.

But the war so weakened Britain economically and otherwise that it was impossible for her to keep up her old pace. America was getting larger and stronger and more powerful. Her foreign trade demanded the largest navy in the world. It would have been only a matter of time when the British navy would be far inferior to the American. At this point Britain was too weak to resort to force and so she resorted to diplomacy. The result was the Washington conference which ended disastrously for America, and the general effect of it was to continue the old time naval supremacy of Great Britain on a somewhat narrower margin.

After America had lagged far behind in cruisers congress began to think of an approach toward parity with England and the fifteen cruiser bill was passed.

At this juncture a second conference was called, the London conference to perpetuate British naval supremacy.

The very best thing that can happen to America at the London conference would be its utter failure. Then America can build such a navy as she needs as a first line of defense against foreign aggression. There is no reason why America should incur the displeasure of all the world besides in order to perpetuate British naval supremacy.

FRANK J. BURNS.

FROM A PEACE ADVOCATE.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Why be highbrow? Everybody knows it's naval paring not parity the London conference is after, and Uncle Sam, as usual, is expected to do the paring. Gypped at the Washington conference, he stands an even greater chance of being gypped at this. It took a bitter fight and some cussing, from all accounts, to have the secretary of the navy and an admiral who knew his business, Yardstick Jones, to be made part of the delegation. One would think they would be the first to be appointed. Who better able to tell the needs of the navy than men who are at the head of it?

What the people of this country, especially we of the middle west, don't know about their own navy would fill volumes. Nobody wants war, but we all should realize that the surest way to prevent war is to be able to defend ourselves, and the navy is our first line of defense. We may as well face the truth. The United States navy has been deteriorating ever since the Washington conference. The ships that were so nearly finished then and that were scrapped because England told us to scrap them could well replace ships that are now being repaired at great cost of money, sometimes of men. Many of our guns have not the proper elevation, our cruisers—perhaps the less said of cruisers the better. What use for congress to order certain things done when those orders are held up beyond all patience?

As for aviation, the European governments put us to shame. Our attitude in the Schneider cup race told the tale. We have the best men on earth in every branch of the service; but they are being steadily handicapped by poor pay, a bureaucracy that is sapping the life of the navy, and worst of all by a lack of understanding and support from the American people that is undermining their morale. The country is honeycombed with pacifists and a petition signed by two hundred thousand women is sent over to London. Lord help us all! May the dear women stay there. Peace is the greatest thing on earth, pacifism the silliest. One can hardly say the word without stuttering. It reminds one of those rubber nipples, called pacifiers, that old fashioned mothers used to put in their babies' mouths to quiet them. The poor infants thought they were getting nourishment, but they were only getting wind.

Let's hope that the pacifists and a lot of the secretaries get lost in the London fog and that Charles Francis Adams and Admiral Hilary Jones emerge with some remnant of the United States navy. If not, the next war will be certain and soon.

MARY ONAHAN GALLERY.

WHERE BANQUET TIPS GO.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—I would like to call the attention of the public to a new racket, one becoming more popular at the large hotels.

Usually the promoter at banquets and dinners leave one or two dollars for each girl with the head waiter. This money, we never see, though we often hear about it. The head waiters aren't satisfied with this graft, so the custom of rushing the girls at the end of the meal, getting them out as soon as the coffee is poured, and then sending a captain around to collect the money left on the tables, is just a new racket. We don't get that money either.

So if your waitress is gone and the captain comes with an excuse about the money being "split" between the girls, throw him out and put the money back in your pockets.

DUAL ALCOHOL CONTROL FACES FIGHT IN HOUSE

Drys Join Wet in Attack on Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Majority and minority reports on the proposal to shift responsibility for prohibition enforcement from the treasury department to the department of justice which were filed today disclosed a serious split in house dry ranks and presaged a bitter squabble when the measure is brought to the floor Thursday.

The fight will center on the provision dividing control of industrial alcohol between the attorney general and the secretary of the treasury—a provision attacked in the minority report as a loophole through which both officials will be able to escape responsibility for any breakdown in the handling of alcohol.

Drys Join with Wet.

Six dry members of the expenditures committee — Representatives A. H. Gasque [Dem., S. C.], H. E. Rowbottom [Rep., Ind], U. S. Stone [Rep., Okla.], J. W. Moore [Dem., Ky.], O. H. Cross [Dem., Tex.], N. F. Montet [Dem., la.]—Joined Representative J. C. Schafer [Rep., Wis.], a wet, in the minority report, which contended that "effective enforcement" will never be obtained by dividing the authority for any portion or phase of the law.

"This joint authority," the minority predicted, "will promote friction and the assumption by one department that the other will do all things necessary in connection with the joint authority prescribed and will permit a continuation of the present lax enforcement. Further, it will permit one department to charge the other with responsibility for all resulting laxity of enforcement, and the public will not be able to hold either department responsible."

Plan Is Wickersham's.

Under the terms of the bill recommended by the majority and in substantial accordance with the recommendations of the Wickersham law enforcement commission, the attorney general, charged with full responsibility for dry law enforcement, is given a veto power in the control of permits for the withdrawal of industrial alcohol.

DRINKING MAN AS U. S. MARSHAL SUITS SENATORS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Confirmation of the reappointment of John D. Walter to be federal marshal in Connecticut was recommended by a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee today after Walter appeared to defend his record on prohibition and his ability to enforce a law in which he may not believe.

Looking fifteen years younger than the seventy-four years he claimed, Walter asserted he voted as a member of the Connecticut state legislature for ratification of the eighteenth amendment, but he freely admitted having drunk liquor on occasion. This latter charge, made against him and ignored by the senate when he was first appointed a federal marshal eight years ago, was revived after Attorney General Mitchell's recent announcement that only total abstainers would be eligible to any post involving responsibility for dry law enforcement.

"I'm in favor of enforcement of any law if it comes to me from the President and the courts," said Walter, in response to a question from Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the subcommittee. "I may disagree with Senator Borah about a law, but, by gosh, if Senator Borah passes a law, it's my duty to enforce it."

"Are you a drinking man?" asked Borah.

"I can say 'yes' and I can say 'no,'" answered Walter. "I have no appetite for drink, but I have drank."

"Are you opposed to the eighteenth amendment?" asked Borah.

"I voted for it in the legislature, honestly, and voted for what I thought was right," declared Walter. "If it can be enforced, I'm in favor of it. But when I read articles by men like Prof. Nicholas Murray Butler and others and I see they disagree, I think it's possible, just possible, that it may be wrong. I think the law can be enforced, but how, I don't know, as a layman."

Borah asked Walter if the key to effective enforcement would not be found in the "faithfulness of enforcing officers."

"Well, now," answered Walter, "an officer may do his best, honestly, and yet fail. If I started out with a paper given me by the President to arrest Senator Borah and if I saw the senator and didn't have a gun and the senator pointed a gun at me, I'd let the senator go. I am honest about that."

STICKUP DINNER DETAILS RELATED BY MAGISTRATE

Vitale Denies Liquor Was Served There.

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Magistrate Albert H. Vitale told publicly for the first time today his story of the hold up of his testimonial dinner, Dec. 8, at the Roman Gardens in the Bronx, and in the course of his account he accused Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, his chief accuser, of broadcasting malicious falsehoods.

The magistrate was the first witness at the trial in Bronx County court of Joseph Bravate, who is accused of being the leader of the holdup gang.

He testified $45 had been taken from him by the stick up men—he identified Bravate as the man who searched him—and declared he had not been as lucky as other guests, whose valuables were returned to them a few hours after the dinner.

Lorenzo Carlino, attorney for the defendant, wanted to know if the witness had not been aware of the fact that the Roman Gardens was on the police "suspect list."

"Positively not," declared the magistrate.

Claims It Was Falsehood.

Q.—Haven't you heard that Commissioner Whalen said so? A.—I have heard that he made a lot of statements that were absolutely malicious. If he ever did say that, it was a falsehood, and he, as police commissioner, should have closed the place up, if it was that kind of a place.

The magistrate denied there was any liquor at the dinner. This phase of the trial was introduced by Mr. Carlino, who asked:

"Did you have anything to drink?"

"Water," Magistrate Vitale snapped back.

Q.—Did you see any liquor there? A.—No, and thank God! If there had been any, that place would have been a slaughter house.

Recounting the events of the holdup, the magistrate corroborated the evidence given at the police department trial of Arthur Johnson, former detective who was demoted for allowing the holdup men to steal his revolver. Johnson was present as a guest.

Told Them to Keep Cool.

"While I was speaking," the magistrate testified, "I observed this defendant enter and walk to the speakers' table and he said to me: 'Sit down and put your hands on the table.' Then I saw a gun and I immediately shouted 'now men, keep cool, don't start anything, and let them get anything they want and get out of here as quickly as they can.'

"While this was going on, I observed Detective Johnson at the table on my right, and I motioned at him and stared, gritting my teeth, telling him not to start any demonstration because I knew he was a police officer and since we were thirty-five business men I feared the consequences."

The witness denied that Ciro Terranova, the "artichoke king," was at the dinner.

SHOT IN CANADA BY U. S. LIQUOR GUARDS, HE SAYS

Dominion Will Look Into Border Incident.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The Canadian government will be asked by Col. S. C. Robinson, member of parliament from Essex west, to investigate the shooting of Arthur Laframboise of Lasalle, Ont., who charges he was wounded early today on the Detroit river by bullets fired at him by United States inspectors while he was on the Canadian side.

Laframboise, suffering from two scalp wounds, is in a Windsor hospital. His condition is not serious.

United States customs border patrol inspecters denied that they had any report from their men of a shooting on the river. They said that while Laframboise never has been connected with rum running activities he is well known as a smuggler of aliens into the United States and advanced the theory that he might have been shot in a fight between rival alien smuggling bands.

Col. Robinson said today that he has known Laframboise many years and regards him as a good citizen.

"The United States government," he said, "has many armed men on the border. Many of them are allowed to operate against rum runners without being schooled in the use of firearms or without any knowledge of the geography of the international boundary. By allowing these men to run amuck with guns, the United States government is violating the international treaty every day."

Laframboise, when questioned this evening, admitted he was wanted by American authorities for alien smuggling.

For the informal supper, the formal dinner, or any occasion between—Velveeta will bring new enjoyment

A new delight in Cheese Flavor

Now everybody can enjoy it freely

CARVE yourself a generous slice! No inner tremors about eating all the Velveeta you want.

In Velveeta, Kraft-Phenix experts have added to cheese new digestibility, health qualities—and delicious new flavor that cheese lovers acclaim!

Here's a revelation in flavor—richness, mellowness never before attained! Texture that's smooth and creamy. Plus new health benefits.

Kraft skilled cheese blenders pick the finest Cheddar cheese. Then—crowning achievement—they return to it all the precious elements that the usual cheese making loses. The milk sugar, calcium and other minerals of the pure, rich full cream milk. All these valuable properties of good rich milk retained, not wasted! Velveeta is as digestible as milk itself, as natural a food for children.

Now you are offered this marvelous discovery. A secret protected by patent. A new scientific contribution to food enjoyment.

You spread Velveeta just as you would butter. You slice it, chilled, in clean, firm slices. For cooking, Velveeta adds new zest to any number of dishes. It delights you by melting and blending like magic. Ideal for toasting, too.

Give all the family, young or old, this new treat. The chance for free enjoyment of delicious cheese flavor. Your grocer has Velveeta in the half pound package. Try some today.

*A distinguished authority says this of Velveeta

"Every element of the original milk is in Velveeta. As a food, it is more complete than ordinary cheese and as complete as milk. All the milk sugar, calcium, phosphorus and other milk minerals are retained. So too are the Vitamins A, B, C and D. Velveeta meets a real nutritional need. Containing proteins other than casein it is exceptionally easy to digest. Children can eat it freely as soon as they can handle food."

TWO TO ONE LEAVENING

Exactly the Right Proportion

—two-thirds of Rumford's leavening action takes place in the mixing and one-third takes place in the oven. That's why Rumford is called the two-to-one leavener. That's the secret of the superior results of every Rumford baking.

52 laboratory tests in the process of manufacture make certain that every Rumford baking has the advantage of two-to-one leavening.

For this reason a Rumford bake never has the sogginess and heaviness caused by leavening action which is delayed until exposed to oven heat. The dry, crumbly cakes and biscuits produced by the release of too much leavening gas in the mixing never occurs when Rumford is used.

Rumford leavening is always perfect two-to-one leavening—the leavening which produces perfect results. Why not have these advantages in your baking?

I'LL PAY Anyone $1000.00 to NAME IN CASH THIS—

Here Is An Easy Way to Make $1000.00

If you were putting a new soap on the market what would you call it? You would give it some name—either simple or fancy—what would that name be? I know you have a name in mind now, or you can suggest one after a few moments' thought. The very name you select may win the $1000.00 I am offering. It makes no difference whether you live in the country or city, if you are educated or not, if you are rich or poor, I want you to help me by suggesting a name for my new soap. We have paid thousands of dollars to prize winners and in almost every instance the person who least expected to win received a prize. You, too, may win by sending a suggestion. It costs you nothing to try. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, for any name may win. This soap is fragrant, lathers freely, promotes a smooth soft skin, is excellent for the bath, washing the hair, etc. A coined word such as Clean-Easy, Clean-All, or the name of flowers, trees, etc., or any other name you think of may be submitted.

YOU CAN'T LOSE

because other contestants submit the winning name first, as we will give duplicate prizes to all who send the winning name. If the name you send wins, you will receive $1000.00 regardless of how many other people have submitted the same name. This means you can't lose by others submitting the winning name first.

$100 Extra For Promptness

To get quick action we are going to pay the winner an extra $100.00 for promptness, or $1100.00 in all—so send your suggestion AT ONCE!

CONTEST RULES

This contest is open to everyone except members of this firm, its employees and relatives.
Each contestant may send only one name. Sending two or more names will cause all names submitted by that person to be thrown out.
Contest closes April 30, 1930. Duplicate prizes will be given in case of ties.
To win the promptness prize of $100.00 extra, the winning name suggested must be mailed within three days after our announcement is read.

Absolutely Nothing Else To Do

Remember there is no obligation. The person sending the name we choose will win this handsome prize. Nothing to buy or sell—nothing else to do to win. Think of the pleasure this prize can bring you, the places you could go, the things you could buy, with $1000.00, or $1100.00 cash, if you are prompt. Wouldn't it be delightful to win? Wouldn't it be a pleasant surprise to your friends? Don't think you can't win for your opportunity is just as good as anyone's, if you will send in a name. Do it right now! For the very name you send may win.

6 Million interested families

THE American Weekly has the greatest following of readers on the face of the earth because it has an editorial content that interests more people than any other magazine on earth.

So impelling is its interest that one-fourth of the population of America looks forward eagerly to each new issue.

If you want to know why this is so, pick up next Sunday's issue and study the contents for yourself.

The American Weekly prints human articles—it prints romances, adventures, tragedies and articles taken from real life. It does merely what the great novelists do and what the great playwrights do, but its stories are not FICTION—they are FACTS.

Like Shakespeare or Dickens or Tolstoy or Theodore Dreiser—The American Weekly deals with the realities of life.

The American Weekly also prints scientific discoveries when they are important enough to be interesting. It prints new facts of history, anthropology, biology and archeology. It covers the field of interest and information. It entertains and instructs its readers and all that it does is legitimate and commendable.

That it is the favorite magazine of the American people is demonstrated by the fact that its circulation is twice that of its nearest competitor.

Reader interest is important to the advertiser because an interesting advertising story will be read by the most interested circulation in the world.

In addition to these advantages, The American Weekly is the most economical form of national advertising you can buy.

For $16,000 you can buy a color page, nearly three times as big as any other magazine page and project your story into the homes of six million interested families.

These interested readers constitute one-fourth of all the people in the United States, and these people are located in the richest buying areas of this country.

If you buy advertising with a slide rule in your hand, there can be no question of the status of The American Weekly on your schedule.

If you buy advertising as so many do by impression, what medium offers such a challenge to your imagination?

PURDUE OVERWHELMS OHIO'S QUINTET, 60-14

CROWD BATTLES POLICE TO SEE TRIBUNE BOXERS

Fans Storm Arena at South Bend.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 3.—Fifteen hundred persons standing outside the National Guard armory began rioting here tonight when the sold-out sign was hung out shortly before the championship bouts started in the South Bend News Times-CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves sectional tournament.

Police squads were called and a patrol wagon load of the rioters was taken to jail after officers fired several shots into the air. While the rioting was under way, 2,500 spectators, occupying every inch of space, were in the armory watching the boys in the ring fighting for Golden Gloves glory. They were unaware of the disturbance on the roof of the armory and in the street.

Stampede on Roof.

The trouble started when several hundred fans, unable to purchase tickets, climbed to the roof and stampeded toward a dozen small windows through which they expected to get a view of the championship bouts. They got beyond the control of police stationed at the armory and the officers, fearing the overflow crowd would crash through the roof or some one would be pushed off it, turned in a call for reinforcements.

Abbicht Abbiehl, 514 South Michigan street, South Bend, lost three teeth and suffered a lacerated chin. He alleged Policeman Willis Sriver hit him and almost knocked him off the roof. It was the only injury reported and all the rioters taken to the jail were released.

The finals of the sectional tournament would have been witnessed by a crowd of 10,000 had there been room. But shortly before 8 o'clock the word went out that every ticket was sold. Still, 1,500 who knew they could not get tickets journeyed to the scene of amateur fisticuffs, and it was this crowd that caused the trouble.

Reasons for Rioting.

The belligerent boxing bugs could not be blamed for trying to battle their way into a vantage point at the ringside, for the greatest fights ever staged in Indiana were taking place, and sectional champions who will go to Chicago late this month were being crowned.

And what a sturdy, hard walloping lot of fighters these Hoosier boys are. And what a mixture of talent. White boys and black boys won titles. So did bootblacks and stenographers, and a fighting journalist was so good in the featherweight class his opponent conceded victory to him before the battle started.

Here's the South Bend team which will come to Chicago seeking THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves:

FLYWEIGHT—James J. Lamberson, Greek bootblack of Mishawka, Ind., and the La Porte county amateur champion last year. He can punch with either hand and knows how to box. Whipped a good, game boy when he beat Albert Carroll of South Bend in three rounds.

BANTAMWEIGHT—Frank Bodish weighs 118 pounds and punches like a young mankiller. An office boy at the Studebaker plant. Won his title when he knocked out Bernard Oenkish in the second round.

FEATHERWEIGHT—Robert Hoenig, the fighting South Bend journalist. Joe Veney, 19 years old and 10 years younger than the belligerent journalist, forfeited the final match to him. All Hoenig had to do was to come up and receive the plaudits of the crowd and get his gold medal.

LIGHTWEIGHT—Jack Milan, a colored boy who is a porter at the Oliver hotel when he is not pushing leather at some foe. Happy disposition and a bit lazy, but uncorks a regular mule kick with his right when somebody stings him on the chin or in the stomach. He beat a game, hard punching fighter when he got the decision over Lawrence Wicker in the title struggle.

WELTERWEIGHT—John Szekendy, a laborer in an automobile factory, weighs 147 and can punch and box. Fought his way to the semi-finals, then won by default in the final match.

MIDDLEWEIGHT—Emery Nemeth, a mechanic, who had to go four rounds to win Francis Wood. This probably was the greatest battle staged in any of the sectional tournaments. And Emery didn't use much of an edge at the finish. It is said both Nemeth and Wood can't come to Chicago and stage their battle all over again.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT—Jack Kovatch, photographer, and watch his smoke at Chicago! This boy can sock. His taps on Julius Erdelyis' chin sounded like the drives of a sledge hammer. He slips over terrific swings and gets out of danger cleverly.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Elbert F. Place, farmer boy of Walkerton, Ind. When he hits, his opponent hears the chirps of the first robin of spring. A young, clean cut fellow and able to take care of himself. What he'll do against a coal miner from Springfield, the fighting butcher from Davenport, or the husky brakeman from Streator we are not willing to predict. But at any rate somebody's going to know they've been in a fight.

BACK FOR MORE

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Thirty-four boxers, including two who were members of the Chicago team which met New York last year, will represent the Barry gymnasium in the sectional trials of THE TRIBUNE'S annual Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament. These preliminaries will be held in three sections of the city on Feb. 11, 14 and 17. The finals are scheduled for the Coliseum on Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28.

Bill Maddux, runner-up in the heavyweight division who lost his fight in New York, is one of the leaders of Dave Barry's team. Bill is working out every day and is expected to make much better showing than last year. John Lira, a promising heavyweight, is the other entrant in the division.

Nick Fosco, who won the welterweight title a year ago, will compete again in the same division. Fosco

LIEB ACCEPTS COACHING JOB ON PACIFIC COAST

Leaves Today for Loyola of Los Angeles.

BY ARCH WARD.

Tom Lieb, assistant coach to Knute Rockne at Notre Dame last season, has conditionally accepted the position of head coach at Loyola college of Los Angeles, Cal.

Lieb will leave for the coast today. He told THE TRIBUNE last night that if terms of his contract conformed with promises Loyola officials had made in telephone conversations he would accept.

Loyola is located in Venice, a suburb of Los Angeles. It has just completed a big building program, which makes the school one of the best equipped Catholic institutions on the coast.

Will Get $10,000.

Terms of Lieb's contract were not revealed, but his salary will approximate $10,000 a year. One of the factors which influenced Lieb to go west is his wife's ill health.

Earlier yesterday Lieb turned down a three year contract at $10,000 a year with Alabama Polytechnic. Minnesota's refusal to give him a definite answer on his application for the position of head coach there led him to cancel negotiations with the Gophers Sunday.

Coaches at Wisconsin.

Lieb is a former Notre Dame athlete. He was one of the best tackles in midwest football in 1921. His career on the gridiron was interrupted in his senior year when he suffered a broken leg in a game at Purdue. He was retained at Notre Dame after graduation as assistant coach. Later he transferred to Wisconsin as aid to George Little. He remained the following season as Glen Thistlethwaite's assistant, and last year was recalled by his alma matter.

Rockne's illness last season threw much of the coaching responsibility on Lieb and he directed the team in six of its games. Notre Dame was undefeated.

Lieb returned yesterday from Philadelphia, where he accepted in behalf of Notre Dame a trophy awarded annually by Philadelphia sportsmen to the outstanding football team of the season.

ILLINI INVITE IOWA TO INDOOR TRACK CARNIVAL

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The University of Illinois invited Iowa, indoor champions of the Big Ten, to compete in its relay carnival here March 15 in a letter from Chick Werner, acting track coach and manager of the carnival, to Hawkeye officials sent today. Illinois had decreed not to compete against Iowa while it was suspended from the Western conference, but upon the announcement of its readmission, the ban was lifted.

United States to Meet Canada in Davis Cup Match

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Amid curtsies and bows and the rattling of official decorations from the vest pockets of dignified diplomats, the drawings for this year's Davis cup were made by Gaston Doumergue, president of the third republic at Elysée palace today.

The United States was represented by Ambassador Walter E. Edge. He witnessed America draw the softest selection in the history of the Davis cup. Japan has withdrawn from competition in the American zone, leaving the United States to play Canada, and Mexico to scrap it out with Cuba on the western hemisphere.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

IOWA IN FOLD.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA is back in the Big Ten fold. It would be more proper to say in Big Ten graces. Strictly and technically speaking, Iowa never has been out of the fold. The term Big Nine was a misnomer. Iowa still was a member, although other members of the conference suspended athletic relations. The effect was the same, but we must observe technicalities in these collegiate matters.

Out at Iowa City they hardly know whether they have had an immunity bath or a dose of cod liver oil. The undergraduates suspect the latter. The reason is because while Iowa is reinstated, the thirteen, or is it fourteen, athletes declared ineligible to attain that end, are given little encouragement for reinstatement.

Now The Wake no longer pretends to understand this Iowa case. We have heard the conference position and we have heard Iowa's side of the question, and the more we heard the more confused we became except that Iowa was guilty of something because it admitted it was guilty of something.

Well, if Iowa was guilty and its sins absolved, why are these desperate characters who accepted loans of from $15 to $85 from a loan fund "unofficial," and therefore illegal by conference interpretation but apparently official and legal under the former Iowa régime, still a menace to simon pure, or simon poor, amateurism?

Here's our point: No boy in college, athlete or nonathlete, is going to refuse a loan if he is told it is all right to accept it. Mike Farroh, one of the suspended, even repaid part of his loan this last summer. These boys, we are informed, accepted the loans on the information they were O. K. Therefore, unless the conference has something else on them, they are being made the "goats" of Iowa's reinstatement.

White Sox to Use Walsh as Ivory Hunter

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

A different line of work for Edward Walsh Sr. will be found during the coming season. For the last few years he has performed in the rôle of a coach with the White Sox, but when the official 1930 roster was published recently there was no mention thereon of the one time great spitball hurler. The veteran, however, remains on the club's reserve list and Manager Donie Bush will use him in the rôle of a scout.

Another thing that may happen among the White Sox forces before they start for their San Antonio camp Feb. 15 is the addition of another coach. Bush already has lined up Bernard Mike Kelly for this work, but is thinking of signing one more if a suitable candidate can be found.

Athletes of note were plentiful around Cub park yesterday. Ray Schalk, the new coach, drove up from the south side and Hartnett, Bush, Blake, Heathcoate, and Grampp gathered from various north side sections. They had nothing to discuss except their respective merits as pinochle players. Pat Malone, who had been a member of the "early bird" squad for a couple of weeks, departed Sunday night for California. He'll remain in Los Angeles and pick up the first squad when it passes through there the morning of Feb. 21.

Blake arrived here Saturday. He has been pursuing bunnies and other unsuspecting animals in West Virginia, thus keeping himself in such condition as to make spring training a simple matter.

Manager Joe McCarthy may proceed to California in advance of the battery squad, which leaves here two weeks from today.

Auto Tank Explosion Fatal to Sandberg, Coast Catcher

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Gus Sandberg, veteran catcher for the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league, died here early today. Sandberg, had been severely burned about the head yesterday when the gasoline tank of his car exploded.

Ring Commission Probes Carnera's 'K. O. Bout' Today

The Illinois state athletic commission today will open its investigation of the unsatisfactory bout between Primo Carnera, the mountainous Venetian carpenter, and Elzear Rioux, Canadian heavyweight, at Chicago Stadium last Friday night.

The match, which ended with a chorus of boos and open charges by fans that Rioux had taken a dive, lasted only 47 seconds, Carnera winning by a knockout. The giant Italian steamed out just seven punches and Rioux went down six times and then out. Immediately afterward the commission ordered all purses held up and called the principals in for today's investigation.

BASS' PUNCHES STOP ABAD IN FOURTH ROUND

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, made a punching bag of Davey Abad, Panama flash, in their scheduled 10 round title fight tonight, Bass winning on a technical knockout in the fourth round after flooring Abad six times. Abad also was sent to the canvas twice in the first stanza.

Sheldon Clark Again Heads C.A.A. Athletic Committee

Charles B. Spalding, newly elected president of the C. A. A., yesterday reappointed Sheldon Clark to the chairmanship of the athletic committee. Avery Brundage was chosen for the vice chairmanship. Other members of this committee are Thomas Heneage, W. B. Henri, W. J. Conlon, and R. E. Freeman. The bath committee chairman is George W. Childs and Charles R. Crane II, vice chairman. Other members appointed to serve for one year are Frank Bornaman, E. A. Rich Jr., and Frank W. Harless.

Tilden Beats Austrian Net Player in 3 Sets

CANNES, France, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Bill Tilden easily defeated Hermann Artens, Austria's second ranking player, in the final round of the Cannes tennis tournament today. The scores were 6-0, 6-2, 6-0.

RUTH'S DEFIANCE FAILS TO ROUSE YANKEE BOSSES

Barrow Silent on Babe's Threat to Retire.

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Babe Ruth's latest gesture of defiance, in effect a threat to retire and live on an income of $25,000 unless the Yankees meet his demand for a new three year contract at $85,000, caused no great excitement today along the Forty-second street baseball row in general or the Yankee club offices in particular.

"We are not interested and we have nothing to say," declared E. G. Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, when advised that Ruth, either personally or through an agent, had broadcast a statement from Florida in support of his salary contentions.

Present Offer Club's Limit.

Ruth has rejected the two year contract at $75,000 a year offered by the Yankees, which sum it is understood, represents the limit the club will go. It is $5,000 a year more than the Babe has received for the last three years.

Barrow and Col. Jacob Ruppert, the club owner, not only feel that they have dealt generously with Ruth but that they "should be examined" for risking that much money on the uncertainties of baseball, Ruth in particular.

The circumstances of the Babe's unexpected debut as a propagandist were somewhat mysterious. Sporting editors tearing open their morning mail were just about to toss some mimeographed stuff in the waste basket when they noticed the Ruthian label.

Babe's Statement Suspected.

At least one morning paper had the story on its desk last night, but did not print it because of suspicion as to the possibility of a hoax, in spite of the postmark of Palm Beach, where Ruth has been sojourning. Furthermore, the man who has mimeographed most of Ruth's statements, Christy Walsh, is now in California.

"If the Yankees rejected my request for an increase," reads the statement, "I will remain idle, which, at my age, means retirement from baseball. I mean organized baseball. A few years ago I would not have taken this attitude. I would be obliged to sign at any terms for the same reason 95 per cent of all players have to sign—bread and butter.

"Well, there's enough bread and butter in our home even if I never touched another baseball in my life. Without receiving five cents from the Yankees during 1930 I am assured an income of $25,000 from established dividends and royalties."

SAMMY MANDELL WHIPS GOODMAN IN 12 ROUNDS

McQuade's Suit Against McGraw Is Dismissed

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Schmuck today dismissed without opinion the suit of Magistrate Francis X. McQuade against Charles A. Stoneham, president, and John J. McGraw, vice president, of the National Exhibition corporation, owners of the New York Giants baseball club. In the suit McQuade sought reinstatement as treasurer and director of the corporation.

Favorites Win in U.S. Indoor Tennis Meet

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Led by Frank Hunter, who scored another easy victory, the favorites in the national indoor tennis championship advanced all along the line today as the field narrowed to 13 contestants.

Among the survivors were all eight of the seeded stars—Hunter, J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., Julius Seligson of Lehigh, Herbert Bowman of New York, Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines, Ia., now a student at Harvard; Eugene McAuliff Jr., former Fordham player; Perrine Rockafellow, New York, and Merritt Cutler, New York.

Hunter Favorite to Win.

Hunter, a one sided favorite for the title he won in 1922, crushed S. J. Wadsworth, New York, 6-1, 6-2, to enter the third round. He now has dropped but 5 games in two matches.

Hall, who is expected to meet Hunter in the final, won twice. After defeating Abraham Bassford, New York, 6-2, 6-1, he trimmed Lincoln Halberstadt, New York, 6-1, 6-3.

One of the best of the younger contenders, Dick Murphy of Utica, N. Y., was eliminated by the more experienced Bowman, 6-3, 7-5. In an earlier match Murphy, who formerly held the national junior indoor crown, and is now a student at Harvard, made an impressive debut by smothering Tom Cahalan of Fordham, 6-1, 6-0.

Udo Zaenglein of Wurzburg, Germany, also was eliminated. He was defeated in the second round by Cutler in love sets. The German was too erratic for the New York player, who is at his best on the familiar courts of the Seventh Regiment armory where the tournament is being played.

Coggeshall Beats Little.

Coggeshall reached the third round easily by defeating Robert D. Little of Tuscaloosa, Ala., 6-2, 6-1.

Bob Considine, Washington youth who shares the national public parks indoor doubles title, stayed in the running and next encounters Rockafellow, former Colgate star. The Washington boy's second round victim was Giles Verstraten, New York youngster, who was beaten at 6-2, 7-5.

Hack Wilson Gets Raise; Signs with Cubs for Year

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Lewis Robert [Hack] Wilson, pugnacious center fielder of the Chicago Cubs, came to terms for the 1930 season with William L. Veeck, club president, tonight. Mr. Veeck declined to say at what figure Wilson had signed but it was generally expected that he received a substantial increase over the salary he was paid last year. Wilson's new contract was for one year.

Referee—Freezle [Indianapolis]. Umpire—Schommer [Chicago].

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 3.—[Special.]—Ohio State wilted away here tonight as Stretch Murphy's effective arms accounted for 28 points to break his own conference modern scoring record of 26 set last year against Chicago. Thet Boilermakers romped to victory, 60 to 14, to chalk up their third consecutive league victory.

Murphy, working in combination with Glen Harmeson and Johnny Wooden, was a puzzle to the Buckeye defense from the start of the battle, and his effectiveness as a field goal shooter is testified to by the fact that he sank 13 out of 26 attempts for the basket.

Ohio offered fairly stiff resistance for the first five minutes of the game and then wilted like a morning glory in the afternoon as the Wooden-Murphy scoring combination started to click.

Purdue Leads at Half, 32-12.

Murphy sank six field goals and one free throw in the initial half, while Wooden tied him for high point honors in the same period with five field goals and three successful tosses from the penalty line. By the time the half ended, Purdue was away in the lead, 32 to 12, and the minute the final half started the scoring continued at practically the same gait.

Ohio was fairly bewildered by the speed and precision of Purdue's passing and dribbling in the second half, and was held to two points on a field goal by Hinchman, while Purdue was adding 28 to its total.

Crowd Yells for More.

It was Murphy's night and when he sank the field goal that broke his individual game scoring record by two points with a total of 28, the crowd roared for more.

But while the crowd was roaring for Murphy, speedy Johnny Wooden, who scored 17 points on his own account, and Glen Harmeson, whose floor work and work on the tipoff made many of the scores possible, came in for their own share of acclaim.

LOOKING INTO RECORDS

Stretch Murphy's total of 28 points in Purdue's defeat of Ohio State last night began the unearthing of Western conference scoring records which nearly have been forgotten. Inasmuch as scoring marks should date back only six years, to the season of 1923-'24, the first year in which each player was obliged to shoot his own free throws, Murphy's total breaks the record.

But Murphy's 13 baskets in a game only ties a mark made 17 years ago, according to the record books. Otto Stangl, left forward of Wisconsin, scored 13 goals from the field on Jan. 5, 1912. He added four free throws for a total of 30 points, but not on feuls made against him. Wisconsin defeated Iowa, 38 to 12, in that game.

Also Set Season Record.

Stangl also holds the season's record for field goals, having scored 64 in 12 games in that same year. While Murphy has a chance to break this record—he has scored 21 field goals in three games—Purdue's schedule is only ten games this season. Murphy set a new modern scoring record last year with 49 field goals and 45 free throws (according to Purdue records, one more basket, according to record books). In the season of 1922-'23, the last of the "star foul shooter," Chuck Carney of Illinois scored 48 field goals and 77 foul tosses for a total of 173 points.

Last year Murphy's scoring streaks both came against Chicago. In the first game, he caged 12 baskets and a free throw. George Levis of Wisconsin usually is given credit for having made 12 baskets against Iowa on Feb. 28, 1916, which was supposed to be the second high record in the conference. But newspapers of that date credit him with only eleven. In the other Chicago game last year, Murphy set up a new modern scoring record with 26 points, eight field goals, and ten free throws.

Neither was Ohio's 60 to 14 defeat a Big Ten record, for twice before have teams run up larger scores against Western conference opponents. The record was set 28 years ago in 1902 when Purdue defeated Indiana, 71 to 25, while last year Purdue ran away from Chicago, 64 to 16.

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—In a program given over to a cheaper grade of horses, J. Howard's Maiden Tryst today won her first race of the Miami meeting in the five and one-half furlong sprint called the Semitole claiming purse.

The Okeh and Maiden Tryst came down to the wire fighting it out stride for stride. The Howard 4 year old just managed to stick his head in front. Germaine Chauvelot was third, beaten by five lengths.

M. Deatherage's Ormonheart finally won a race, the Burnside purse at the Fair Grounds, beating Leyland by a nose, with Klingstone a head back. Klingstone was the heavily backed favorite, while Ormonheart paid $69.50 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

lost his fight in New York after he apparently had it won in two rounds. He became careless and was stung by a right cross. He never recovered from the punch and the decision went to his opponent.

Alberts Has Improved.

Harry Alberts, a good featherweight who was defeated in the semi-final round last year, is another Barry entrant who should go a long way in the division. Harry was considered as an alternate in his class last year when the final makeup of the Chicago team was determined. At the last minute it was decided to take only the fighters who had qualified to New York. Alberts is a greatly improved fighter and it will take a good boxer to beat him.

"I feel that I have a chance to win the team trophy," Barry said. "I am sure some of my boys will win in their classes. They are receiving daily instructions from prominent fighters."

Robert J. Little, president of the Opal A. A., has nominated 12 fighters for the trials. John Sawicz will be the club's representative in the heavyweight division. He is a strong infighter. He weighs 198 pounds. James Toman and William Uriaub will compete in the 160 pound trials and George Iribacker, John Straka and Walter Karess in the welterweight division.

First Sectional Feb. 11.

Entries for the first sectional trials to be held at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium on Feb. 11 close today at midnight. Competition in these preliminaries is limited to boxers living between 22d street and North avenue and from the lake to the western boundary of Cook county. Entries mailed today and received tomorrow will be accepted. No post nominations will be considered.

REPORT GOPHER OFFICIALS HERE TO SEEK COACH

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Two representatives of the University of Minnesota today were reported to be in Chicago consulting with prospective successors to Dr. Clarence W. Spears as head football coach at the University of Minnesota.

William T. Middlebrook, controller at the university, was in Chicago "on business." He is one of the committee of four selected to find a coach to replace Dr. Spears, who resigned to go to the University of Oregon.

Another member of the committee, Ernest B. Pierce, also was out of town and was believed to be with Mr. Middlebrook. One report on the campus was to the effect that they had gone to Chicago to confer with Bernie Sherman of Tulane university, one of the leading candidates for Spears' job.

don't let the bogey man bother you

We haven't any patience with the insidious propaganda about "spit-tipped" cigars. Nor need you have . . . All modern, popular-priced cigars—like modern cigarettes—are made by scientific machinery, in clean and sanitary factories . . . The old way of sealing cigars by human saliva has not been used by reputable cigar manufacturers for twenty years . . . So you may choose any one of many good 5¢ cigars and get a clean, pure smoke . . . But may we suggest that you try ROCKY FORD? It's a mighty good cigar.

Rocky Ford

ROCKY FORD is as clean as a modern loaf of baker's bread. It is made in a sunlight factory . . . the pride and show place of Richmond, Virginia. Sanitary machines cut and roll the long domestic filler . . . and place and seal the fine imported Sumatra wrapper. Sanitary machines even fold ROCKY FORD in its humidor-foil.

HAWKS RETURN FROM ROAD TRIP; PLAY THURSDAY

Montreal Maroons Next Foe at Stadium.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Tired but happy because they still are tied for second place after the most strenuous road trip any major league hockey club will be called upon to make this year, the Blackhawks returned home yesterday. Their 4 to 1 victory over Detroit Sunday night returned them to a tie with the Rangers for second place and practically clinched a playoff place for the Hawks.

Detroit is the only club which might edge the Hawks out of their first appearance in the playoffs since the season of 1926-'27, the first year Chicago had a major league hockey team. Both Detroit and the Hawks have 14 games to play, but the Chicagoans have an edge in games at home and the teams to be played.

Nine Games at Home.

Of its remaining 14 games, the Hawks will play nine on their ice, while Detroit plays eight of its games at home. In the teams still on the schedule the Hawks also have an edge, as slight as the one more game at home, but still an advantage.

The Cougars are almost certain to lose five of their remaining games, so the Hawks would need to win five to be sure of a playoff berth, which they should do. They won three and lost four on this last trip.

Among the other results of the games Sunday night was a new all-time team scoring record for the Boston Bruins. The three goals scored by the Stanley cup holders in their tie with the New York Rangers, the first tie Boston has played in 30 games, the Bruins pushed their total goals for the season up to 117. This breaks the former record of 116 set by Les Canadiens in 1927-'28.

The increase in scoring is due, of course, to the changes in the rules, for at least eight of the ten teams in the league seem headed for a total of more than the old record.

Hawks' Record to Fall.

Another record, the only one held by the Blackhawks, also is due to fall within a couple of weeks. That record is the one of having the most goals scored by opponents, which was unwillingly set by the Blackhawks of 1927-'28, when 134 goals were scored against them in 44 games. Pittsburgh, with 118 goals scored against them in 28 games, and the New York Americans, with 110 goals scored on them in 30 games, are pretty certain to exceed the record the Hawks don't like.

After a three day rest the Blackhawks again will make their appearance before home town fans at the Stadium against the Montreal Maroons, Thursday night. In two previous engagements, the Hawks have turned back the leaders of the Canadian division. The score was alike in each game, 4 to 3, and the Maroons, who rely more on power than speed or cleverness, will be out for revenge.

After that game the Hawks will have a ten day rest before their next contest, against Les Canadiens, Feb. 16, inasmuch as the six day bicycle race will occupy the Stadium and games with the Americans and Boston scheduled in that time were postponed. It won't be an entire layoff for the Hawks, however, as the team will be taken to Minneapolis for ten days of practice where ice isn't as difficult to find as it is in Chicago.

Sammy Baker Defeats Trippe in Ten Rounds

Criss Arrives Today; Fights Trafton Friday

Battling Criss, the fellow who might have succumbed before the onslaught of the Great Art Shires if somebody hadn't been careless about tossing groundless charges of prearrangement, will be brought into Chicago this morning. But there will be no bands to greet him; despite the fame that came his way as the result of being linked with the activities of the widely publicized Shires, Criss is coming here merely for the purpose of fighting George Trafton of football fame.

This bout is billed by the press agents as the "special feature attraction" of Friday night's Coliseum show, headed by two ten round arguments between Harry Ebbets and Clyde Chastain, and Joey Medill and Spug Myers.

With the arrival of Criss all of the participants of Jack Dempsey's show will be on the ground and at work in local gymnasiums. Harry Ebbets arrived yesterday. Chastain, his opponent, stepped a half dozen rounds yesterday with Danny Gasparo and Jimmy Owens.

St. Goddard Takes First Lap of Ottawa Dog Derby

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 3.—Driving his team of wiry cross-breeds over the 30 mile course in two hours and 7 minutes, Emile St. Goddard of the Pas, Man., today won the first stage of the Ottawa international dog derby. He had an advantage at the finish of nine minutes and 45 seconds over Leonard Seppala of Nome, Alaska, who was second.

30 HIGH SCHOOLS ENTER SWIMMERS AT LAKE SHORE

A field of more than 200 swimmers, representing thirty high schools, will compete in the third annual Cook county public high school relay carnival Friday and Saturday at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Five senior and four junior events are on the program.

No team championship will be awarded, but swimmers from Schurz, Crane, and Maine are favored to annex the major share of honors. Schurz bases its hopes on Art Highland, one of the best prep swimmers developed in Chicago. He probably will swim in the anchor position for Schurz in at least two events. Robert Kerber will be the backbone of the Maine team, while Harold Polovan will lead Crane.

Quail Pointer Makes Good on His First Job

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, Ga., Feb. 3.—To disturb a group of aristocratic bob whites when they are at lunch is not a very polite thing to do. But yesterday when Fanny, a wise old pointer, and Spot, a black and white setter just learning his hunting stuff, struck the trail of a covey of bob whites in a peanut field there was no stopping them.

It was Spot's big thrill and he didn't fail.

This promising puppy, less than a year old, came down on the luncheon party like a whirlwind. He snapped into a stylish point, brush out, head high, body rigid and there he stood when he topped the hill which last year had been planted to peanuts.

Covey Sails Away.

Sizing up the layout, especially the sparse cover—which gave the covey almost nothing to hide in, we told G. F. Alford Jr. of Albany, our shooting partner, that if the quail sat tight and let us get close it would be a lucky break. With so little cover we doubted that they would stand for our walking up. Even as this remark was made the covey flushed ahead of us and sailed away down the hill. We saw the birds drop into a narrow strip of pine timber at the bottom of the slope, so on we went for at least one volley.

Spot, the puppy, was so excited and elated by his find that he was no good to us on the pick up of this bunch of birds. He galloped around, tail wagging on all six as if to say: "How's that for finding 'em, eh? Why don't you give the little boy a hand. You know he's just a beginner at this game."

Down One in Field.

But we didn't need the pup. We walked straight to the covey in the timber with Fanny in front and they were just where they should have been. When we all but stepped on 'em, up they came with a disconcerting roar of wings.

Three veered to the left and two got behind some brush so we swung on the third and downed him in the field beyond. Then up came another wave of birds and we managed to drop another. Reaching for more shells for our 16 gauge double, it appeared as if the whirlwind were over but how three of that covey did fool us! This trio pulled another "delayed pass" and, rising when we were unloaded, they sailed into the woods to safety. The disturbed luncheon party in the peanut field was over for the day.

ITCHY SCALP
. . . a forerunner of baldness

You, too, can have a good head of hair

AN itching scalp means that the baldness producing germ is at work—gradually and painlessly leading you to complete hair-loss. You must rid your scalp of this germ to prevent baldness and re-grow the hair which you have already lost.

To insure the complete extermination of this baldness producing germ within the shortest possible time, consult The Thomas', World's Leading Hair and Scalp Specialists. Do not gamble with general cure-all remedies which merely dissolve surface dandruff and spread the germs over a wider surface.

The 15-year proved Thomas' treatment goes to the source of your own specific trouble. It is the most perfect method known to modern science for stopping falling hair, eliminating the baldness producing germ and dandruff, and growing hair on the thin and bald spots.

You, too, can have a good head of hair. Call at the nearest Thomas' office today for a free scalp examination, and learn what this reliable treatment is doing for others and what it can do for you.

LINDHEIMER AND ASSOCIATES BUY 2 SKYSCRAPERS

Acquire Lake-Michigan and State-Lake.

BY AL CHASE.

Benjamin F. Lindheimer and interests identified with him have secured control of two downtown skyscrapers, the State-Lake building and the Lake-Michigan building, through purchase of control of the capital stock in the State-Lake Building corporation and the Michigan-Lake Building corporation, from interests represented by Lawrence Stern & Co.

The State-Lake building, at the southwest corner of State and Lake, stands on a 180x160 site and is twelve stories high. It contains the State-Lake vaudeville theater, and the balance of the building contains offices. The State-Lake Building corporation owns a ninety-nine year lease on the property.

Corporation Owns Fee.

The Lake-Michigan building at the southwest corner of Lake and Michigan, is a twenty-two story structure. The Michigan-Lake Building corporation owns the land and building. The site fronts ninety-five feet on the boulevard and 129 feet on Lake street.

Mr. Lindheimer and associates already owned the new twenty-three story Franklin-Jackson building at 309 West Jackson boulevard, the Maryland Theater building at 63d and Maryland, the building at the northwest corner of South Shore drive and East 71st street, and several others.

A Pair of Leases.

I. Bezark & Sons, Inc., women's wearing apparel, have leased the two story building at 806½ to 808 Davis street, Evanston, from Albert H. Ullrich for ten years from Feb. 1, 1930. The minimum rental is $15,000 a year. The terms of the lease provide for ten per cent of the receipts up to $287,500 a year and seven per cent above that figure. If the volume of sales does not equal $200,000 for twelve months preceding Feb. 1, 1935, or for each subsequent year, the lessor may cancel the lease or the lessees may pay the lessor $20,000 for the year. The Evanston shop will be the sixth in the firm's chain.

The Bezark company also leased the second floor in the building at the southwest corner of Lawrence and Broadway rom Tom Chamales from Oct. 1 1929 to April 30, 1939, the rent to start when the space is delivered. The rental is $8,200 a year. Bezark & Sons already have a store on the ground floor. David H. Brill handled the legal details for the Bezark company.

BALABAN & KATZ LEASE DIVERSEY THEATER; 6 YEARS

Balaban & Katz interests yesterday secured control of the Diversey theater, at the northwest corner of Diversey parkway and North Clark street, through a lease made by the Lubliner & Trinz Theaters, Inc., with the Diversey Building corporation. The Lubliner & Trinz corporation is controlled by Balaban & Katz. Hall, Spitz & Rooks were attorneys for the lessees and William E. Cloyes for the lessor.

The lease is for a six year term at a reported annual rental of $56,000 for the playhouse, which has in the neighborhood of 2,800 seats. The new owners state that they are spending $50,000 in redecorating and refurnishing. They will open the theater next Friday evening, Feb. 7th, with talkies. The playhouse has been rechristened the Century.

Gillette Safety Razor.

F. L. B.: Gillette Safety Razor company figures for 1929 show that for the first time in nineteen years the company failed to increase its earnings over those of the preceding year. The earnings for 1929, however, were satisfactory.

The drop last year was due to the fact that during the last quarter the company's efforts were concentrated largely on changes incidental to bringing out a new model razor and blade.

Net earnings for 1929, after taxes, depreciation and other fixed charges, were $13,620,700, against $16,250,657 in 1928. Such earnings for the first nine months of 1929 were $12,342,513, against $11,165,380 for the like period of 1928.

Production on the new razor model and blade began on Jan. 6, 1930, but maximum production is not looked for before March.

The management reports orders for approximately 30,000,000 new model razors or more than the company's entire production in 1928.

Dividends on the no par common stock are $5 per year. A special 5 per cent stock dividend was paid Dec 2, 1929.

The stock is high grade.

Public Service Electric and Gas.

H. A. N.: Public Service Electric and Gas company was incorporated in New Jersey in 1924 to consolidate Public Service Electric company, Public Service Gas company and the United Electric company of New Jersey. Subsequently other companies were acquired.

The company's $20,000,000 first and refunding mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, dated Feb. 1, 1930, and due Feb. 1, 1970, together with $67,300,000 other bonds issued under this mortgage, are secured by mortgage on all the company's mortgageable property and by pledge of leasehold estates. The value of the property so mortgaged and pledged is estimated at twice the aggregate of the company's funded debt, plus the securities of leased companies to be held by the public upon completion of this financing.

Net earnings in 1929 were $40,178,284. Annual charges on outstanding securities of leased companies and interest on funded debt outstanding with the public, total $8,283,166.

These bonds are a sound investment.

General Baking.

H. M. P.: General Baking company was incorporated in 1911 and acquired the bakery plants, equipment, inventories and business formerly owned by some twenty concerns located in different cities throughout the country. This company is controlled by General Baking corporation, which was formed in 1925 as a holding company and which acquired, among other interests, practically all of the common stock of General Baking company.

General Baking company for the year ended Dec. 28, 1929, reported net income of $7,239,221, equal to $79.75 per share on 90,775 shares of no par preferred stock outstanding.

Dividends on General Baking company no par preferred stock are $8 per year. This stock is high grade.

FINANCIAL NOTES

With the formal offering today by Dillon, Read & Co. of $14,000,000 principal amount of 1,000 year series A participating debentures of the Siemens & Halske A. G. of Germany, the flotation of a loan of approximately $32,500,000 is being undertaken by the company, which is one of the largest electrical equipment organizations in Germany. The debentures are priced at $933 [$400 principal amount], and are entitled to interest at the prevailing dividend rate on the company's common stock. The current yield on the basis of the 14 per cent dividend on the common stock for the 1928-1929 fiscal year is 6 per cent. The most unusual feature of the issue is the term of 1,000 years. The bonds will fall due on Jan. 15, 2930, but they are redeemable, at the option of the holder, on any interest after date seventy-five years, if payment is demanded six months before the date.

Financing for the recently organized Bush Service corporation, established to facilitate and develop transAtlantic trade, is to comprise $5,000,000 in first preferred stock and $3,300,000 in special preference junior stock. Shareholders of the Bush Terminal company and the Bush Terminal building company are to have the privilege of subscribing to the proposed stocks on the basis of one share of Bush service for each ten of the other stocks held.

Offering will be made shortly of an issue of $2,500,000 Chicago North Shore & Milwaukee Railroad company 6 per cent notes, due Jan. 1, 1931, by Halsey, Stuart & Co. The proceeds will be used for refunding purposes.

Offering is made of $1,015,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series of 1928, of the Green Mountain Power corporation, People's Light and Power corporation subsidiary, by a syndicate headed by G. L. Ohstrom & Co. The bonds are priced at 98½ and accrued interest.

Michigan Shares, series "A," a semi-fixed investment trust sponsored by American Industries corporation, Detroit, is being offered. Michigan Shares represents an interest in a diversified group of primarily Michigan companies.

NEW OFFICIALS.

James F. Bell, president of General Mills, Inc., announces the election of P. D. McMillan and H. A. Bullis as directors and Sydney Anderson and G. Cullen Thomas as vice presidents.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Estimate Net Income.

Constructive operations continue in Paramount-Famous-Lasky. It will be recalled that officials placed net income for 1929 at about $15,500,000, equal to $6.34 a share, which is a gain of 78 per cent over 1928. At the same time it was stated that the dividend rate would be increased to $4 annually at the April directors' meeting.

Bullish Argument.

New pool operations are reported in Lambert. The bullish argument in the case of this stock is the dividend yield. Lambert pays $8 annually in dividends. Earnings for the first nine months of last year came within a few cents of being sufficient to cover the full year's requirements at the present rate.

Show More Interest.

More interest is being shown in Chesapeake corporation. Aside from the fillip which completion of the Van Sweringen consolidation plan might well give the stock, there is a possibility of rights on a new stock issue if, as expected, the corporation retires before conversion date its issue of $46,000,000 convertible bonds.

Kroger Grocery.

In spite of its strong position in the chain store field, Kroger Grocery has been finding it extremely difficult to make progress on the up side. It seems that speculators are not adopting a very friendly attitude toward this type of stock. Merchandising issues of all kinds have been feeling the influence of the Montgomery Ward episode, although they are in no way affected by the same developments.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Cotton goods opened quiet and weak in the gray goods division following the cotton decline. Finished goods are moving steadily in moderate volume. Burlaps were quiet, Calcutta observing a holiday. Raw silk held steady. A pending garment strike is holding back sales of fabrics. Sales of overcoatings are being made preceding a formal opening. Rayon sales are barely caring for production.

Receipts at Chicago today, 6,500 cattle; 40,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep.

Hog prices advanced to new high levels for the season yesterday on strong eastern support, the extreme top reaching $10.65, while the general average was boosted 20c at $10.25.

The latter was highest since Sept. 22 and 85c above the low day three weeks ago. All classes shared in the advance, with closing sales highest of the day, when large local packers entered the market for fair sized droves of butchers at the full strength of the trade. Outsiders obtained 18,000 hogs, or more than half of the available fresh receipts after directs had been deducted. Only 5,000 remained at the close.

Cattle Prices Lower.

Cattle prices declined to the lowest point for Monday since last June. With the exception of a few well finished yearlings and steers, bulk of the supply on sale had to be peddled at unevenly lower prices, owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the wholesale market for beef lately.

Eastern demand has been unusually narrow. Several of the larger order buyers have not shipped cattle for several days. Some explain that they have orders from their houses in the east to wait until the market becomes more stable. Losses of 15@25c were general yesterday.

The best available averaged 1,112 lbs and sold at $15.25, while $15.00 was paid for 1,460 lb averages. Additional price cuts of 25c were enforced in the butcher stock market. Calves declined 25@50c. Stockers and feeders were scarce, but concessions were granted in this division also soon after the opening.

Best Lambs Steady.

Quality was lacking in the lamb market yesterday, and a few top notchers brought fully steady prices, while others ruled weak to unevenly lower. Fancy light to packers on shipping account and to city butchers reached $12.75@12.85 in midsession, while bulk of good to choice 80@93 lb averages sold at $11.75@12.25.

Some 107 lb averages reached $11.50, while small lots rejected from load lots ranged downwards to $10.50. A string of 615 Navajo yearlings averaging 89 lbs sold at $10.75. Aged sheep were unchanged. Feeding lambs sold steady, one band of 61 lb averages bringing $11.90.

but hard enough for work

An automobile clutch manufacturer was suffering excessive scrap heap losses because his pressure plates were cracking so frequently after the heat-treatment.

Various steels were tried without success. Finally an Interstate Metallurgist was invited to study the problem.

The steel in its original state had to be soft enough for punching and machining. But an extreme hardness was necessary in the finished plates, according to the manufacturer.

The Interstate expert found his tests proved otherwise. He recommended an alloy steel with a specified heat-treatment . . . and ended the scrap heap losses.

Why not let the same expert steel knowledge and experience work on your problems?

Report Failure of Rye "Corner."

Continuing its downward rush the grain market yesterday, after days of declining prices, took on the aspect of the stock market crash of last fall, with bears running rampant. At the close of the day wheat and corn were at new low levels for the season, while oats and rye, although still above the bottom price for the crop, were falling in sympathy.

Wheat was off 4½ cents a bushel for the day, while corn showed net losses of 1⅜@1½ cents and rye 3¼@3⅜ cents. Oats lost as much as 1 cent, while cotton sold at a loss of $2 for the day or $6 off from the season's high.

While rye was continuing its drop, there came out the story of sixteen easterners who set out to corner the crop and just about succeeded with a reported resultant loss of $6,000,000, said to be growing at the rate of about $7,000 a day as deliveries continue at early season high prices.

Wheat Losses Continue.

The wheat losses continued despite the efforts of the farm board to stabilize prices. Country runs of wheat have been purchased at the farm board's scale of loan values steadily during recent weeks and it is estimated that during the steadily declining futures market, the farm board's co-ops have acquired more than a million bushels in the northwest and southwest.

March wheat sold down to $1.13 yesterday and May, $1.17⅝. The market showed no disposition to rally and closed within a fraction of the bottom with net losses of 4 to 4¾ cents, March being $1.13¼@1.13⅜, and May $1.17⅞@1.18. Winnipeg wheat was off 3¾ to 4¼ cents for the day, while Liverpool lost 2⅛@2½d, equal to 2½@3 cents a bushel. Durham wheat at Duluth showed independent weakness and lost 5¼ to 5½ cents for the day.

Yesterday's announcement from Washington that wheat held back on farms this year was 50,000,000 bu less than on Jan. 1, last year, surprised grain interests. This would indicate about 100,000,000 bushels of wheat on farms which with commercial supplies would make 265,000,000 bushels. Based on a decline of 12 cents within recent weeks, there is an estimated loss of $33,000,000 in crop values to date.

Cite Reasons for Drop.

Various reasons for the decline were offered by members of the Board of Trade, among them being a decided sentiment against American grains in Europe and the dumping of 2,000,000 bu of Russian wheat on the European market.

The plan of eastern operators to corner the rye market has been generally known in the grain trade, it is said. Huge orders for purchase of the grain had been coming in during the fall months originally in Providence, R. I., and westerners who believed in selling rye when the price is good, let

Shrinking Profits Face Raw Materials Producer

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is a striking fact in present day economy that the production of raw materials is becoming a matter of small profits, or of no profits.

The list is long supporting this statement. Among the things that are selling at low levels and consequently wiping out part of the former purchasing power of their producers may be included sugar, coffee, tea, rice, cacao, rubber, copra, wool, wheat, butter, cotton, silk, jute, silver, petroleum, rye, tin and coal.

Brazil's experience with coffee has been noted here before. Artificial control kept prices high enough for many years to encourage more planting both in that country and in other tropical lands. Coffee from Brazil is now selling lower than in either 1921 or 1913. Cuban sugar is selling delivered in New York, before the duty of 1.76 cents a pound, for 2 cents a pound. The Cuban government regards this as so serious that all governmental officials have been required to take cuts in salaries ranging from 10 to 15 per cent.

Rubber at Low Point.

Rubber, mainly a product of the East Indies, sells today below the prewar price. As in Brazil, artificial control in British colonies brought good prices for a time and then the usual increase in acreage and the slump, with a producer's condition worse than ever.

Cotton is selling at prices that are low even in comparison with other agricultural commodities. Wheat futures are selling in the United States below the government's lending rates on cash wheat. Argentina is marketing a meager crop at a low price. Rather strangely, butter has been selling so low in the United States that despite the tariff of 12 cents a pound our butter could have been shipped to London and sold in the world market. This lasted only a day or two, but shows that protection of such goods is difficult.

Crude petroleum prices, according to the National City bank of New York, were lower last year than at any time since 1915. Coal production is in parlous condition all over the world. Tin, stimulated by previous high prices, was overproduced and the producers are now reaping troubles and trying to form some kind of control.

Drop in Silver.

Silver is reported to have sold on Jan. 31 in London and New York at record low prices. Silver is money in China and the 198 million ounces in Shanghai stocks alone represent a huge loss. It is rather strange that China, usually regarded as the home of starvation, has so many busy hens that eggs exported to this country are serious competition for our own egg men.

Raw silk consumption has gone up in recent years, but production in Japan has increased so rapidly that stocks there and in the United States are large and the Japanese price the lowest since 1915. Copper prices remain at a profitable level, mainly because of a centralized control and a policy of sharp cutting in production when stocks become large.

The great new fortunes of this country have been made in furnishing completely fabricated goods ready for consumers. There is more money in baking cakes and crackers than in growing wheat, more in designing and selling dresses than in tending silkworms. It is more than doubtful that artificial aids can change this trend.

Standard Oil (Ind.) Plans $50,000,000 Stock Boost

Stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana will vote on a proposition to increase the capitalization from $450,000,00 to $500,000,000 at the annual meeting to be held at Whiting, Ind., March 6. President Edward G. Seubert announced yesterday.

The new stock will be used for expansion purposes. The increase will bring the total authorized capital stock to 20,000,000 shares of $25 par value. It was not revealed just what acquisitions are contemplated, but it is understood that the company wishes to be in a position to take over desirable property as the opportunity arises.

Stockholders will also be asked to approve another resolution, changing the annual meeting date from the first Thursday in March to the first Thursday in May. It was stated that the company desires sufficient time for the preparation of a consolidated balance sheet of the parent concern and all affiliated firms before the annual meeting. Directors will also be named at the meeting.

Decide Against Change.

The proposal made last October by directors of the Electric Storage Battery company to distribute a stock dividend of 100 per cent has been reconsidered and the directors now recommend that no change be made in the capitalization at the present time. Stockholders were to have voted on the proposition at the annual meeting in April.

At the time the split up was proposed the shares of the Electric Storage Battery company, one of the largest firms of its kind in the world, were selling around 100 on the New York exchange. The stock is now selling around 75.

The Inland Steel company has purchased the Elk Horn Coal corporation's Wheelwright mine in eastern Kentucky and has leased from the Elk Horn company 11,000 acres of coal. The Inland company will improve the plant and equipment, and bring production up to about 1,000,000 tons a year, according to an announcement here yesterday.

Declares Stock Dividend.

A stock dividend of 3 per cent was declared yesterday on the shares of Coty, Inc., in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents, both payable March 31 to owners of record March 14. In lieu of fractional shares, holders will receive scrip. In 1929 the company paid 4 quarterly stock dividends of 1½ per cent each.

The usual quarterly extra dividend of 25 cents a share and the regular quarterly disbursement of a similar amount were announced on the shares of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Directors of the Marmon Motor Car company voted to reduce the annual dividend rate from $4, declaring a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share against $1 previously.

New York, Jan. 3. — Bull traders sweat like truck horses trying to keep the stock market headed toward the highlands today, but it got out of hand in spite of everything and the close found prices pointing irregularly downward everywhere.

Profit taking is the answer. The list has been on the advance for the better part of two weeks now and the temptation to rake off the cream while the raking was good, was too strong to resist. As a result many leaders which had been going along nicely, in

URGES DROPPING CARRIERS' PLAN FOR UNIFICATION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—Recommendations that the plan for unification of railroads presented by the carriers be abandoned in view of the plan for consolidation issued by the interstate commerce commission were made today by Finance Director Mahaffie.

Writing the Baltimore and Ohio, the Chesapeake and Ohio, and the Wabash railroads and the Delaware and Hudson company, Mr. Mahaffie said it was his view that a hearing upon their applications filed prior to issuance of the commission's plan would be useless.

"This application is not complete," he informed each railroad in reference to its plan. "It is not in all respects in accord with the complete plan above referred to."

Before a decision, he added, he would appreciate the views of the carriers.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET PRICES TREND HIGHER

Investment Group Shows Number of Gains.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stocks on the Chicago exchange tapered off a bit toward the close yesterday, but the reaction was not severe enough to wipe away the gains established earlier in the session.

The list as a whole was higher, with the investment group showing a number of good gains. Automotives were weak and moderately lower, while the majority of the active specialties showed improvement over the last week's close.

Continental Chicago and Corporation Securities registered the largest gains in their group, closing up 2½ and 2 points, respectively. Central Illinois improved an even point, while Insull Utility, which had been a leader on the up side in the early trading, reversed itself and finished with fractional loss. National Securities Investment issues made good gains following the publication of a list of the company's holdings.

Fence Issues Advance.

Brown Fence issues were in good demand and were actively higher. The A stock closed with 3 points to its credit and the B issue was up nearly 2. Other strong spots in the specialties were Lincoln Printing, which finished up 2⅝, and Merchants and Manufacturers, which improved an even 3 points. Sangamo Electric and Unit corporation preferred each gained 2½.

Reports by two of the large Insull companies, Commonwealth Edison and Public Service showing increases in earnings for 1929, had little influence on the action of the stocks. The former was quiet and unchanged at 255, while Public Service no par on a few odd lot sales receded a point.

Middle West Utilities reached 30 during the early trading, but failed to keep its gain, and finished unchanged. Associated Telephone Utilities was active and crossed 27 during the session, but dropped below that figure before the close.

Plans Improvements.

The company's subsidiary, Standard Telephone company, will spend approximately $223,000 for betterments and extensions of service during 1930, according to an announcement by the firm yesterday. The Standard company operates in the southwest.

Weakness in the automotive group was general. Bendix and Borg each showed losses of more than a point and the Houdaille Hershey issues dropped about the same degree.

Butler Brothers was active, but showed no improvement. The company yesterday announced that leases for four Scott stores have been closed. The new units will be located in Middlesboro, Ky.; Superior, Wis.; Columbus, O., and Aberdeen, S. D.

Chicago Curb Market Stocks

A generally bullish session that saw several issues reach new high price levels for the year finished with practically the entire Chicago curb list in higher ground yesterday. Arkansas Natural Gas A stock and common were prominent in the advancing group in gains of a point or more and Walgreen added a point on news that the net income for 1929 will run over $3,000,000.

WOOL.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—At the wool auction sales today 10,284 bales were offered, of which 8,000 were sold. A large selection of superior grades was offered and competition was spirited. Prices were generally firmer, greasy crossbreds being most active and were purchased by home and continental buyers. Withdrawals were fewer.

IRON AND STEEL SCRAP EXPORTS SHOW INCREASE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—An increase of 36,233 tons in exports of iron and steel scrap during 1929 over 1928 was reported today by the department of commerce.

The total of 552,372 gross tons represented the largest item in the iron and steel export trade of the United States in volume, but the value of $7,721,393 was only 3.9 per cent of the export trade in these products.

By virtue of the already extensive and still growing use of scrap in the production of pig iron and crude steel throughout the world, and because the supplies of that commodity are distinctly limited, the department said, the United States has risen to a paramount position in the world's trade in this one time largely waste material.

City of N.Y. Ordered to Pay $20,000,000 Back to Banks

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Feb. 3.—The city of New York must refund to national banks doing business in the city a sum in excess of $20,000,000, representing taxes paid under protest during the four years, 1923-1926, inclusive, according to a decision handed down today by Federal Judge William Bondy. The decision came in a test suit brought by the Public National bank to enjoin the city from the collection of taxes from its shareholders for the year 1926, under the state tax laws

Promptness . . .

Participating Debentures, Series A

ENTITLED TO INTEREST AT SAME RATE AS DIVIDEND RATE ON COMMON STOCK. DIVIDEND FOR 1928-1929 FISCAL YEAR, 14%

Interest, payable annually on April 1, at the same rate per annum (but not less than 6%) on principal amount as the dividend rate declared on the company's common stock for the fiscal year ended September 30 next preceding. Interest accrues from January 15, 1930; interest payable April 1, 1930 for two and one-half months only, based on the dividend of 14% declared on common stock for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1929. The indenture is to contain provisions designed to eliminate from the interest rate, as calculated from the dividend rate, the effect of depreciation of the Reichsmark in terms of gold dollars if such depreciation is in excess of 5% of par of exchange; but in no event shall the interest rate be less than 6% per annum ($24 per debenture).

Series A debentures to be dated January 15, 1930, to become due January 15, 2930; company to covenant to pay principal of any Series A debenture, on any interest payment date after seventy-five years from date of the debentures, at the option of the holder, on at least six months' prior demand. Authorized $30,000,000 principal amount; presently to be outstanding $14,000,000 principal amount. Coupon debentures in denomination of $400, registerable as to principal only. Principal, premium and interest payable in United States gold coin at the principal office of Dillon, Read & Co., New York, without deduction for any taxes, present or future, levied by German governmental authorities. The holders may, at their option, collect principal, premium and interest in London at the office of J. Henry Schröder & Co., in pounds sterling; in Amsterdam at the offices of Mendelssohn & Co. Amsterdam and Nederlandsche Handel-Maatschappij, in guilders; in Basle and Zurich at the offices of Banque Commerciale de Bâle, in Swiss francs; or in Stockholm at the offices of Skandinaviska Kreditaktiebolaget and Stockholms Enskilda Bank, in Swedish kronor; in each case at the buying rate for sight exchange on New York on the date of due presentation for collection.

PROFIT TAKING BLOCKS RISE OF STOCK PRICES

Steel Drops Two Points.

A case in point was United States Steel, which hit a new high around midday only to slide off until the close found it registering a net loss of more than 2 points on the day. New York Central and other old line favorites fared in a similar fashion.

Trading was heavier than at any time this year, the day's total reaching 3,798,430 shares.

Substantial buying came into the market in the early dealings, due, no doubt, to the encouraging action of the list on Saturday, when in spite of persistent realizing sufficient demand had manifested itself to carry the averages into new high ground for the recovery, and for a time it looked like a real bull market was getting under way.

So heavy did the demand become at one juncture, indeed, that the ticker fell a full 20 minutes behind operations on the floor, a phenomenon almost undreamed of since the market fell into its doldrums back in December.

Bring Out Coppers.

In the afternoon the coppers were brought forward and the leaders of the group, Anaconda and Kennecott, et al., bid up vigorously. It was all to little or no avail, however. Selling pressure began to develop as soon as the leaders of any division began to forge out ahead and most of the favorites were swept back from their momentary peaks to the ruck. Losses of 1 to 4 points were numerous among the more active issues of the list at the close of trading.

With month-end disbursements estimated to have totaled somewhere around $450,000,000 having evidently served to take up the slack, temporarily at least, firmer conditions prevailed in the money market. Renewal of carry over loans was arranged at 4½ per cent, compared with Friday's new renewal rate of 4 per cent.

Emerges with Loss.

In the motors section General Motors emerged with a net loss of an even point on the day, with Chrysler back to its Saturday closing level. In the rails, New York Central up at one time some 2 points, wound up with a fractional loss, although Pennsylvania and Allegheny held up a little above the dividing line. Anaconda, bellwether of the red metals group, likewise held a fractional gain, although Kennecott was forced back to the minus side.

Some of the outstanding losers of the day were Allied Chemical, off 5 points; American Telephone and Telegraph, down 2¾; American Waterworks, 2¾; Brooklyn Union Gas, 5½; Case Threshing, 8; Columbian Carbon, 8; International Telephone and Telegraph, 3½; Eastman Kodak, 4⅝; Simmons, 6¾; Standard Gas, 3; Youngstown Sheet and Tube, 6¼, and Western Union, 3½ points.

COTTON MEN SEE HAND OF FARM BOARD IN MOVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 3.—Indications that the powerful hand of the federal farm board is about to be extended to a depressed cotton market were seen today in the announcement that the New York cotton exchange firm of Harriss & Vose is prepared to take over all contracts carried by other members of that exchange for the various state cooperative associations. The announcement, which came after the close of the cotton market here, created a sensation in cotton circles. Cotton men had no doubt, when they learned of the announcement, that Harriss & Vose was acting, directly or indirectly, on behalf of the federal farm board, which has been represented as being concerned over the recent decline in cotton prices. Richard T. Harriss, senior member of that firm, was in Washington today and reported to be conferring with officials of the farm board. William Leslie Harris, another partner, would not make any detailed explanation of the announcement, but made the following statement:

"Up to now, there has been no real coordination between the various state cooperative marketing associations and the federal farm board because of the details incident to the working out of a program. But now the differences, if any existed, have been completely ironed out and this important arm of the government is ready to function."

RAILROAD NOTES

Shipments of the Baldwin Locomotive works last month were four times the value of deliveries in the corresponding month last year, totaling $7,000,000, against $500,000 a year ago.

Missouri Pacific in January handled 32,747 revenue freight cars, against 43,004 in the same 1929 month.

During the period Jan. 1 to Jan. 31 the Chicago and North Western railway handled a total of 146,666 loaded cars of all commodities, excluding ore, as compared with 147,879 loaded cars for the same period last year, a decrease of 1,213 loaded cars.

During the period Jan. 1 to 31, inclusive, cars loaded on the Milwaukee road and received from connections totaled 151,683, compared with 58,797 last year.

GRAIN PRICES KEEP FALLING; HIT NEW LOWS

Report Failure of 'Corner' in Rye Market.

the easterners have theirs at prices ranging upward from $1.15 a bushel.

According to the story the easterners, acting on government statistics which show that the rye crop varies little between forty and forty-five million bushels, proved to themselves that they could corner the crop by buying 20,000,000 bushels. One of the principals in the pool was supposed to be a young man with an inherited fortune of $25,000,000 and a half of a rye crop was no barrier to a man with money like that.

Something Goes Awry.

But apparently something was wrong with the statistics and when rye deliveries started in December the grain overflowed the elevator space and rules were made permitting delivery in cars. The easterners now, according to the story, have nine and a half million bushels in storage, including all the rye there is around Chicago. It was estimated that the elevators cost them $125,000 a month and the ships and other property used for storage, another $100,000.

Corn Weakens with Wheat.

Corn showed considerable resistance to selling pressure early, but weakened with wheat toward the last, with the March selling down to 85⅞c, a new low on the crop, and the deferred futures equaled the inside figures of the season. March closed at 86⅛c and May at 89¾@90c. Trade was mainly of a local character. Country offerings were again light. An estimate that 10 per cent of the southern and central Illinois corn crop would be a dead loss to producers was made by the Illinois Agricultural association recently. Visible supply increased 1,083,000 bu for the week and is 15,215,000 bu, against 26,042,000 bu last year.

Liquidation was on in oats, with March at 43½c and May 44⅞@45c. Houses with northwestern connections were on the selling sales, while buying was on resting orders and by shorts.

Trade in rye was light. March closed at 83⅛c and May at 83¼c. There was some buying of rye against sales of corn on the break.

Jan. Sales of Studebaker Jump 72% Over December

Studebaker corporation sales in January gained 72 per cent over December, 1929, according to a statement by officials yesterday. Total domestic and foreign shipments were within 3 per cent of January last year. Shipments to domestic dealers exceeded January of 1929 and retail deliveries in New York City following the auto show, were greater than for any January in history, it was stated.

Stock Exchange Member Loans Show Jan. Decline

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Stock exchange member loans on securities collateral declined $4,742,208 in January, totaling $3,984,768,065 on the last day of the month. On Jan. 31, 1929, loans to members amounted to $6,735,164,242.

Report Reichsbank May Reduce Discount Today

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A meeting of the managing committee of the Reichsbank has been called for tomorrow. Reports were current that the committee would reduce the bank discount rate from 6½ per cent to 6 per cent.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

There was an absence of foreign demand for cash wheat at the seaboard and no sales of consequence were reported. The Canadian pool failed to offer aboard overnight. At the Gulf the basis on No. 1 hard was quoted ½c lower, with sales at 3½c over Chicago May. Local shipping sales were 37,000c bu wheat, 65,000 bu corn, and 45,000 bu oats.

LARD AND BELLIES HIGHER

Higher prices were made for lard and bellies yesterday with hog prices up 15 to 20 cents in the face of good receipts at Chicago, with light offerings of product and fair commission house buying, which brought a net gain in lard of 17½ to 20 cents while bellies were up 10c, May closing at $13.50. The small increase in lard stocks last month was a factor in inducing shorts to cover.

Liverpool lard was unchanged to 9d higher, with bellies and fat backs 1s lower. Exports of lard for the week were 14,361,000 lbs, against 11,163,000 lbs last year. Of bacon they were 7,307,000 lbs, against 3,869,000 lbs last year. Price follow:

BUTTER MOVEMENT SLOW

Butter future sales were almost double egg transactions on the Chicago Mercantile exchange but losses up to ⅜c or $72 a car, were sustained with the slow reduction of storage stocks the leading bearish factor. Sales were 88 cars and receipts 7,322 tubs.

Egg futures gained ¾c, or $30 a car, on February under the stimulus of a 1c gain in spot prices but trading was quiet because of uncertainty following the arrival of open weather, and the practical elimination of storage supplies as a continuing factor in the market. Sales were 47 cars and receipts 7,388 cases. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A renewal of the declining tendency in the wheat markets which affected all grains has created a lack of confidence amongst the bulls and made the close the lowest of the season. Foreigners apparently are dictating prices to North American holders on wheat, and with uncertainty as to what the farm board is to do the disposition on the part of speculators is to go slow on the buying side, with professionals doing the bulk of the business. A good part of the support comes from buying against bids. Prices are off about 47@50c from the season's high, with good buying of "bids" at the close.

For the first time since the government's entrance into the wheat market there were purchases of one car of No. 1 hard at $1.20, and a car of No. 2 hard at $1.18 at Chicago, Rumsey & Co. selling one car of No. 1. A car of No. 2 hard from Sioux City, Ia., was sold at $1.15½, it being less desirable. A sale of No. 1 northern was made at $1.15¾, or 3½c under May.

Washington sent out a denial yesterday that the department of agriculture had issued a statement predicting that wheat prices were likely to move to a higher level. The report had a strengthening for a time but the bulge failed to hold.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men from the Moss outfit, enemies of old Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds a lovely young girl busy baking pies. She hides him when the Moss gang comes in the house inquiring for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Pete Moss returns and starts making love to Ellen, the girl who protected Jim. She repulses him, and Jim walks in on the scene.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

JIM RIDES TO TOWN.

The black eyes of Moss fastened to Jim's light gray ones. Nobody could have read fear in those savage focal points of defiance, though the owner of them was still in doubt as to whether the man behind the gun meant to kill him. He and his friends had fired at Rutledge a dozen times. They would have shot him down callously if they had caught him. He had no right to expect from Rutledge a better fate.

"And now, Mr. Moss, we'll say goodbye," Rutledge concluded.

Goodby might mean one of several things. Pete Moss still glared silently at the other man, waiting for the definite word about to be spoken.

"I hate to set you down afoot so far from home," the Texan explained, "but I reckon it's got to be thataway."

"What d'you mean?" asked Moss.

"You're taking a walk. It starts right now."

"Where?"

"Suit yourself. North, south, east or west. Anywhere from here."

On a tide of sudden furious anger, Moss flung out his last word, a challenge against the future. "I'll not forget this, fellow."

Jim followed him to the door and sat down on the step. He watched the defeated man go clumping in his highheeled boots across the plain. Moss took the same direction as the other three.

"I reckon it'll be quite a while before he catches them," Jim said with a chuckle.

"He'll never forgive you," Ellen said.

"You can't laugh at a Moss."

"Any more than you can at a wolf."

"Pete's no wolf. He's got a good side to him," she defended.

"The whole Moss tribe are poison to me if you want to know."

"They're vindictive, I admit. I wish——"

"I'm marshal of this man's town," he announced.

"What do you wish?" he asked, after her sentence had died away unfinished.

"That men weren't such . . . beasts." A flood of color swept up the girl's face to the roots of the red hair.

Jim had no answer for that. He stepped inside and picked up the rifle Pete Moss had left.

"Tell him I'll leave this at Wright's store," he said. "I'll keep the horse till they bring back mine."

He moved to the cowpony and appeared to be busy with the stirrups. Presently he turned. He smiled at Ellen, and the smile was warm and friendly.

"Moss is not the only one that won't forget. I'll remember how you did me. If you hadn't they would have collected me sure."

The long lashes dropped over the brown eyes. "That's all right," she said, much embarrassed.

"What I said about Moss don't go with all my enemies. I'll be worried till one of them forgives me," he said.

Her eyes shyly lifted to his. Again excitement set her pulses hammering. Something strange stirred in her heart, an emotion alarming and delightful.

She wrenched her gaze from his, turned, ran into the house, and slammed the door behind her.

Jim swung to the saddle and turned the head of the horse toward town.

Jim crossed the bridge and rode up into a town humming with activity. For this was the end of the long Chisholm trail, the point where the last frontier met and shook hands with the civilization of the Atlantic coast. The meeting place was a turbulent one. It roared with the lusty voice of hardy youth released after months of hardship in the saddle.

Swinging from the back of the horse in front of a billiard hall, Jim noticed a man watching him. The man moved forward.

"Where'd you get that horse, young fellow?" he demanded.

Jim took his time to answer. His gaze swept and appraised the questioner, decided at once that this was some one of importance though perhaps not as consequential as he himself thought. The stranger was an eye-filling spectacle. He stood about six foot two, straight as an Indian, broad of shoulder and lean of loin. Physically he looked a perfect specimen. Long thick hair fell in curls to the black coat and framed a handsome pallid face. If there was any weakness it did not lie in the features but in an expression of smug satisfaction. He looked too sure of himself. Young Rutledge guessed that he was one of the gunmen for which this section was notorious.

"I'll answer that soon as I know where you come in on the question," Jim replied.

The longhaired one flicked back the lapel of his Prince Albert broadcloth coat. A star was pinned to his vest.

"I'm marshal of this man's town," he announced.

"Good enough. I borrowed the horse from Pete Moss."

"Borrowed it? Young fellow, did Pete know you borrowed it?"

"Sure he knew it. He was there."

"And let you have it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Hmp! What might your name be?"

"James Rutledge."

A flicker of surprise and interest animated the cold eyes of the officer. "You're the bird who shot Steve Lawson. I reckon I'll put you under arrest," he said.

"For wounding a rustler in self-defense when I was one against five?" asked Jim, meeting him eye to eye.

"You can tell that to the judge."

A big voice boomed a greeting that was almost a shout. "'Lo, Jim Rutledge! When did you get in, boy? Yore herds come through all right?"

Jim was thankful for the sight of that huge man rolling across the street to shake hands with him. Harrison Pendleton was one of the best known of the Texas trail drivers. He was a bluff hearty oldtimer, one whose word was as good as another man's bond. Everywhere he went he made friends.

"They're on the trail a couple of days back," Jim said. "Yore herds get through in good shape?"

"Two of 'em. I got two more on the trail." Pendleton wrung the boy's hand and turned to the marshal. "Joe, like you to meet a chip of the old block—Chan Rutledge's son Jim. This is Mr. Shear, boy. You've heard of him."

Heard of him? Who hadn't heard of Joe Shear, gunman and killer, whose Colt .45 had twenty-three notches on it? Jim looked at him with wide-open eyes.

"Glad you showed up, Mr. Pendleton," Jim said. "I'm in a little jam, Mr. Shear wants to arrest me for wounding a rustler who was running off cattle of ours they had stampeded."

"I heard about that. One of the Moss gang, wasn't he? I reckon I can fix that with Mr. Shear for you, Jim."

"His story don't hitch with the one I heard, Mr. Pendleton," the marshal said brusquely. "You don't know the facts, do you? Not there personally?"

"No, Joe, but I certainly would have liked to have been there. A fellow don't often get a chance to see a kid hold up five outlaws an' take from the skunks the stock they were rustling."

"We got nothing but his word for that," the officer said.

"His word is good with me, Joe," the cattleman said cheerfully, throwing a huge arm around the shoulder of young Rutledge. "Lemme tell you what I did see him do on the way up from Texas. I was throwin' a herd across the Canadian an' one of my point men got brushed off his horse by a limb of a tree. He swam ashore, but the horse had hopples tied round his neck, an' one of 'em got caught on the limb. All that buckskin could do was swim round 'an round till some one got him loose or till he drowned. Well, Joe, this boy here swum his horse over there an' cut that buckskin loose. How he did it beats me, for the animal was thrashin' around something terrible. But there both ways from the ace, take it from me."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning:

"The Lost Zeppelin!" Intriguing title, isn't it? Starts your imagination working. Too bad that story, direction and, yes, acting don't live up to the title. If they did we should have had a fascinating instead of merely a moderately entertaining picture.

The story? Much on the order of "Conquest" in which Monte Blue and H. B. Warner were co-featured about a year ago. The latter film also told of two south pole explorers who were in love with the same woman, but it had story interest and suspense that is totally lacking in the former.

The acting? As good, possibly, as direction, story, and the lines put in the mouths of the actors permit it to be. The voices of Conway Tearle, Ricardo Cortez, and various other players, including a dog, register satisfactorily, but it must be admitted that Virginia Valli silent is much more to the liking than Virginia Valli speaking. She mouths self-consciously when delivering her lines, which fall from her lips like brass tacks on a tin platter. She is, however, lovely to look at. Synchronization, especially in some of the south pole blizzard scenes, is excellent.

You discover in the first reel that Mrs. Hall, wife of Commander Hall who is about to start forth on a polar exploration expedition, is in love with Tom Armstrong, a member of her husband's crew. At a dinner given in honor of the commander he discovers how matters stand. After that the picture concerns itself with the trip of the airship, the activities of the men on board, and with events that transpire at home while they are gone. The finale will, I believe, please the average fan.

There are some rather thrilling and awfully cold looking polar episodes and the film has a modicum of suspense, but situations dealing with the "triangle" phase are all forced and unconvincing.

The truth is that never for a minute does "The Lost Zeppelin" permit you to forget that it is just a movie.

Senior High School Roll 5,019 Ahead of Last Midyear

Enrollment in the city's senior high schools at the start of the new semester yesterday showed an increase of 5,019 over the attendance a year ago, William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, so declared yesterday. A total of 80,403 senior high school students registered yesterday, compared with 75,384 for February, 1929, and 71,926 for September, 1929. Schurz High school continues to lead the 24 senior high schools with an enrollment of 7,442.

A total of 30,118 students were registered in the 21 junior high schools, an increase of 2,860 over February of last year. In September the attendance was 28,395. The Manley Junior High school reported the largest registration, a total of 2,802 enrolling for the second semester. At the new Burbank Junior High school, which opened for the first time yesterday, 845 pupils enrolled.

Crane Junior college enrolled 3,500 pupils, as compared with 2,738 a year ago. Registration figures in the elementary schools were not compiled yesterday.

Eugene Field's Widow Asks for Return of Missing Manuscripts

Mrs. Julia S. Field, widow of the poet, Eugene Field, is appealing to collectors and dealers in literary manuscripts for assistance in recovering several documents stolen from the collection of the poet, which she kept in her home near Bradley, Wis.

Among the missing papers, which Mrs. Field believes the thief will attempt to market, is the original draft of "The Love Affairs of a Bibliomaniac," the last and most popular of Field's prose work. Another is the written brief of the Dred Scott case, drawn up by the poet's father, Attorney Roswell M. Field of St. Louis, who was counsel for the fugitive slave, Dred Scott, in a Supreme court case, the adverse decision of which hastened the civil war.

A collection of letters written to Eugene Field by his close friend, James Whitcomb Riley, and the manuscript of the poem, "Over the Hills and Far Away," are other items Mrs. Field is seeking to recover. They vanished some time after being transferred three years ago from a Chicago bank vault to Mrs. Field's home.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The account in THE TRIBUNE yesterday of the killing of Joseph Cada, gangster, gave his address as 1921 Scoville avenue, Berwyn. Cada's home was at 1929 Scoville avenue.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Alice Adams, 1204 Vine street, Joliet, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Are you for skirts above the knees, just below the knees, or to the ankles?

The Answers.

Miss Ethel Elmer, Consolidated Employment agency, receptionist.—Just below the knee, for comfort of dress and dignity of appearance. A shorter skirt is a little too loud, and long skirts are a bit passé for a modern woman. The long skirt is of the long ago 1800 period. We are in the twentieth century.

E. C. Sauter, 2511 Leland avenue, buyer.—Between the ankle and the knee would be just right for women in general. There are women who for best appearance might wear them shorter, others had best wear them longer. I don't like them too long, and I certainly do not like them too short.

Mrs. G. W. Rubelt, 4811 Lake Park avenue, housewife.—At the knees; no longer and no shorter. My husband agrees with me in this. That makes it unanimous. But why not be charitable and say that the length depends upon the legs you have. If nature was not kind to them, then cover them. But short skirts for those who can wear them.

Edward Greene, 3705 Osgood street, assistant cashier. — I like the skirts that are just about level with the knees. Women should sign some sort of compact, swear to it, and keep it, to save themselves from the long skirt, with its dust making and dirt gathering train.

Miss Ruth Qualey, 422 Jenning place, home girl.—I like skirts just to the knees. These are more healthful; besides, they are really beautiful. Long skirts are nice for afternoon and evening social affairs, but the short skirts are ideal for business and sports wear.

Daughter Took Hint Seriously, Senator Says

Couzens to Welcome the Elopers on Friday.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—With a bridegroom whom her father never has seen, Margaret Couzens, 19 year old daughter of the Michigan senator, will return from her honeymoon on Friday to a genial family welcome.

For her father, caught as it were in a web of his own weaving, has given his sanction to her elopement and marriage to William Jeffries Chewning Jr., 26 year old bank clerk.

"She took me at my own word," Senator Couzens said with a smile today, "when, many time in the past, I expressed my distaste for the details of big weddings."

The senator confessed, furthermore, that he admired her pluck. He even recalled, with affection and a hint of humor, that once half in jest, while another daughter was planning a wedding, he remarked he might have been as well pleased with an elopement.

The new member of the family will be introduced to hundreds of their friends on Feb. 12, at a dance that Margot—as her friends know her—assisted in planning before she drove to Baltimore and was married.

"She mentioned my dislike for big weddings when she telegraphed," Senator Couzens said. "She telephoned twice from Norfolk, Va., from the hotel to which they drove after the ceremony, and the second time we gave the parental blessing. We asked if she wanted us to go ahead with the party, and she said she did. So we will."

The senator's elder daughter, Madeline, married a young sales engineer of a rubber corporation in their home town, Detroit.

"I never saw the man Margaret married," Senator Couzens said, "because I never was with the young people when she brought him home and introduced him to her mother, and later for tea on a Sunday afternoon."

Reserve Officers' Ass'n to Form a Medical Chapter

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area of the army, has announced a meeting for 7:30 p. m. in the federal building tomorrow night at which a medical chapter of the Reserve Officers' association will be organized.

THE STAGE

THE repertory of the Stratford-upon-Avon company, which is coming to the Garrick theater Feb. 17 for a two weeks' engagement, will include five plays which were not given by these Shakespearean tourists last year. They are "Much Ado About Nothing" (the opening bill), "King Richard II," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Romeo and Juliet," and "Twelfth Night." The four other plays on the schedule, in which the Stratfordians proved their mettle last year, are "Hamlet," "Julius Cæsar," "The Merry Wives of Windsor," and "Macbeth."

All of the names that became familiar to play-goers during the last engagement are to be found in this season's roster. The men of the company, in alphabetical order, are: Gordon Bailey, Jack Bligh, Roy Byford, William Calvert, Oliver Crombie, C. Rivers Gadsby, Ernest Hare, George Hayes, Noel Iliff, R. Eric Lee, Eric Maxon, Wilfred Walter, and Kenneth Wilkinson. And the women: Miriam Adams, Joyce Bland, Fabia Drake, Dorothy Francis, Maud Garth, Mary Holder, and Olive Walter.

Tonight will be red lettered in the domestic lives of the Marx Brothers, now animal cracking at the Grand Opera house. Groucho, the eldest Marx, will celebrate his tenth wedding anniversary. A theatrical wedding that lasts ten years is something to celebrate, and the entire family will assemble for the occasion, bearing gifts of tinware.

In reviewing the history of his tribe on this solemn day, Groucho recalls that there is a fifth Marx brother. He was a part of the sketch in vaudeville years ago, but the fever of the stage did not burn warmly in his veins, and he retired. He now flourishes in New York; his business, ladies' dresses. His name, no longer professionally used, is Gummo.

The Chicago Civic Shakespeare society's company, with Fritz Leiber as its star, opened its tour at the Alvin theater of Pittsburgh last night. Washington, Philadelphia, and Boston are also on the itinerary. The New York engagement will begin March 17. Mr. Leiber is confident that the tour will be profitable; and the box office takings will go into the account which guarantees four more annual seasons of Shakespeare at the Civic theater.

The Goodman theater promises that Philip Barry's comedy, "Holiday," will follow the current run of "The Field God." This play made a favorable impression when staged in New York last season by Arthur Hopkins. Its author is easily remembered for his "Paris Bound."

The dedication of the new "studio" playhouse at the Goodman, where occasional performances will be given before audiences of less than 100 in number, has been an impending event for several weeks, but the date of the première has not yet been announced. "The Fire in the Opera House," by George Kaiser, the German leader of "expressionist" drama, has been in rehearsal for the "studio" stage under the direction of Hubert Osborne.

Herbert Lomas, who plays the Gloucestershire innkeeper of picturesque dialect in "Bird In Hand" at the Harris, is getting ready to celebrate his 750th performance of that rôle. This sounds as if he were a contender for the long distance acting record held by the late Frank Bacon. He has been with the comedy ever since its birth at the Birmingham (England) Repertory theater. A year in London and almost as long in New York are also in his "Bird in Hand" history.

In fact Mr. Lomas seems to be one of the stage's best distance runners. He hasn't missed a single scheduled performance of any of the companies with which he has been associated during twenty-four years on the stage. His last appearances in Chicago require ante-bellum memories, for he was in "Hindle Wakes," back in 1913 or thereabouts, which was liked so well that it played in three different theaters.

"Jenny," with Jane Cowl as its star, will begin an engagement at the Selwyn theater Feb. 24, replacing "June Moon." This play by Edward Sheldon and Margaret Ayer Barnes had a New York engagement earlier in the season.

Perhaps the Society of Midland Authors could strain a point and claim Preston Sturges, who wrote the comedy, "Strictly Dishonorable," coming to the Adelphi next week, as a native son. At any rate they can elect him a nonresident member. He was born here but departed in youth, before success overtook him. His theatrical career started when he got a job as assistant stage manager for a production of "Oedipus Rex" at the Century theater, New York. His play writing began last year with "The Guinea Pig"—a happy omen, that title, for numerous progeny.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The German Grand Opera company made advance promises that it would give a week of unusually good performances when it got to Chicago. Unless it falls off most lamentably from what it has done on the first two items of its series, its promise will be fulfilled and more than fulfilled.

The second took place last night. Promptly at 8 o'clock Ernest Knoch, who looks as much like the pictures of Richard Wagner as though he had posed for them himself, stepped into the pit, took up the baton, and started the orchestra on those 136 measures of chords in E flat which usher in the mightiest series of variations ever composed, which are known as the "Ring des Nibelungen."

"Das Rheingold" is the prelude of the "Ring" series. As it was originally constructed, and as we have always heard it hereabouts, it has always run through its four scenes without intermission, a fact which makes it a bit of a dose even for those for whom Wagner can do no wrong, for those who regard the excision of a single measure as the equivalent of the loss of a spoonful of their hearts' blood.

The German Grand Opera company is more radical, and more merciful, however. We swam through the Rhine scene with the three Rhinemaidens and Alberich, and we went up to the top of the mountain where Wotan started on his game of gigantic bluff with the giants and all the rest of the divine swarm. Then as the music swung into the clanging of anvils which was to bring in Mime and the goldsmithing gnomes at work in Alberich's cave, Mr. Knoch laid down his baton and there was a breath-catching pause for a few moments.

As on the night before, the pace was alert and active. As on the night before, there was a cast that were excellent as individual singers, with not a weakling among them, and that were able to put a glow into Wagner's music. And as on the night before, there was a demonstration that a Wagner opera may be visually illusive. All that is needed is properly made scenery and skillful lighting.

This department recommends attendance at the Auditorium throughout the rest of the week.

That extraordinary person, Harald Kreutzberg, and his almost as extraordinary partner of the dance, Yvonne Georgi, were back at Orchestra hall last night, this time with a program completely to the music of Friedrich Wilckens, their accompanist.

Much has been said about the superb bodily control of this pair, how they fly through the air halfways across the stage, it almost seems, and land in as immobile a pose as though they were statues. This is exciting enough just as a stunt, but it is more interesting to watch how they apply it to their art, the new art that they create and the old art that they burlesque.

They are as modern as a Peter Arno cartoon, and they have as little respect for the convention. "Bad Dreams" is a thing of tatters and shreds and false noses, and is a picture of nightmare horror. Then Miss Georgi does a waltz that is as graceful and curved and delightful as the most perfect exhibition waltz you ever saw. Finally they pull the piano out into the middle of the stage, put a madly checked shirt on Mr. Wilckens, dance about him, bang on the piano above and below him, and end with a whirl of gay parody on the whole art of the dance. But they are originators and accomplishers.

Nippon Prince, Kin of Shoguns Marry in Tokio

TOKIO, Feb. 4.—(AP)—To the spirit of the sun goddess, Amaterasu, divine ancestress of the 124 emperors of Japan and to various other Shinto Gods this morning was announced the marriage of Prince Takamatsu, younger brother of Emperor Hirohito, and Princess Kikuko Tokugawa.

The principal wedding ceremony was performed in the imperial palace before "the place of awe," sanctuary in which is enshrined the sacred mirror, symbol of the sun goddess. Only princes and princesses of the blood, representatives of the emperor and empress, relatives of the bride and court ritualists attended. Bowing before the sanctuary, the prince and his bride quaffed the sacred cups of rice wine.

The wedding joins the oldest reigning house in the world and the once all powerful house of Tokugawa, whose shogunate was established at Yedo, now Tokio, in 1603. Shoguns were the real rulers of the empire during two and a half centuries. The little 18 year old girl who became Princess Takamatsu today is the granddaughter of the fourteenth and last of the shoguns, who handed back the power to the imperial house in 1868.

Prince and Princess Takamatsu will be the first Japanese imperial couple to journey abroad for their honeymoon. In April they are to sail for England, by way of the Suez canal, and in June will make a visit of state at the British court, to return that of Prince Henry, duke of Gloucester, to Japan last May, when the third son of King George V. journeyed to Tokio to invest the emperor with the garter. Thereafter they will travel in Europe and return home across the United States, probably early next year.

Panless Washing of Dishes Preserves Beauty of Hands

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Another of the alibis common to those careless about their hands will soon have to be put away in mothballs. Dishwashing gave a lot of women an excuse for not being able to keep their hands nice, as they would tell it. But, goodness, dishwashing becomes simpler and simpler. Now, the dish cloth that had to be hand held is well under the suspicion of unnecessary evils.

Even the dishpan can run away with the spoon, for all our modern scientists think about it as a necessary utensil. Panless dishwashing is the thing now. And we don't mean doing it in a good natured spirit. You're still entitled to pan the job as uninteresting. But at least you can't say that everything is not being done to help you save your hand beauty.

You use a mop with the end of the handle a respectable distance removed from the running hot water. Your mop is dipped in suds and after the dishes are washed you rinse them with boiling water and leave them to air-dry.

While they are drying you take your hand lotion, which, it is understood, is on the shelf over your kitchen sink and you give your hands a minute or two treatment. I have a theory that if this practice of hand massaging with a hand lotion were more general dishwashing would not be the despised household duty it always has been. It's the grimy, shrunken feeling at the end of the ordinary dishwashing performance that infuriates the sensitive soul rather than the actual cleaning of the dishes. Women who have had their hand lotion bottle handy and have been consistent about using it have not been the loud complainers against the irksome duty.

And speaking of washing hands, the Cleanliness institute has been urging women who handle food to be most conscientious about the habit. Research workers, they claim, have found that 92 per cent of deaths due to communicable diseases are caused by organisms that enter the system through the mouth and nose. A large share of these is conveyed in food or drink, or on dishes handled by persons who are not careful to wash their hands first. Before touching food and always after the toilet, handwashing should be performed with warm water, soap and a hand brush. A dip in cold water is not enough.

Molyneux Is Showing Double Faced Tweeds

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Double-faced tweeds are the latest materials for the southern ensemble. Molyneux, who makes sports and travel clothes for half of the English aristocracy, is showing his collection for Cannes and Monte Carlo, and he is making good use of two-faced tweeds for some of his best daytime ensembles.

Tweed that turns a dark or light face to the world at will is made up into dresses, coats and skirts, that may or may not be reversible. It's no heavier than any of the other new tweeds, which weigh next to nothing at all, and yet it has two distinctly different shades varying according to which side is turned outward. This material is enchanting when it has a Pompeian pink and beige side. Little flecks of the contrasting color show on both surfaces. The Pompeian side is giving to Paris fashions quite a new color and one that will have a future.

The Molyneux ensemble illustrated shows you how two-faced tweeds are handled by this house. The jacket of this ensemble is made of the Pompeian pink side of the tweed. It is unlined and has revers, collar and cuffs of beige jersey with a Pompeian pink lace stripe pattern. The blouse is also made of this striped jersey, and snugly tucked under the belt that marks the normal waistline of the skirt. The jacket can be worn inside out, and when this happens the revers, collar and cuffs appear as the pink side of the tweed.

The skirt of this ensemble has a yoke extending from the high waistline down to a short distance above the knees, and this yoke is fitted without any maybe. A bias band of the material marks the actual hipline. Box plaits are set up on the deep skirt yoke a few inches at the top. The skirt is only three inches below the knees, and all Paris is agreed that this is long enough for runabout clothes either in town or at the southern resort.

There is a small beret of Pompeian pink and beige tricot, which is pinned down at the back to behave like a bonnet.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MARY LOU: GIVING THE FACE an ice rub, after the warm wash up at night is an excellent way to tone up the skin and reduce the pores. A lotion for enlarged pores consists of: Boric acid, one dram, and distilled witch hazel, four ounces.

M. M. W.: THE POSITION IN which you hold your head has much to do with sagging muscles and double chin. When you sit, walk, or stand, hold your head erect. If you read in a reclining position don't let the neck flop down on the chest. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for exercises for a double chin.

BOBBIE D.: SMOKING WILL NOT cause you to put on weight. It is not harmful unless done to excess.

Henry G. Clark Honored by Colleagues, Former Pupils

Henry G. Clark, for 33 years a district superintendent of schools, was honored at a reception attended by more than 500 school officials and former students last night at the Stevens hotel. Mr. Clark retired on pension last week after 35 years of service in schools of the west side. The reception was arranged by a committee of west side school principals, headed by Mrs. Bertha S. Armbruster of the Tilton school and Miss Marguerite O'Brien of the Grant school.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Hothouse Rhubarb.

Hothouse rhubarb is one of the fruits, or fruit things, that is superior in flavor and attractiveness to the product that grows in the sunshine, although the out-of-doors product might contain the "sunshine vitamine." At any rate, we believe the hothouse variety has a tonic value of the same sort as the hot fruit soups which are so much favored in Norway and Sweden.

There are a few paradoxes concerning the cooking of rhubarb, and I have a special one of my own. It can be cooked as quickly as cranberries can be because it contains 85 per cent of water, and because its fiber is so loose and soft. Really, the cooking amounts to little more than heating or boiling the water that is in it. There is never the slightest need of having the old fashioned strong, sloppy, and stringy rhubarb sauce because it is so easy to have something that is delicate, bright and of the shade of the blush rose.

And yet my own daintiest way of cooking rhubarb does require that it be cooked for some time, or until tender.

Wash the stems of hothouse rhubarb thoroughly, wipe them dry and split lengthwise into several long strawlike pieces. Then, cut these long strings crosswise so as to make them into fine dice. Put into a double boiler and cook until tender. Measure the rhubarb before cooking it and when it is tender sweeten it with one-third as much sugar as there was rhubarb before it was put to cook. Always rhubarb is more delicate if sweetened after it is cooked.

This is pretty enough to serve with whipped cream in the handsomest glass dishes you can procure. In planning to serve it with whipped cream, we can use less sugar, that is, only one-fourth as much as when used without it. Cook the rhubarb, add the sugar, cool the whole, mix it with whipped cream and pile it high in glasses. This is a particularly satisfactory dessert when you have roast lamb with new potatoes.

When you wish to get rhubarb dessert in a shorter time, prepare the rhubarb in the same way, add to it a small amount of boiling water, put it over the fire and usually it will be done in five minutes. This can be very good, but not as fine and handsome as when it is cooked in the double boiler. If, for any reason, you wish to cook sugar and rhubarb together directly over the fire, do it in the shortest possible time, because sugar cooks strong and darkens the rhubarb.

Service Club Again Elects Its President

BY THALIA

Changing presidents is apparently not being done among fashionable organizations. Mrs. Albert F. Maddox Jr. was chosen to succeed herself as president of the Service club, according to the announcement made at the annual luncheon and meeting of the club yesterday. Several other officers and directors also were reelected. Mrs. Herbert Kennedy and Mrs. Sangston Hettler again are to be first and second vice presidents, and Mrs. John B. Drake Jr. and Miss Pauline Wolff were reelected treasurer and corresponding secretary.

Miss Jane Warner succeeds Mrs. Stanley Zaring as recording secretary. The advisory committee includes Mrs. Paul Walker and Mrs. Charles Conrad, who have been serving, and Mrs. Pickett Withers, who is a former president. The directors are Miss Roberta Harvey, Miss Katherine Drake, Miss Virjean Richey, Mrs. William Drake, Miss Letitia Channon, Mrs. Zaring, Miss Emily Otis, Miss Eileen McGuire, Miss Jean MacLeish, Mrs. Corson Ellis, Miss Jean Purcell, and Miss Margaret Emily Lynde. Mrs. Lynde is recruited from the ranks of the debutantes to serve, as Miss Winifred Smith is no longer a board member because of her approaching marriage to Alfred McCormack, an easterner.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy May Reay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mason Reay of Highland Park, to James Arthur Younglove, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clute Younglove of Glencoe, will take place on Feb. 15 at Trinity Episcopal church in Highland Park.

The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the Reay residence at 334 Hazel avenue. Mrs. James A. Roberts Jr. will be matron of honor and Miss Irvin Reay maid of honor. Miss Shirley Reay, Miss Jean Adams, Miss Virginian Richey, and Miss Nancy Reay will be bridesmaids. Gilbert Younglove will act as best man for the groom, and the ushers will include Edwin M. Asheraft III., Robert Slater, Robert E. Smith Jr., Gilbert Robinson, and Roslyn Beatty.

The Chicago chapter of the Mount Vernon Seminary Alumni association is to hold a rummage bazaar tomorrow for the benefit of two charities, the Cradle and the Northwestern university settlement. Miss Mary Cunningham is president of the association this year, and Mrs. Laurence De Golyer and Mrs. Rollin W. Keyes are co-chairmen of the bazaar, which is to be held at 620 Church street in Evanston. Mrs. John C. Slade, Mrs. Charles G. Little, Mrs. George Work, Mrs. Frederick William Hawley Jr., and Mrs. Everitt Cook are other active members of the committee.

The Arts club's next tea will be on Friday afternoon to open 3 exhibitions. Paintings by Emile-Othon Friesz and by Norman Jacobsen, and black plastic by Ugo Mochi will be on view.

The American Opera society announces a program next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Casino. Wesley La Violette and assisting artists is to present excerpts from his opera, "Shylock." Mrs. Americus F. Callahan is in charge of the reservations.

The annual meeting of the Friends of Opera is to take place next Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Arts club. Each member may be accompanied by a guest, and there is to be music and tea.

The Chicago Drama league is arranging a production of "Children of the Moon" by Martin Flavin to be presented at the Goodman theater on Monday evening, Feb. 17. Mrs. Harold E. Shipley, Mrs. Carolyn Barr Dillard, Mrs. Hayden B. Harris, Mrs. L. C. Joseph, Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp, and Mrs. Albert E. Shutz are in charge. The cast has been selected from various of the entrants in the Drama league's play tournament last spring. Mrs. Helen Walton, who was awarded the individual prize for diction and performance in the tournament, is playing one of the leading rôles.

The Lake Forest Garden club is planning to be represented at the Central States Garden and Flower show at the Stadium beginning April 5 by a garden to occupy the center of the arena. A fountain and many varieties of blooming plants and shrubbery, some of them already being raised in greenhouses on north shore estates, will compose the exhibit.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, in charge of the arrangements for the Lake Forest club and chairman of the advisory board for the show, is to hold a meeting on Feb. 19 to make final plans. Mrs. Brewster is now in New York City, and expects to bring back some new and interesting ideas for the show. Almost 80 garden clubs are preparing to compete in the show.

Baroness Annika Mannerheim of Stockholm, Sweden, leaves here for California today after spending the week-end as the guest of Miss Carol and Miss Emeline Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bush. Mrs. Bush and her daughters visited the Mannerheim estate in Sweden last summer when they were in Europe. They gave a luncheon for her yesterday, and took her to the theater last night. She will stop with them again on her return east. Miss Carol leaves this week for the east to attend a debutante dance Miss Emily Freylingheusen is to give at Sherry's in New York City on Saturday evening. Miss Freylingheusen was here last fall for the Bush debut party.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shippen Jenks of 10 East Schiller street are to leave on Friday for Pasadena, Cal., to spend the late winter and spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Hill have moved from 210 East Pearson to another apartment at 21 East Elm street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Windsor Jr. of Winnetka have gone to Florida to remain until April or May.

MARRIED

MRS. WILLIAM F. BAKER.
[De Haven Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. John George Croker of 7801 Ridgeland avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Doris Elizabeth, to William Francis Baker. Mrs. Baker was graduated in 1927 from the University of Illinois. Mr. Baker is attending De Paul university law school and is a member of Delta Theta Phi.

Society at Palm Beach

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 3.—The Society of Arts opened its fifth season here tonight with its presentation of the Minneapolis symphony orchestra at the Paramount theater.

Mrs. George Rasmussen, one of the box holders for one concert, entertained at a small dinner party at her home on South Ocean boulevard before taking her guests to hear the symphony. Her guests included her sister, Mrs. Jacob Baur; Mrs. C. Harrington Chadwick, and Robert and George S. Rasmussen. Others who gave box parties included Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Thompson arrived in Palm Beach today. They will remain for the rest of the season at the Everglades club. Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott Warner are other Chicagoans who have just arrived at the club. Mr. and Mrs. William G. Thayer of Southboro, Mass., are house guests of Mrs. George A. McKinlock.

Mrs. Harry Shearson is to arrive Feb. 14 to be Mrs. McKinlock's guest for the rest of the month.

Edward S. Beck, managing editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and his sister, Mrs. John Myers of Kansas City, arrived at White Hall this morning. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Don Maxwell of Chicago.

Methodists in Sessions Here to Increase Brotherhood Work

The national men's work commission of the Methodist Episcopal church met in an all day session yesterday at the Hamilton club, 20 South Dearborn, and laid plans for the national activities. A budget of $43,000 was adopted to carry on a development program which will organize men's brotherhoods in every unit of the church. The commission's work is only four years old.

The officers elected by the commission are: Edgar T. Welch, Westfield, N. Y., president; Branch Rickey, St. Louis, Mo., vice president; Lupton Patten, Chattanooga, Tenn., secretary; Bishop Thomas Nicholson, Detroit, counselor. The brotherhood work has seven divisions of work: Evangelism, boys' work, stewardship, lay speaking, community service, Bible class, world peace, and race relations.

A banquet was held last night in honor of Federal Judge W. M. Sparks, formerly of Rushville, Ind., and past president of the Connorsville, Ind., district brotherhood commission. Bishop Edgar Blake, Indianapolis; Branch Rickey, baseball manager of St. Louis; and Judge Sparks made addresses at the banquet.

The commission meeting precedes the opening today of the annual meeting of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church, 740 Rush street. The meetings will continue through Thursday.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—Vice President Curtis was the guest of honor at a dinner given tonight at the Mayflower by Senator and Mrs. Henry J. Allen of Kansas. Other guests were the Kansas delegation in congress.

The secretary of the interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur returned to their apartment today after a trip to their home state, California.

The secretary of commerce and Mrs. Robert P. Lamont of Chicago presented their daughter, Gertrude, to Washington society this afternoon at a tea in their new home, 2125 Kalorama road. Mrs. Lamont was assisted by her secretary, Mrs. Edith Sanger Carlisle. The debutantes assisting at the tea table were Miss Betty Thorpe, Miss Edith Eustis, granddaughter of the late Levi P. Morton, who was a vice president of the United States; Miss Winifred West, and Miss Kate Carlisle. Miss Lamont wore a frock of creamy lace, made with a long skirt, longer in the back than in front.

Secretary and Mrs. Lamont will give a dinner dance for Miss Lamont at the Montgomery club next Saturday evening.

Mrs. Robert Lansing, widow of the former secretary of state, went to New York today to visit Mrs. John W. Davis, wife of the former ambassador to the court of St. James.

College Head Talks Friday Before Oak Park Parents

D. J. COWLING.

Donald J. Cowling, president of Carleton college, Northfield, Minnesota, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Oak Park High school on Friday evening, Feb. 7, in the school auditorium. His subject will be "What Is College For?" William Slingluff is president of the Parent-Teacher association. That association is especially interested in college problems, not only because of the large number of graduates of Oak Park who go to college annually, but because it provides several scholarships each year.

Theaters Are Urged to Adopt Devices So Deaf May Hear

A plea for churches and theaters to install permanent hearing devices for the use of the hard of hearing, was made yesterday by Mrs. Louis Pelton, chairman of a Chicago Woman's Aid committee.

"Church attendance is practically out of the question for the partly deaf," Mrs. Pelton declared. "Millions are spent on magnificent costumes, exquisite lighting effects and scenery for the use of famous actors and screen artists, but some of my friends cannot hear them. And now since the talkies have become universal they are denied that form of entertainment."

COLLEGIANS END STRIKE IN SPAIN UNDER NEW BOSS

Duke of Alba Soothes Angry Youths.

MADRID, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Students of the National university, who have been on strike for the last two weeks as an outgrowth of a controversy with the now ended dictatorship of Primo de Rivera, went back to their studies today.

The students at the medical and other colleges were jubilant but there were no disturbances. Barcelona university will resume sessions on Tuesday and other Spanish universities today or tomorrow.

Duke of Alba Ends Strike.

As soon as the government of Gen. Berenguer went into office after the resignation of Gen. Primo de Rivera, the duke of Alba, newly appointed minister of education and a popular figure with the students, began a policy of conciliation and quickly settled the strike. The students won on all of the important points regarding student organizations, concerning which they had quarreled with Primo.

Gen. Berenguer planned to confer with King Alfonso during the day and his policy will be to keep in close touch with the king daily.

Julio Wais was appointed minister of commerce in the Berenguer cabinet today. Both he and the new minister of labor, Pedro Sangro y de Orloano, took the oath of office this morning.

Primo Evades Pistol Duel.

Primo de Rivera, who was challenged to a duel, has offered his explanations to the duke of Almodovar and thus evaded necessity of settling an affair of honor with pistols.

Five years ago, in the first days of his dictatorship, Gen. Primo de Rivera made particularly violent statements in criticism of ministers of the cabinet preceding his. One of those assailed was the duke of Almodovar, former minister of the interior, who was termed a "weak and inept man."

The duke sent Primo a letter, demanding explanations or reparations by arms on the field of honor. Primo replied that while he was in power he would not undertake anything of this sort, but would leave the solution until such a time as he had abandoned his post. Twenty-four hours had not elapsed after Primo's fall when the duke again challenged him to a duel.

Pardons Spanish Author.

HENDAYE, France, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Miguel de Unamuno, celebrated Spanish author, who has lived in exile here since his expatriation under the De Rivera dictatorship, has been pardoned by the new Berenguer government. He will return to Spain in a few days and take up his work again at the University of Salamanca.

Senor Unamuno refused to comment on the personal amnesty granted to him. His pardon is one of the important measures of Premier Berenguer for calming the student discontent, which has caused strikes and widespread agitation in the universities.

Elmer Praises Radio Concert by Orchestra

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

"The Concert," a program broadcast by the symphony orchestra of W-G-N from 9 to 9:30 o'clock last night, was one of the most important radio offerings of the evening.

Particularly enjoyable in "The Concert" was the playing of one movement of a Mozart concerto for clarinet, with Gustave Kissel taking the solo part. Instrumental solos are always effective over radio; the clarinet has a pleasing tonal character all its own, and this particular Mozart A major concerto movement, with its intricately patterned melody makes for a combination that is most attractive.

Furthermore, Conductor Gaston du Moulin and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra deserved great credit for the handling of an intermezzo by Grenados. The sections of a Coleridge-Taylor suite also were charming.

Giuseppe de Luca, Metropolitan baritone, was the soloist on the Family Party orchestral program from New York through W-G-N from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. He sang a goodly number of songs and arias, of which the piece de resistance was the Rossini "Largo al Factotum," which he gave in enviable fashion. One of the orchestra's selections was Berlioz's "Rakoczky" march; if you can hum the melody of this zig-zaggy march you have a good ear for intervals.

The Rochester Civic orchestra program, through KYW, from 9 to 9:30 o'clock, contained no outstanding selections, yet it was a good, solid concert.

Drags Woman to Vestibule, Gets Clawing and Flees

Police of the Damen avenue district were coaching early this morning for a young man in a dark overcoat and light gray hat, nursing a painfully clawed right cheek. Mrs. Cora Miller, 28 years old, 2148 Belle Plaine avenue, reported a youth of that description dragged her into a vestibule in Belle Plaine avenue, near Lincoln, as she was returning home from a movie. She left her finger marks on him, Mrs. Miller said.

TRY 3 CULTISTS FOR MURDER OF POLICE RAIDER

Followers of the American Moorish Negro cult appeared in the courtroom of Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court yesterday to follow the murder trial of three members of the cult, who are charged with the killing of Policemen Jesse Hults and William Gallagher in a gun battle last Sept. 25. Extra policemen were on duty to prevent disorder.

The defendants on trial are Ira Johnson Bey [bey being a title assumed by leaders of the cult], Mose Jackson, and Eugene Jackson. Two other defendants were granted separate trials. The state is asking for the death penalty for the trio now on trial. Eight jurors were chosen at the session yesterday.

The shooting occurred when the police raided the cult headquarters after Kirkman Bey, former leader, had been kidnaped.

On Parole, Steals Quart of Whisky; Faces 18 Years

Harry Gibbons, 37 years old, a paroled convict, last night faced the possibility of having to serve eighteen years more for the theft of a quart bottle of whisky. Gibbons was convicted of burglary six years ago after he had broken into a south side building and stolen the liquor and was sentenced to one to twenty years. He was paroled at the end of the year, but violated the parole by leaving the state without permission. Gibbons was captured in Kansas City and returned to Chicago last night. Because of the parole violation he may be required to serve his full term.

Ex-Husband Ordered to Pay $460 Back Alimony

Mrs. Grace Diedrich, 7550 Coles avenue, yesterday caused her former husband, Edward Diedrich, proprietor of a gasoline station at 60th street and Cottage Grove avenue, to be cited for contempt of court before Superior Judge Sabath for failure to meet alimony payments. She testified that he owes her $460. They were divorced on Dec. 5, 1926, when she secured an order for weekly payments of $27, her attorney, Harold Levy, said. The judge gave Diedrich a week to meet the arrears.

LARKIN, CANADA ENVOY AND TEA KING, DIES AT 74

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Peter Charles Larkin, high commissioner for Canade in Great Britain, died in his sleep at his home in Lancaster gate, London, today at the age of 74, from heart failure. He had been ailing ever since his return from The Hague conference. It is reported that his successor is likely to be Senator MacDougall of Montreal. Mr. Larkin was born in Montreal. He leaves a widow and a son and daughter.

Mr. Larkin was known as the tea king, being the originator of the sale of tea in sealed packages. His income was reputed to be $650,000 yearly, and it is stated he was the most heavily insured man in Canada.

One of his chief achievements of the post he had held since 1922 was causing the removal of the 28 year old embargo on Canadian cattle entering England "on the hoof" due to the fear of infectious disease. He also arranged the war debt settlement by which Great Britain was persuaded to pay Canada $125,000,000 in Canadian dollars instead of par sterling, which resulted in placing Canadian dollars almost on an equality with the American dollar.

MANSFIELD-JONES FUNERAL SERVICE TO BE TOMORROW

Funeral services for E. Mansfield-Jones, 55 years old, comptroller of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the residence at 519 Sheridan road, Winnetka, with burial at Graceland cemetery. Mr. Mansfield-Jones died on Sunday night at the Chicago Memorial hospital after a brief illness of heart disease.

He was born in London and came to Chicago in 1894. He began his banking career with the American Trust and Savings bank in 1900. Mr. Mansfield-Jones is survived by his widow; one son, Greayer Mansfield-Jones, and one daughter, Mrs. Samuel H. Bingham Jr. He was a member of the Illinois Athletic club and the Illinois Golf club.

MAX HIRSCH, eighty-four years old, 4858 North Rockwell street, died yesterday. He had resided in Chicago since 1868, when he came here from Germany, his birthplace, and had been connected with the grocery business for fifty-five years. He is survived by his widow and eight sons. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at the chapel at 6208 North Western avenue, with burial at Rosehill cemetery.

Ann Telling, 84, Resident of Chicago 42 Years, Dies

Mrs. Ann Telling, 84 years old and a resident of Chicago since 1888, died yesterday at her home, 2120 Lincoln Park West. Mrs. Telling, who was the widow of John Telling, was born in Milwaukee. She is survived by five children, John E. of Holland, Mich.; Irving of Wauwatosa, Wis.; Mrs. Mark L. Simpson of Milwaukee, and Grace E. and Elizabeth of Chicago, and one brother, William A. Just of Milwaukee.

RONDOUT MAIL ROBBER'S PAL IS SHOT IN TEXAS

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 3.—(AP)—A man identified by fingerprints as Albert Oglesby was shot by a patrolman here late today and a man identified as Joe Newton, who was in an automobile with Oglesby, admitted he was one of several persons connected with the robbery of a mail train at Rondout, Ill., five years ago.

The patrolman stopped the automobile to search it and had taken a pistol from a pocket of the car when Oglesby drew another pistol from the opposite side of the car. Kennedy beat Oglesby in pulling the trigger.

Newton, who several years ago used the alias of R. S. Wade, said he was the youngest of four Newton brothers and that he served a three year sentence for the Rondout, Ill., $3,000,000 robbery of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train June 12, 1924.

Aurora Baby Is Born in Cab Racing to Hospital

A taxicab, racing through Aurora streets at top speed yesterday, was overtaken by the stork before the vehicle reached its goal, the St. Charles hospital. The natal bird left in the cab a baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Adams of Summit avenue, Aurora. At the hospital the waiting physician, Dr. J. C. Murphy, pronounced mother and daughter in splendid condition but remarked that the new generation was a trifle speedy.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

May Vote for New Episcopal Bishop Feb. 5

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The election of a Protestant Episcopal bishop of Chicago to succeed the late Rt. Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson probably will be set for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning as the closing work of the 53d annual convention of the local Episcopal diocese, according to announcements yesterday. The convention will open this morning with a celebration of holy communion at St. James' cathedral, Cass and Huron streets. The Rt. Rev. Sheldon M. Griswold, who became ecclesiastical authority of the diocese on the death of Bishop Anderson will be the celebrant, and will preside over the convention.

It is expected that the routine business will be dispatched today and early tomorrow before the election takes place. Upon only four other occasions in nearly 100 years have Episcopal diocesan bishops been elected for Chicago. The Rt. Rev. Philander Chase was the first bishop, and was succeded in 1862 by Bishop Henry J. Whitehouse. In 1875, the Rt. Rev. William E. McLaren was elected and was succeeded in 1905 by Bishop Anderson.

Diocesan leaders say Bishop Anderson's death completely has changed the election situation. The most notable development, according to observers, involves the proposals of several new names as candidates. It is reported that the Rt. Rev. Arthur W. Moulton, since 1920 the missionary bishop of Utah, is being favorably considered by a substantial group of clergymen. Bishop Moulton is one of the younger bishops of the church.

Other names, proposed during the last day or two, are the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Drury, president of St. Paul school, Concord, N. H.; the Very Rev. Dr. F. C. Grant, dean of Western Theological seminary, Evanston; the Rt. Rev. Edward M. Cross, missionary bishop of Spokane. Dr. Drury's candidacy is supported by an influential group of laymen who are members of the alumni of St. Paul school, while Dean Grant and Bishop Cross are favored by clerical groups.

The rank and file of the clergymen of the diocese are said to be committed to the principle of electing a Chicago man, rather than to call an outside candidate. Dean Grant's name is thus added to the list of local candidates which include Suffragan Bishop Griswold, the Rev. Dr. George H. Thomas, rector of St. Paul church, Kenwood; the Rev. Dr. George Craig Stewart, rector of St. Luke church, Evanston; the Very Rev. Dr. Duncan H. Browne, of St. James cathedral.

It is stated that a resolution will be presented which will ask that changes be made in the constitution of the diocese in order that in future elections the laity will have increased rights in the elections of bishops.

To Select Primate Here.

New York, Feb. 3.—[Special.]—The special meeting of the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church to elect a new presiding bishop will take place in Chicago on March 26. This announcement was made here today by the Rt. Rev. Hugh Latimer Burleson, acting presiding bishop and missionary bishop of South Dakota. Thus the prelates will name a successor to the late Bishop Anderson in his see city. The bishop, who died Jan. 30, was only presiding bishop since the 12th of last November.

POETS IGNORE HISTORY CONTEST AS PROSE WRITERS COMPETE

Virtually everybody except the poets have now taken a fling at writing the history of the United States in 500 words—no more, perhaps fewer. For some reason the poets have thus far passed up completely the opportunity to pen an immortal epic and also win first prize of $1,000 in THE TRIBUNE'S history competition.

Calvin Coolidge—who, by the way, is not a contestant—is doing the job in his own fashion, the result to be carved on the Mount Rushmore memorial in South Dakota. Amateur historians who have up to the present submitted their entries to the history editor of this newspaper, are doing it in narrative and in other styles, and doing it well. But not a single effort in verse has been received to date.

The contestants have until midnight of Feb. 15, when the last manuscripts must be in the hands of the history editor, to compete.

Years such as 1492 will be considered as one word, while such a date as July 4, 1776, will be counted as three words. A date spelled out, as fourteen hundred and ninety-two, would rate as five words. Initials will be counted as one word each except in the case of a state, as N. Y., when it will count as one word. Such names as District of Columbia, or Gulf of Mexico will count as three words.

Interesting details of the Mount Rushmore memorial project were described last night at San Antonio, Tex., by Gutzon Borglum, designer and sculptor. Eight historical events, designated as the most epochal in the creation of the colonies, are to be included in the history to be written by former President Coolidge, Borglum revealed. The 500 words thus penned are to be carved in letters of such dimensions as to be visible three miles away.

It is unlikely, the sculptor stated, that the names of either Washington or Lincoln will appear in the text, although those of Jefferson and Roosevelt are likely to be used. The name of Mr. Coolidge, as author, will also be etched in the granite wall of the Black hills' peak. The memorial itself, carved above the history, consists of colossal figures of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Roosevelt, hewn upon the 1,000 foot side of the mountain.

The eight events to be touched upon by the scribe, Coolidge, include: July 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence; 1787, framing of the constitution; 1803, Louisiana purchase; 1845, admission of Texas as a state; 1846, Oregon boundary settlement; 1850, admission of California; 1865, end of war ends; 1907, completion of the Panama canal.

Address the History Editor, THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Square, Chicago.

Wife Can Step Along with Husband to Success, Says Doris

BY DORIS BLAKE.

An unhappy tale is unfolded by a woman correspondent with all the fictional trimmings that attend the tale of the husband who grew faster socially and intellectually than the hard working wife he started out with.

So often has this tale been told in fiction, in divorce courts and acted out before observing eyes that one wonders why a hard working wife continues to be the doormat species when there is neither sense nor call for it. Any women who sees that her husband is on the road to prosperity ought to use her head sufficiently well to say: "Well, they will never say I did not step right along with him."

Unless she lives in China (where women are protected by a divorce ruling which prohibits a man who has become wealthy from casting off the helpmate who saw him through his days of proverty) there honestly is no sympathy for that type of woman. American women have opportunity to go ahead socially and intellectually right in step with their husbands if they only have the wit to realize it.

The particular go-getter male begins to show success signs usually around 30 or not more than a few years later. The wife is still young enough to grab her opportunities for self-progression. In fact, success signals might be put at 28 and be nearer the truth.

Anyway, the reason for outsiders' impatience is due to the woman's own lack of good common sense in not recognizing that her husband's opportunity for progress is hers, too. And surely, few women live, nowadays, who are not aware that if they keep on giving all and demanding nothing they will get nothing.

When success begins to loom on the domestic horizon the woman should accept it as just as much her stepping stone to bigger and better things as it is her husband's. Instead, the doormat type of woman keeps on playing her too heavy helping rôle and gets doormat treatment in the end. There's even a question about her being so helpful, since our social and busniess currents cross so obviously that just as much help or more may be given by a wife who shapes herself up early in the game for social politics.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Marilyn, aged 6, recently started to school in Havana, the adopted city of her parents, former Chicagoans. After her first few days in school she came home and announced blithely to her mother: "O, mummy, I like it. I already can read so well that soon I can read without a book." M. B.

Recently my young son, aged 5, and I were out for our usual walk. It was really cold, and soon he began to cry. At first I paid no attention to it, but as he kept it up, I said, "Now, now, Richard, big men don't cry."

"But," he replied amid sobs, "little boys do."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mother Supports Five Children.

"I am the mother of five children, girls, 9, 7, 6, and 2 years of age, and a baby boy, 2 months old. My husband is serving a six months' sentence in the House of Correction for nonsupport and I am having a hard time taking care of the children. We are all badly in need of clothing and I will be so grateful for anything you may be able to get us. I wear size 40 and shoes, size 6.
Mrs. C. H."

This is a need most of you with children can meet with ease. There are always so many little dresses, coats, and pairs of shoes outgrown which still have months of wear in them. Won't you gather any you may have and give them to this distracted mother?

Yale Law Professor, 31, Weds Student Who's 23

Boston, Mass., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Prof. Alexander Hamilton Frey of the Yale law school faculty married one of his pupils yesterday. She is Miss Alice F. Hubbard, 23 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Hubbard of this city. The Very Rev. Philomen F. Sturges, dean of St. Paul's Episcopal cathedral, performed the ceremony in the cathedral chapel. The couple will resume the rôles of teacher and student Feb. 10 after a week's honeymoon. Prof. Frey is 31 years old. The bride is a second year student.

"Little Ladies" and "Little Gentlemen" Aren't Real Children

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A booklet by Mrs. Bevans on "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them," will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"I want my small daughter to be a little lady."

"I want my small boy to be a little gentleman."

They sound like innocent and rather reasonable ideals at first thought, don't they? Many people have them and spend much energy on trying to get their children to live up to them.

This they do for two reasons. One is a sincere belief that striving for such an ideal is for the child's good. The other reason is that they like to have people approve of their children, which is a natural desire.

Now, the parents who hold the "little lady" and "little gentleman" ideal have to be careful. Children are not meant to be little ladies and gentlemen. They are meant to be children. Just that. They can't be fitted, compressed, shaped to the adult pattern.

If a mother or father succeeds in doing that, the result may be a well-mannered, unobjectionable, perfectly behaved little lady or gentleman. But that isn't what a child is primarily meant to be. He is meant to be just a child, with the honesties, the freedom, the interests that go with normal childhood.

None of that means that we want crude, wild children with no sense of fitness, or consideration—children who are not adjusted to amenable living with their contemporaries or with their elders. But it does mean that we are apt to expect our children to be too "refined." Vigor isn't always refined—and so when the vigor that should be part of childhood doesn't conform to polite conventional language or manners, let's not be horrified.

With necesary freedom, a developed intelligence, and a good example children can learn the rules of civilized intercourse to a workable degree without throttling down their vitality and spirit.
